Remembered sacrifice

On Monday May 30, the American Legion Post 120 and Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 9359 paid homage to the veterans of all wars with a visit to Truelove Church Cemetery. A special ceremony directed to departed comrades was presented. Despite the scorching hot weather, the group visited eight cemeteries throughout Martin County to honor those fallen soldiers whose names were read at each location.

Martin County one of the worst in the state for Census participation

BY COURTNEY HUGHETT
Martin County Journal Publisher

Over the last 10 years Martin County's population has been at pretty much a standstill. According to 2010 Census data the county's total population for 2010 was 10,369, only five more people than in 2000. Martin County did rank in 90th place out of the 92 Indiana counties for participation in the 2010 Census with only 71 percent of residents returning their forms. The percentage was 73 percent in 2000.

The adult population, 18 years of age and older, went up from 7,754 in 2000 to 7,853 in 2010. The under 18 population fell from 2,615 in 2000 to 2,481 in 2010.

The total housing units in 2000 were 4,729 with 4,183 occupied. In 2010 there were 4,786 with 4,216 occupied.

The population of Loogootee only rose by 10 people. In 2000 there were 2,741 residents and in 2010 that went up to 2,751. 76.6 percent of Loogootee's population is 18 or older with 643 residents under the age of 18. There were 1,324 housing units in the city with 1,206 of them occupied.

Shoals' population fell from 807 residents in 2000 to 756 in 2010.

Daviess County's population in 2000 was 29,820 and rose to 31,648 in 2010. Daviess County had a response rate of 79 percent putting them in 48th place in the state.

Daviess had 21,186 residents over the age of 18 in 2000 and 22,528 in 2010. The county had 11,898 total housing units in 2000 with 1,004 vacant. In 2010 there were 12,471 housing units with 1,142 vacant. Daviess County had a Hispanic population of 1,314 people in 2010, up from 620 ten years before. Daviess County had a 79 percent response rate.

Dubois County's population went up from 39,674 in 2000 to 41,889 in 2010. Ten years ago the county had 28,816 residents over the age of 18. In 2010 that number went up to 31,220. Dubois County's Hispanic population also doubled going from 1,103 in 2000 to 2,521 in 2010. The county had 15,511 total housing units in 2000 with 698 unoccupied and 17,384 total housing units in 2010 with 1,251 unoccupied. Dubois County had the highest response rate in the state at 86 percent.

Orange County's population had a slight increase from 2000 to 2010 going from 19,306 to 19,840. In 2000, 14,346 residents were over 18 years of age; in 2010 that number moved to 14,953. Orange County

Ambulance proposals delayed, county has new flood plains

BY COURTNEY HUGHETT
Martin County Journal Publisher

Several people turned out at the Martin County Commissioners meeting Tuesday night, May 31 to be present for the opening of the ambulance contract proposals for service to the county. Prior to this happening, County Attorney Dave Lett informed the commissioners that a mistake was made in the publishing of the bid notification and the bids would not be able to be opened until a later meeting. It was decided that bids will be accepted until Friday, June 3 and opened on Wednesday, June 8 at 6 p.m.

Commissioner John Wininger was not present at the meeting.

Rex Knight with SIDC presented information to the commissioners on the debris removal grant that the county was awarded for removal of log jams in Lost River and Indian Creek.

The commissioners also opened one request for qualifications for the debris removal. The one received was from Commonwealth Engineers. Knight explained that a committee must be formed to score the request for qualification. He said it is typically formed when there is more than one submission, but it has to be done regardless of there just being one so it could be submitted to OCRA. He explained that the committee must be odd-numbered, either three or five and could be comprised of all three commissioners. Commissioner Dan Gregory recommended that it be the three commissioners with Paul George agreeing.

Knight said that the committee will also have to have an interview with Commonwealth Engineers.

Commissioner Gregory reported that he and Sheriff Rob Street met with Richard Burch of Midwest Engineers last week regarding the repairs needed on the exterior of the jail. "I am cautiously optimistic that we may be able to do that for the money we have available, or less," he said. Gregory explained that Burch didn't feel that the repairs needed were as severe as other engineers who looked at it. He said that Burch would have a recommendation prepared for the commissioners in 30 days.

Sheriff Street reported that the jail population is currently around 50 inmates with 14 from the state department of corrections. He said that they may be receiving another nine.

The sheriff also reported that the plumbing problems in the jail are still being corrected; they are currently waiting on more parts to come in. He said a majority of the cells have been repaired, however, and around $2,000 has been spent so far.

Civil Defense Director Monty Wolf spoke to the commissioners briefly about funding for storm damage. Auditor Nancy Steiner said that she spoke with a representative from FEMA and was very impressed with what he knew by looking at a map of Martin County. She said that he said funding may be available to clean up a fallen tree in

Local youth inspired to help fight cancer

Leslie Summers and her daughter Brooklyn will be hosting an Alex's Lemonade Stand to benefit children with cancer on Saturday, June 11 from noon to 3 p.m. at Blake Hi-Y Car Wash.

Alex's Lemonade Stand Foundation (ALSF) shares the vision of the founder and creator, Alexandra "Alex" Scott - a cure for all children with cancer.

