

You may be eligible for the
Employee Retention Credit

Has your business been impacted by the COVID-19 Pandemic?

If your business suffered during the pandemic and you retained W-2 employees over the last two years, you may be eligible for significant tax credits from the Employee Retention Credit (ERC). This credit gives you up to $26,000 per W-2 employee. It's a refundable tax credit, not a loan, so you don't have to pay it back. Even if you applied in the past, rule changes may now qualify you for the ERC credits.
