WHAT IS SEMAGLUTIDE & TIRZEPATIDE?

Semaglutide and Tirzepatide are a class of medications known as glucagon-like-peptide 1-receptor agonists (GLP 1RA's). They work by mimicking the GLP-1 hormone in your body that helps to regulate appetite and digestion. Because of how GLP-1 targets the part of the brain that regulates appetite and food intake, in higher amounts, it suppresses appetite and sends a signal to the brain telling the body it is satisfied. Tirzepatide is considered a "dual agonist" medication because it also works on GIP making it more effective. When used in conjunction with a healthy diet and exercise, it can help to provide significant weight loss*.

BENEFITS OF THESE MEDICATIONS

- Semaglutide has been shown to help people lose an average of 10% or more of their body weight over a 6-12 month period when used in combination with a healthy diet and exercise
- Tirzepatide has been shown to help people lose an average of 15% or more of their body weight over a 6-12 month period when used in combination with a healthy diet and exercise
- Improved metabolic health: These medications have been shown to improve several metabolic health markers including blood sugar control, improved blood pressure, and cholesterol levels.
- Reduced risk of weight-related health conditions: Losing weight can reduce the risk of developing weight-related health conditions such as type 2 diabetes, high blood pressure, and heart disease.
- Convenience: These medications are a once weekly injection, which is more convenient than having to take a medication daily or multiple times per day.