When Alex, who was diagnosed with childhood cancer just before her first birthday, was four, she told her parents she wanted to set up a front-yard lemonade stand. Her plan: to give the money to doctors to help them find a cure. Her first "Alex's Lemonade Stand" raised an astonishing $2,000 in one day. While bravely fighting her own cancer, Alex continued to set up lemonade stands every year. As news spread of the remarkable girl so dedicated to helping other sick children, people everywhere were inspired to start their own lemonade stands—donating the proceeds to her cause.

In 2004 when Alex passed away at the age of eight—her stand and inspiration had raised over $1 million towards finding a cure for the disease that took her life. Alex's Lemonade Stand Foundation was started by her parents in 2005 to continue the work that Alex began.

Since Alex set up her first lemonade stand in 2000—truly exemplifying the saying "When life hands you lemons, make lemonade"—the foundation has raised more than $40 million. That money has helped to fund more than 200 cutting-edge research projects, create a travel program to help support families of children receiving treatment, and develop resources to help people everywhere affected by childhood cancer.

According to Leslie, she and her husband Travis have often explained to Brooklyn that there are kids less fortunate in the world and that she should be thankful for everything she has including her health. "She knows that her Grandma Pat lost a battle to Lukemia and that our friend Haley fought breast cancer," said Leslie. "I told her that there are kids her age, younger, and older that have to fight cancer - some beat it and some don't. I feel like holding a lemonade stand to benefit these children would be a learning experience as well as a little fun for her."

Leslie added that part of the package for signing up for a lemonade stand was a book that she and Travis try to read to Brooklyn every night. The book was written by Alex's parents about her story. "It is very inspiring," she said.

COMMISSIONERS

Inman Cemetery in Rutherford Township. The Rutherford Township Trustee Sue Hembree has already approached the commissioners asking for money to help with the clean-up but was denied. Steiner said that this may qualify for FEMA assistance if the exact coordinates are given.

Wolf also reported that he had a shipment of weather radios available to those who need them. He said they were geared more toward those living in mobile homes. Anyone interested in receiving one - free of charge - can call the Martin County Auditor's office at 812-247-3731. The radios will be available on a first-come, first-serve basis.

Highway Superintendent Jim Williams reported that he hired two new part-time employees, Daniel Haulk and Scott Hert. He also reported that his department is still cleaning up storm damage and they still have three fallen trees to take care of but they are unable to get to them. He said they will eventually end up in the roadway but there is nothing they can do until they come down a little more. He said they are keeping a close eye on them.

Commissioner Gregory asked Williams how the community corrections workers are working out. Williams explained that over the past few months four or five have been sent to him with a few of them "not being worth a whole lot." He said the last two, however, have been very good workers.

Auditor Steiner informed the commissioners that the new flood maps for the county are out and there have been changes to the flood plain. The DNR will be contacting over 600 people who are affected by the change.

She said an open house and public hearing would need to be held and a building large enough would need to be found to which Monty Wolf volunteered the Martin County Civil Defense Fire Station building. The open house will be held Wednesday, July 6 from 4 p.m. to 7 p.m.

Indiana State Police to conduct sobriety check point in Martin County on June 3

Troopers from the Indiana State Police Jasper Post will be conducting a sobriety check point at an undisclosed location in Martin County on Friday, June 3. Those drivers passing through the check point area should have their licenses and registrations ready to present to troopers and will only be detained briefly while troopers determine whether further investigation is necessary.

The purpose of the sobriety check point is to remove those motorists from the highways who are alcohol and/or drug impaired and poses a danger to all who use the roadways. Impaired drivers are responsible for billions of dollars in property damage, personal injury, and death annually.

Lieutenant Don Bolen, Commander of the Jasper Post said, "In Indiana almost one quarter of the fatal crashes on Indiana roadways involves alcohol, therefore keeping in line with our Department's mission to reduce the number of fatal crashes we will be conducting this checkpoint in an effort to deter people from drinking and driving."

Reminders so motorists do not find themselves "Over the Limit and Under Arrest":

-Plan ahead and always designate a sober driver before consuming alcohol.

-Don't drive your vehicle if you've been drinking alcohol. Call a taxi or sober friend.

-Take care of your friends. Never let a friend drive while impaired. Take their keys.

If you are hosting a party, always offer non-alcoholic beverages. Make sure all of your guests leave with a sober driver.

-Never provide alcohol to anyone under the legal drinking age of 21.

Motorists encountering another vehicle being operated erratically are encouraged to dial 911 or call the Jasper Indiana State Police Post at (812) 482-1441 or 800-742-7475 and be prepared to give a description of the vehicle, location, and direction of travel.

Summer driving safety tips from ISP

With the hot summer temperatures here and summer vacations coming up the Indiana State Police would like to remind motorists of the following safety tips.

-On hot days, the temperature inside vehicles can climb rapidly and may exceed 100 degrees. Be very careful with children and pets — even when you're at home and the car is parked.

-Never leave your child unattended in a vehicle, even with the windows down.

-Teach children not to play in, on, or around cars.

-Always lock car doors and trunks — even at home — and keep keys out of children's reach.

-Always make sure all child passengers have left the car when you reach your destination. Don't overlook sleeping infants.

-When securing your child in a safety restraint system in a car that has been parked in the heat, check to make sure seating surfaces and equipment (child safety seat and safety belt buckles) aren't too hot.

-Use a light covering to shade the seat of your parked car. Consider using shades on windows.

Proper vehicle maintenance in warm weather will allow you to make it to your destinations. Remember the following:

-Your cooling system should be completely flushed and refilled as recommended in your owner's manual. The level, condition, and concentration of the coolant should be checked periodically. (A 50/50 mix of anti-freeze and water is usually recommended.)

