

Collab & Multi-Use Tables

The table is much more than a simple furnishing accessory, Despite being able to work from nearly any location. people still value connecting with others in the office. For this reason, it is the object of continuous study and innovation by designers. It has the ability to bring with it sensations and emotions always different. In a workplace of diminishing space, meeting tables respond to the need for collaborative spaces, creating well-equipped, comfortable spaces outside of the primary workstation.
