SAFETY IN THE VEHICLE

No matter what you drive, you can make each trip safer for you, your passengers, and others on the road with a quick safety inspection before each trip.

Company and Personal Vehicle Safety Inspections

Aside from keeping up with regularly scheduled maintenance, a good practice is to have all drivers of your vehicles at home or at work conduct vehicle inspections before each trip. This includes rental vehicles.

Why Conduct Company Vehicle and Personal Vehicle Safety Inspections?

When vehicle safety inspections are conducted before each use of a company vehicle or personal vehicle, the driver knows the vehicle is ready for the road. Vehicle safety inspections benefit all drivers by providing prompt notice of problems. Inspection reports of your vehicles make it easier to keep track of when problems develop or recur which can be addressed with regularly scheduled maintenance. Inspections identify problems before they lead to a breakdown during a regular trip or result in a hazardous situation.

What Should Be Included in a Vehicle Safety Inspection?

Drivers should check the vehicle to be sure:

- The vehicle does not have any visible damage that affects its safe operation.

- The tires are properly inflated (use the vehicle manufacturer's recommendations that are typically noted on a sticker inside the door, glove box, or trunk – the pressures stamped on the tire are not specific to the vehicle). Check the pressure when the tires are cold.
- Tires have sufficient tread depth.
- The vehicle's fluid levels are correct (oil, brake, transmission, battery, and wiper fluids).
- Belts and hoses are free of blisters, cracks, and cuts.
- The vehicle has plenty of fuel.
- The windshield wipers are in good condition and are functional.
- He or she is familiar with the location and operation of all the vehicle's controls; the seat, steering wheel, and mirrors are properly adjusted.
- Headlights, brake lights, turn signals, emergency flashers, and interior lights are working.
- The seat belt is properly adjusted and in good condition.
- The vehicle is equipped with an emergency kit.
- Loose objects are secured so they won't shift to cause injury during a sudden stop or turn.

Our meeting this month will be on August 27 at my home with Terri Checkles as discussion leader. Up for discussion is Adriana Trigiani's The Shoemaker's Wife. As an added feature we'll each wear or show a pair of shoes that has a special meaning or story. We did the same last year when we read The Necklace and all seemed to enjoy that addition to the book discussion. We might even have some Italian goodies.

We return to this author after many years ago reading Ms. Trigiani's Lucia, Lucia. The Shoemaker's Wife story begins at the turn of the 19th century in the Italian Alps. Events cause the star-crossed lovers, Enza and Ciro, to emigrate to America, but separately. Ciro goes off to serve in WWI, and Enza is drawn into the glamorous world of opera and into the career of Enrico Caruso because of her sewing skills in the costuming of the singers. At a certain point Ciro and Enza reunite, marry, and settle in Minnesota where he apprentices to a shoemaker. It is a story of Enza and Ciro being touched by fate and ultimately the power of love changing their lives forever.

This book is an historical epic of love and family, war and loss, risk and destiny, inspired by the author's own family history. Adriana Trigiani is an award-winning playwright, television writer, and documentary filmmaker. She's the author of several best-selling novels for adults and teens and lives in New York City with her husband and daughter.

Work on this epic has taken over 20 years with inspiration coming from her grandparents, Lucia and Carlo. In the first half of the 20th century so many things were new: cars, phones, planes, electricity, and even sportswear. Her grandmother's musings about this time period were on scraps of paper, dinner napkins, and bills with timelines. All were in notebooks which the author studied. She also collected train tickets, copies of ships' manifests, and a silk tag with her grandmother's name from garments she had created. Travels to the Italian Alps and wandering through Little Italy in New York City helped her create an authentic story.

William Dowling Benefit Fund

One of our own firefighters was critically injured in the 5-alarm motel fire that also took the lives of four other Houston firefighters. Houston Captain Bill Dowling has been employed as a Champions firefighter since 2004 and has suffered life-changing injuries as a result of the building collapse. Please visit www.championsfire.org and Facebook page for ways to donate and assist the family during what will be a very lengthy recovery period.

Bill and his fellow firefighters were trapped when the roof of the Southwest Inn collapsed on them. Four firefighters were killed in the blaze off of the Southwest Freeway and Hillcroft, and Bill suffered severe injuries that required the amputation of both of his legs. After serving in the U.S. Marine Corps, Bill joined the Houston Fire Department, where he has worked for 13 years. He has served the Champions Emergency Services District as a part-time firefighter for nine years. Bill was a graduate of Klein Oak High School and is a devoted husband to Jacki, who works for Klein ISD. Bill is also a devoted father of three children. Bill and his family are active in WoodsEdge Community Church.

The Dowlings are facing major challenges with extensive medical treatment and rehab in the months and years ahead. Champions Emergency Services District has set up a benefit account for use by the Dowling family for needed expenses. To contribute to this fund, you can make a donation to the "William Dowling Benefit Fund" at any Trustmark Bank.