-If your car overheats — or if you are doing regular maintenance at home — never remove the radiator cap until the engine has thoroughly cooled.

-A professional should check the tightness and condition of drive belts, clamps, and hoses.

Tire care, while important throughout the year, is especially critical in warm weather because long trips, heavy loads, high speeds and higher temperatures all put additional stress on your tires.

Check your tires regularly to be sure there are no visible signs of wear or damage.

Be sure your tires are properly inflated. Check your tire pressure often with a gauge, especially on long trips. Measure when the tires are cold, before you drive on them. You can find the recommended inflation pressure in your owner's manual, on a label frequently found in the glove box, near the door latch on the driver's side, or other locations on your vehicle. The recommended inflation pressure is not to be confused with the maximum inflation pressure shown on the side of the tire. At the recommended inflation pressure, tires will last longer and be less likely to fail, and the car will use less fuel. Serious injury can result from tire failure because of under inflation or overloading.

Never overload your vehicle. Your car and tires are designed to operate safely only up to their load limits. These limits are shown in your owner's manual and on the certification plate on the edge of the driver's door.

Make sure there is enough tread on the tire to operate safely, and make sure the tires are wearing normally. All grooves should be visible and deep enough to at least touch the top of Lincoln's head on a penny inserted head first in the tread. Low tread or bald tires are unsafe and need to be replaced.

If some spots on the tire seem to be wearing faster than others, see your service station or mechanic. You could have misaligned wheels, worn shock absorbers, or other potential problems. Make sure your tires are aligned and balanced properly.

Don't drive at a high rate of speed for a long time, particularly in hot weather. Obey posted speed limits. Lower speeds also mean better gas mileage.

(Sources: U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, National Weather Service, National Highway Traffic Safety Administration, Federal Citizen Information Center, Washington State SAFE KIDS Coalition)

Also make sure you carry a roadside emergency kit to include: water, food, a charged cell phone, flash light, fire extinguisher, and a first aid kit.

As with any travels you are planning please let someone know your route of travel and itinerary. Following these tips will hopefully allow you and your family to have a fun and safe summer.

NOTICE: On May 13, 2011 at 4 p.m. - Lawrence Dant contacted the Martin County Sheriff's Department to report a burglary at his residence. Dant advised of 24 firearms taken from his residence. Dant is offering a $2,500 reward for information leading to the recovery of the firearms and the arrest of the suspect or suspects involved. He was assisted by Chief Deputy Tony Dant and Indiana State Police Trooper Dana Miller, Crime Scene Processor.

Martin County accident reports

Monday, May 23

4:48 p.m. - Kaylee Hastings, 31, of Loogootee, was backing from her driveway on County Rd. 250N. She advised that she had looked both ways and the roadway was clear so she proceeded to back out. Once the rear of the vehicle was in the roadway, she observed a blue 1989 Chevrolet Celebrity traveling eastbound towards her vehicle. She stopped her black 2008 Jeep in an attempt to avoid a collision. The driver of the Chevrolet, Robert Bateman, of Loogootee, advised he steered his vehicle to the right towards the ditch in an attempt to also avoid a collision, but the left rear driver's side passenger door and fender of the Bateman vehicle struck the left rear driver's side bumper of the Hastings vehicle. The investigating officer was Deputy Steve Nolan.

5:00 p.m. - Victoria Sipes, 31, of Shoals, reported that she was traveling westbound on U.S. 50, near Max Warren's curve when a tree branch fell and landed on the windshield of her 2005 Honda Pilot. Damage was sustained to the windshield and the upper driver's side door frame. The investigating officer was Deputy Steve Nolan.

Wednesday, May 25

1:23 p.m. - Judith A. Yarnell, of Shoals, was operating a 2001 Chevy and backing from a parking spot at CVS when she backed into a 1996 Buick owned by Jaime Holt, of Loogootee. No injuries were reported Chief Rayhill investigated.

Saturday, May 28

10:33 a.m. - Laura E. Belcher, 33, of Odon, was westbound on U.S. 150 near Panhandle Road. She reported that a deer ran out in front of her and she swerved to miss the deer. The Belcher vehicle went over the embankment and hit a tree and a utility pole. Belcher was transported to Bloomington Hospital of Orange County. The investigating officer was Corporal Keith Keller.

Monday, May 30

11:03 a.m. - Leroy Anderson, 49, of Columbus, was traveling East on S.R. 550, near Abel Hill Road on an orange 1982 Honda Goldwing. He started into a curve and lost control. He ran off the roadway and turned over, coming to rest on some logs along the side of the highway. Both Mr. Anderson and his wife, who was a passenger, were treated at the scene by Emergency Medical Technicians and refused transportation to the hospital. The investigating officer was Chief Deputy Tony Dant.

12:09 p.m. - Valerie Fromme, 37, of Jasper, was on Reinhart Road and making a right turn into a private driveway in a brown 2004 Chevrolet. Fromme struck a parked and unoccupied vehicle owned by Carolyn Wagler. Damage was sustained to the Fromme vehicle along the entire driver's side. The Wagler vehicle sustained damage to the left rear fender and bumper. The investigating officer was Deputy Steve Nolan.

