It's with great pleasure that I wholeheartedly endorse Butler Learning Systems as an excellent learning and development solution.

We had the privilege of working with Bob at our annual conference, which included a full day of sales training. It's tough to keep a room full of territory sales representatives and business development managers engaged and excited, but Bob really did a fantastic job.

On a personal note, I really appreciated Bob's candid approach and ability to keep an audience's attention. His experience, integrity, and passion for what he does shine through and makes the learning process fun again.

We're looking forward to bringing Bob back in to work with us again in the future.

Most Sincerely,

Jeff Wallick
