BIOGRAPHY

Blending the East and West Coast flavor, DJ Iman Tucker grew his career spinning by rocking some of the largest parties, celebrations and faith based events in the Midwest. From these, Iman landed spots DJing for the professional and collegiate sports world including the Colts, Pacers, the NCAA Tournament and many other global brands.

Iman describes his style as a crossover between corporate and urban, mixing and mashing up music you would have never expected to hear together. He aims to elevate parties to the next level with his technical skill and soulful style.

When it come to using the mic, Iman is no stranger. He says "It's deeper than music alone. Using my voice as a supplement to build relationships, bring people together, and highlight moments throughout events is a key element in curating my unique style."