The Messmer Report

By District 63 State Representative

Mark Messmer

Remembering those who protect the American dream

Memorial Day, originally called Declaration Day, was created to honor the fallen soldiers of the Civil War. Our Founding Fathers created a revolutionary way of life and it is important that we remember those that have fought to protect our independence and freedoms and that we show our respect for their heroic efforts.

Memorial Day, which is often thought of as a kick off to the summer season with BBQs and the opening of pools, is a day when we can and should also gather to honor all of the armed services personnel killed in defense of our country. It is almost impossible to thank them for that sacrifice, but it is important that we take time to remember them and show how grateful we are to them.

Over the last 10 years many of us have been personally affected by the tragedies of war. Whether it is a daughter or son, a father or mother, an aunt or uncle, a niece or nephew, or a friend we have known someone who lost their life fighting for our great country and the American way of life.

For more than two centuries America has been the land of the free, the home of brave and we must remember that the price of freedom is not cheap. It has taken the devotion of countless men and women to allow us to continue to live as we do today, and it is our responsibility to make sure that they are never forgotten.

On Monday my daughter and I were at the Winslow Memorial Day Observance and played Taps to honor the fallen. While I hope that you took time to enjoy the warm weather and time with family and friends I also encourage you to pause for a moment to remember and honor the numerous brave soldiers that have fought and made the ultimate sacrifice for every one of us. Please also remember the families of current soldiers and the sacrifices they make every day so that we are protected. God bless America.

Carolyn S. Newlin, of Shoals, caught this gigantic catfish on May 27 in Dubois County. She was fishing with a regular fishing pole and a red worm on a 25-pound test line. She struggled with this one for 3.5 hours before finally reeling it in. It weighed 44.6 pounds and was 46.5 inches long.

Free Fishing Weekend is this Sat. and Sun.

Free Fishing Weekend, June 4 and 5, provides a chance for kids and adults to participate at recreation areas located across Indiana that are planning fun fishing derbies, casting clinics, fish-cleaning demonstrations and cooking classes.

A list of the many sites offering special events for kids for the weekend is at www.in.gov/dnr/fishwild/3598.htm.

Free Fishing Weekend also is a great chance for Hoosier adults who don't fish or haven't for a while to take a child fishing. That's because Indiana's adult residents do not need a license or a trout/salmon stamp to fish Indiana waters during Free Fishing Weekend.

With children age 17 and younger not needing a fishing license at any time, it's a perfect match. All other fishing regulations are still in effect during Free Fishing Weekend.

Adults who decide they want to buy a license for the rest of the year can do so any time at www.in.gov/dnr/fishwild/5330.htm.

Individuals who need reasonable modifications for effective participation in Free Fishing Weekend events at DNR properties should contact the property at least 72 hours before the event or call the DNR ADA Coordinator at (317) 232-4145.

Want a better way to find the fish? Several new lake bathymetry (depth) maps have been added to DNR's website just in time for Free Fishing Weekend. This brings the number of such maps to 63 now available for free download in digital format.

The additions include two in Warrick County (Blue Grass and Otter), as well as Shipshewana and Nauvoo in LaGrange County, and Mud Lake in Noble County, and Indian Lake in DeKalb County.

Armed with these maps, Hoosier anglers of all experience levels can hit the water knowing the location of the deep holes and shallow areas fish love.

The complete list is available at Indiana Lake depth maps at www.in.gov/dnr/fishwild/5759.htm

Crop insurance weighs heavily on farmers' planting decisions

BY COURTNEY HUGHETT
Martin County Journal Publisher

As the June 5 final planting date nears for the full crop insurance yield and revenue guarantees for corn, a Purdue Extension agricultural economist says there are a lot of factors that come into play when farmers are deciding how to manage their 2011 crop.

First, farmers need to take into consideration the type of crop insurance they've purchased for 2011 and whether or not the crop has been planted, said George Patrick.

There are two basic types of crop insurance. Farmer-based coverage is an individual policy based on a producer's yield history and actual yields. The farmer-based insurance includes coverage for a 25-day late planting period, replant coverage and prevented planting.

In contrast, group or county insurance policies base indemnity payments on county yields and revenue.

"If producers have the farm-based insurance, they have a different set of management options than those who have group risk plans," Patrick said. "Farmers with the group risk plan really don't have a lot of management options as far as crop insurance is concerned."

Farmers with individual plans who have planted a corn crop that is now in poor condition have to decide whether to leave the crop as is, replant with the same crop or to shift to another crop.

"Those looking to shift to another crop need to work with their crop insurance agents to be sure they are complying with all regulations so they don't run into any problems with collecting on an indemnity," Patrick said.

If a producer with farm-based insurance has not yet been able to plant a crop, the decision comes down to a prevented planting payment versus late planting or perhaps a shift to soybeans. The final planting date for soybeans to qualify for the full yield and revenue guarantees is June 20.

Farmers who are unable to plant corn by June 5 may qualify for a prevented planting payment for corn.

This payment is 60 percent of the guaranteed yield or revenue level they purchased for the 2011 growing season. Coverage levels range from 50 percent to 85 percent, with 65-75 percent historically being the most popular.

After June 5 for corn, and June 20 for soybeans, yield and revenue guarantee levels are reduced by 1 percent each day during the 25-day late planting period.

"It becomes a question of whether a farmer would have more net income from taking the prevented planting payment, or whether they would be better off to go ahead and plant even though they would expect to have a reduced yield," Patrick said. "So part of it would come down to what costs already have been incurred, and what additional costs would come with going ahead and trying to produce a crop. Producers need to work through the potential costs and returns on both sides."

