Your Story Matters with Denise Gallues

Everyone has a story. Our stories weave the tapestry of our lives. From the stories shared over coffee to those from the dinner table--no story is too small or too big. Your story matters. Join us on February 9th when Denise Gallues challenges the excuses--my story isn't big enough, the story isn't mine to share, or no one will understand or care--to give attendees the tools to start their stories. A native Nevadan, Ms. Gallues is the past director of the Nevada Writing Project. She holds degrees in English, History, and Educational Leadership from the University of Nevada, Reno.