One of the major costs farmers would need to consider would be fertilizer. If nitrogen already has been applied, it creates a much different situation from that of a farmer who has not yet applied fertilizer.

"If most of the inputs are still in the shed, farmers are probably more likely to have higher returns with prevented planting," Patrick said. "However, if everything but the seed is already in the field, farmers may find they are better off planting."

Patrick also said it's important to note that if a producer does take a prevented planting payment, their historical yield average, or APH, will use the 60 percent yield for 2011.

Farmers who choose a prevented planting payment may be required to plant a cover crop. Producers need to remember that in order to receive a prevented planting payment cover crops cannot be grazed or used as a forage crop.

"The bottom line is that the crop insurance provisions are pretty specific in a number of instances, so farmers need to work with their crop insurance agents to make sure they are doing everything they need to in order to comply," Patrick said. "Working with an agent will help ensure producers don't run into problems with collecting on an indemnity to which they are entitled."

Red Skelton Festival is June 8-11

The city of Vincennes will "paint the town Red" during its annual Red Skelton Festival, June 8-11. Named for Vincennes native Red Skelton, one of America's clowns, the festival will feature Clown Follies, a Parade of a Thousand Clowns, a clown pie fight, and much more family-friendly fun.

Hobo Stew Night kicks off the Festival on Wednesday, June 8, at 6 p.m. (EDT), at Third and Vigo streets, beneath the Red Skelton mural. Sponsored by the American Legion, Boy Scouts, and the Knox County Shrine Club, the scouts will be selling beef stew as a fundraiser. Entertainment will be provided by students of the Red Skelton Clown School as they put their new hobo skills into play with the audience. Bathub races featuring four-member community teams will highlight the evening and teams can sign up by calling the Knox County Chamber of Commerce, 812-882-6440.

On Thursday, the World's Biggest Birthday Party will begin at 6 p.m. at the Riverfront Pavilion on Second and Busseron streets. Featuring dessert, music, and prizes, the Clown School students will again be on hand to entertain at the circus-themed event which sponsored by Old National Bank.

On Friday, the public is invited to watch a real Clown Pie Fight at noon on the lawn of the Red Skelton Performing Arts Center. The Clown School students will be hurling clown pies at each other and the audience can participate, too, if they like. The Skelton Center is located on Red Skelton Boulevard on the Vincennes University Campus.

The Red Skelton Clown Follies will be presented at the Skelton Center at 7 p.m. From slapstick to comedy to magic, the variety show will feature two Hall of Fame clowns and some of the most lively entertainers of all time. General admission tickets cost $10 and can be purchased at the door or in advance by calling the Skelton Center box office at 812-888-4039. All proceeds from tickets sales will support the Red Skelton Museum.

The Red Skelton Festival will culminate on Saturday with Paint the Town Red events downtown from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. There will be food vendors, children's activities, and a variety of slapstick clown entertainment. Willow Manor Nursing Facility will sponsor a doughnut-eating contest at 1 p.m. and participants can sign up at the information booth on the corner of Second and Main streets. Following the contest will be a Clown Beauty Contest featuring local dignitaries styled by the Clown School students. The winner will be chosen by a panel of judges and announced that afternoon.

Red's "Commentary on the Pledge of Allegiance" will be broadcast on radio station WZDM 92.1 and over the Main Street speakers beginning at 11 a.m., followed by the Parade of a 1,000 Clowns.

The Red Skelton Museum Gift Shop, located at the Skelton Center, will be open Monday through Thursday from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., Friday from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m., and Saturday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

For more information about the Red Skelton Festival, call the Vincennes/Knox County Convention and Visitors Bureau at 812-886-6443, or log onto www.vincennescvb.org.

RED SKELTON -
A REMARKABLE LIFE

Born in Vincennes on July 18, 1913, Red

Skelton joined a medicine show at age ten, beginning a lifelong entertainment career. Although he died at age 84 on September 17, 1997, he is currently ranked among the top five most popular deceased celebrities, sharing top-billing with Lucille Ball, Bob Hope, John Wayne, and Jimmy Stewart.

Skelton is one of few performers to succeed in four entertainment genres - vaudeville, radio, movies, and television. It was the influence of a Vincennes performance by vaudeville great Ed Wynn that led Skelton to perfect his own comedy routines. To honor his lifetime achievements, Red received the Academy of Television Arts and Sciences Governor's Emmy Award in 1986 and, with it, the critical praise he deserved.

"The Red Skelton Show" ran on television a record 20 consecutive years, from 1951 to 1971, and was consistently among the top-rated programs. The only TV performer with a longer stay was Ed Sullivan (24 years as host of "The Ed Sullivan Show"). Through his radio and TV career, Skelton introduced unforgettable characters like Freddie the Freeloader; country bumpkin Clem Kadiddlehopper; Willy Lump Lump, the drunk; Cauliflower McPugg, the boxer; the Mean Widdle Kid; and con man San Fernando Red.

Based on longevity and audience size, "The Red Skelton Show" was the second most popular show in TV history ("Gunsmoke" is first). Long after his television career ended, Skelton continued to perform to sell-out audiences throughout the nation and overseas, and was particularly popular on the college circuit.

Skelton starred in more than 30 motion pictures, wrote 5,000 musical selections - many of which have been performed and recorded by Arthur Fiedler, Van Cliburn, David Rose, and the London Philharmonic Symphony Orchestra. He also has written 64 symphonies that have been performed by the Las Vegas Symphony, Thomas Mancini, Anthony Movella, and the Palm Springs Desert Symphony Orchestra. In his spare time, Skelton was a prolific portrait painter of clowns. He is also one of the few entertainers to have performed for eight U.S. Presidents - from Roosevelt through Reagan - and to receive a private audience with three Popes - Pope Pius XXII, Pope John, and Pope Paul.

Red Skelton presented his famous "Commentary on the Pledge of Allegiance" before a joint session of Congress and at Independence Hall. His Pledge of Allegiance won him 42 awards and has been read into the Congressional Record.

He was a major supporter of children's charities, including the Shriner's Crippled Children's Hospital and the Red Skelton Foundation in Vincennes.

Other lifetime honors include awards from the American Legion, the American Freedom Foundation, and the United Conference of Christians and Jews. He holds honorary doctorate degrees from Boston's Emerson College, Vincennes University, Ball State University, and Indiana State University.

Among his other honors is the Cecil B. DeMille Award for outstanding contributions to the entertainment industry, the Governor's Award presented to him by Lucille Ball at the Emmy's Show, and induction into the Television Academy Hall of Fame. He also received the Screen Actors Guild's highest award for humanitarian service to the industry.

Loogootee Fifth Graders L.E.A.D. the way

The Loogootee Fifth Graders recently concluded their participation in Project L.E.A.D. (Legal Education to Arrest Delinquency) by participating in a mock trial held in the courtroom of the Martin Circuit Court. Judge Lynne Ellis presided over the events of the day. In conjunction with the mock trial, the students toured the Martin County Security Center. Project L.E.A.D. is a special curriculum sponsored by the Purdue University Cooperative Service. This was the nineteenth year the program has been taught to Martin County youth. This year's program was conducted by Chief Probation Officer Lisa Brittain with assistance from the Purdue Cooperative Extension Service Extension Educator, Jonathan Stevens, along with fifth-grade teachers.

The program was designed to teach fifth graders about the law, the need for laws, and the legal system with emphasis on the juvenile justice system. In addition, the program emphasized decision-making and the consequences of their actions.

The program combined classroom work, hands-on experiences, and speakers from various agencies. The following persons volunteered their time by speaking with the students about various law enforcement-related topics: Judge Lynne Ellis, Deputy John Fischer, Prosecutor Michael Steiner, Excise Officer Brian Stewart, Loss Prevention Officer Gary Sprinkles, and Admission Manager of Southwest Indiana Regional Youth Village T.J. Brink.

As a part of the program, students were asked to submit drawings/logos for a new L.E.A.D. t-shirt. Each student was provided a t-shirt with the winning logo. This year's design winner was Lane Keller. In addition, each student was required to submit an essay regarding their L.E.A.D. experience. The essay winners are as follows: Leighton Seals, 1st place; Carson Rayhill, 2nd place; and Savannah McAtee, 3rd place. Chief Probation Officer Lisa Brittain presented the winners with a certificate and prize sponsored by the program's financial supporters.

Project L.E.A.D. received financial support from the Martin County Prosecutor's Office and the Martin County Probation Department. They would like to take this opportunity to thank all of the students for their participation as well as the speakers and fifth grade teachers for their help in administering this program.

1ST PLACE How the L.E.A.D. Program Has Influenced My Life By Leighton Seals

Have you enjoyed L.E.A.D.? I certainly have! I've learned valuable knowledge from the messages that the speakers gave about this program. L.E.A.D. has taught me about my responsibilities if I break the law. We can choose to break the law and take a chance we don't get caught or we can obey the law and not have to worry about it. If we break the law and get caught, we have to pay the consequences for the decisions we have made.

Of all the guest speakers, Mr. Steiner got my attention the most. He is a very intelligent man and a role model for me. Looking at the job he now has shows how hard he has worked to be successful. He told a powerful story about a family traveling to Holiday World for a fun-filled day which turned out to be a day of tragedy. One drink can lead to another and another and can cloud a person's judgment. This story made a very big impression on my life. When I grow up I want to be a lawyer like Mike Steiner, and help bring justice to people in need.

I would also like to acknowledge Lisa Brittain and Jonathan Stevens for helping us. They were with us the entire L.E.A.D. program. I appreciate everything they taught me such as the difference between laws and rules. I need to know the laws to make the right choices in my life. I never gave much thought to how making the right choices could affect my life until the people in this program brought it to my attention.

In my future, I will obey the rules and laws to avoid hurting others or myself. I plan to obey the laws so that the quality of my life will be good and not be spent in jail. My mother, father, grandmother, and church have taught me rules and this program has taught me about the laws. Thank you to everyone who has made this valuable program possible.

2ND PLACE How the L.E.A.D Program has influenced my Life By Carson Rayhill

There is a saying that knowledge is power. Now that I have experienced the L.E.A.D. program, I feel prepared for my future decisions. L.E.A.D. has taught me that good choices get good results. It also taught me that if you break the law or commit a crime, you may have to endure terrible consequences. Some of these consequences are community service, house arrest, and the children's youth village. L.E.A.D. taught me how to avoid these consequences, and what to do if we see someone break the law.

I think that L.E.A.D. is a wonderful program for fifth graders because what crimes we do as juveniles, we will most likely do as an adult. In court if you are a juvenile, you do not get a jury trial. This means the judge decides your punishment not a jury. Also, these crimes stay on the court system's record your whole life.

If juveniles decide to smoke cigarettes, drink alcohol, or take drugs, not only is it illegal, but they could get addicted to them their whole life causing health problems. They may also get in trouble with the law. If they are associated with a friend who is doing any of these they could also receive a consequence. This is called guilty of association. If we choose not to do any of these, it will help lead you to a happy, healthy, life.

I hope that future fifth graders will get to experience L.E.A.D. Everyone including me, has dreams, and if they don't break the law they can accomplish any dream they can think of. One of these dreams may include going to college. If you break the law and get a record it is possible that a college may not accept you because of that offense.

I think it is important that future L.E.A.D. students get to learn about our national, state, and local legal systems, the laws, and the consequences.

Finally, I would like to thank Lisa Brittain, all of the guest speakers, and everyone else associated with L.E.A.D. Without you L.E.A.D. would not have been such a huge success.

Knowledge IS power. I will use the knowledge I've gained in L.E.A.D. to fulfill my dreams and goals and become a successful adult!

3RD PLACE How L.E.A.D. Has Influenced My Life By Savannah McAtee

Have you ever had a dream? I have! Mine is about going to college and having a good job. But I can't go to college and get a good job if I make bad choices. If you want a good job, you have to follow the rules. Your future boss can see if you were in trouble with the law when you were young.

L.E.A.D. has influenced my life in many different ways. It has helped me realize that the choices I make now have certain consequences for my future. The way I behave and my attitude toward rules at home and in school will help me be a better person. L.E.A.D. has taught me that I am in control of my own future. The mistakes that I make now will follow me forever.

I learned Martin County Judge, Mrs. Lynne E. Ellis, is very nice out of the courtroom, but she also can be strict and harsh if you need to face her in the courtroom. Judge Ellis can assign people to go on probation and to jail. If you fail to meet your probation guidelines, Judge Ellis can assign you to more probation time or even have you serve a jail sentence. After listening to Judge Ellis, I have realized that I do not want to be a juvenile delinquent. I do not want the courts to have control of me. I want to have the freedom to do what I want.

I think L.E.A.D. has been very helpful to 5th graders. It has helped me realize that importance of developing decision making skills. The knowledge I've gained in this program has made a positive difference in my life. Thank you L.E.A.D!

VU adopts record-high budget of $155.4 million

Vincennes University adopted a $155.4 million budget last week for fiscal year 2011-12. This is a record-high budget that reflects the growth and statewide outreach of the state's first college.

Adopted unanimously by the VU Board of Trustees, the budget includes a tuition and fee increase of 2.8 percent for both fiscal years 2011-12 and 2012-13 and a one percent increase in tuition and fees for facility repair and rehabilitation for both years. No one spoke in opposition to the tuition and fee increase at a public hearing on May 23 at VU.

The budget also includes a state operating fund increase of $111,841 for FY 2012, representing an increase of less than one-third of one percent.

"VU is fortunate to not have had our operating fund appropriation cut such as other institutions experienced. We are also fortunate to be able to invest in maintaining our physical facilities for the benefit of our students and programs. It is critical to our mission to invest in repair and rehabilitation of facilities on an on-going basis," said Phil Rath, vice president for Financial Services and Government Relations.

The state operating appropriation per full-time equivalency enrollment at VU has declined from $5,988 in FY 2007 to $4,310 in FY 2010. During that same time period, VU's enrollment grew by 29 percent.

The budget includes general fund revenues and expenses of $77.6 million. On the expenditure side, the general fund budget includes employee compensation totaling about $50 million. Compensation represents about 70 percent of the general fund budget.

"The budget that was adopted relates to the economic times that we have today. We tried to be sensitive about tuition increases and think about our students and their parents as they seek access to higher education. At the same time, we have a responsibility to maintain a quality program at Vincennes University, so this budget reflects that," said VU President Dick Helton.

VU will continue to offer the lowest tuition and fees among all state residential colleges. Under the new tuition and fees, VU students will pay $171 more in 2011-12 and $177 more in 2012-13. For full-time, in-state students, VU tuition will be $4,705 this year and $4,882 next year. "We feel very confident that we developed a budget that we can easily justify based on the quality we offer," Helton said.

Helton praised the work of trustees and staff in preparing this year's budget. "We tried to develop a financial plan that will allow us to grow as an institution and provide programming that is important to our students and the communities we serve," Helton said. He singled out both the Board's Finance/Revenue Committee and the VU Financial Services Area, under Vice President Phil Rath, for their work in developing the budget.

"This has been a challenging budget to prepare but the good news is that it will allow VU to continue to provide a quality education and modern academic facilities comparable to any college in the state, and do this at an affordable cost," Helton said.

Incorporated in the budget is a four-year financial plan that uses conservative enrollment and state funding estimates. The budget also directs funds to those areas emphasized in VU's Strategic Plan.

"When you talk about a budget of this magnitude, the positive impact on the communities we serve is considerable," Helton said. "When we bring a large number of students to our campuses each fall, that also impacts our communities from an economic standpoint, and that's why it is important that we maintain quality programs and find innovative ways to help our students and communities compete in a world economy."

The budget incorporates one new facility that will open in fall 2011 - the Gibson County Center for Advanced Manufacturing and Logistics. This $12 million training facility will be strategically located near the intersection of Interstate 64 and U.S. 41, a site close to Toyota and many other regional manufacturers. VU's commitment has been matched by the State of Indiana and contributions of business and industry partners to create the 57,342 square-foot facility.

In other action the VU Board of Trustees:

- Approved granting the Finance/Revenue Committee authority to approve bids for the renovation of the former Printing Technology Building into a new Public Safety and Homeland Security Building. Bids were opened last week.
- Approved an employee promotion list.
- Approved curriculum changes that include reactivation of the Pre-Dental Hygiene Program, with revisions, and deactivating the Dance/Theatre Certificate program due to low enrollment.
- Heard a report that shows summer school has attracted 2,977 students - up 168 students compared to last year.
- Congratulated the VU Tennis Team and its Coach Ron Albers for winning the NJCAA Division I National Championship.

~LETTER TO THE EDITOR~

'Free markets – my take'

Today, as unbelievable as it may seem, we hear a lot about the wonders of socialism and even communism - how they are so much better than the economic system that has generated unbelievable wealth and prosperity here in the United States. Our economic system is not a totally "free" market system, but, even with the government regulations that have been imposed upon it - all in the name of protecting us - it has served us well.

The socialist or communist systems are so-called "command" economic systems. The rulers of "command" economic systems determine what products and services are to be available for the people to purchase and at what price. In a "free market" system we, the people, decide what products and services are to be available and at what price we are willing to pay. We determine that with our money- if the product or service is valuable to us at a price that we feel is fair, we buy it. If not, we do not buy it. If enough of us do not buy the product or service, the producer may go out of business- he or she fails. It is all voluntary, on the part of the buyer and the seller. Profits are NOT BAD. They are the incentive for sellers to develop and sell us products and services that we want and depend upon.

A lot of money and risk is involved for the business owner. The business owner must risk his money, time and management talents to bring a product or service to the marketplace. The total objective is to willingly bring a product or service to the market that we, the public want, at a price that we will willingly pay in order to please us, the buyer.

We complain a lot about the price that we pay for a gallon of gasoline today. It is much higher than it was a year ago. Without government interference, however, gasoline always seems to be available. I recently talked to a friend of mine who has been in the gasoline business for several years. He told me that to open a new filling station (4 pumps/convenience store operation) it costs around $1.7 million dollars. In addition, it costs about $6,500/month for labor and maintenance of the business. The profit on a gallon of gasoline (subtracting product cost, transportation, storage, labor, taxes and maintenance costs) is about 6-7 cents a gallon. You do not get rich selling gasoline. Typical oil company profit margins are around 6 percent. Typical grocery store profit margins, I believe, are around 2 percent. Grocery products also always seem to be available.

The bottom line is that, without government interference, supply, demand and you determine prices of all of our products and services. That is a free market system in operation. We benefit from this economic system. It has filled our needs and brought us prosperity for over 200 years. Let's not lose it.

God bless you and God bless America.

My Point of View

By Courtney Hughett Owner, MCJ

Thank goodness the school year is over. Man oh man that was something. And, I'm going to be quite frank - I don't expect things to change anytime in the near future. In case you haven't noticed in the past several issues of the Journal, I've decided to just roll with it. You can't force something someone doesn't want.

The bullying issue infecting our schools, however, should be dealt with. I was hearing instances of it constantly this last school year at Loogootee and there at the end, it seemed to escalate. I have no idea why but I have my own theories.

While I believe that the teachers and administrators should play a part in the discipline, it ultimately rests on the parents to teach children right from wrong. I have had the bullying conversation with my boys several times. I remind them constantly that they cannot in any way act like they are better than others. Kids need to understand that some children can't help the way they are, how they look, or the personality they have. Tolerance is the key word I guess. I tell my boys that if they don't care for someone - don't be friends with them. Luckily, we get to choose who we are friends with.

Teachers have to be put in a tough position at school. I know at home when I am not in the room and my boys get into a fight, I have to decide who is telling the truth. And I know them well. For a teacher, that's difficult. I'm sure it is easier sometimes to just tell the kids to knock it off and not even try to find out who was the instigator.

At Loogootee, suspension seems to be the top answer. I am not in favor of out-of-school suspension. I think most kids would love that. Leaving them in school to write a book report or an essay paper would be way more punishment. Loogootee School Board member Eric Ackerman made a comment at last school board meeting that he would like to see less out-of-school suspensions. I hope that this gets a follow-up prior to next year.

Bullying has an everlasting effect on a person's self-esteem. While I had a pretty good run through school, I did have some real stand-out moments. I remember all of them like they were yesterday. And yes, I'm a girl, and I may be a little overly sensitive but I've watched bullying affect boys too.

I've said this before numerous times but I have come across adults in this community who feed off that ability to hurt someone. I once worked with a guy who thought he shined above them all. I would watch him completely tear down a person using phrases like 'makes me sick', 'I can't stand', 'loser', and then when that person would be in front of him he would act like he was talking to his best friend. It was nauseating. These are the things we should teach our children not to do because otherwise they grow up to be like him.

To Market, To Market
By Linda Ledgerwood Ellis
Martin County Farmer's Market Coordinator

*produce
*crafts
*baked goods

Martin County has a long and rich heritage as an Indiana farming community but it has only been in the last few years that the Martin County Farmer's Market has formally come into existence. Informally, Indiana farmers have been selling produce, goods, and services for years but customers seeking fresh locally-grown items had to either know the farmer personally or luck out by being in the right place at the right time to purchase homegrown produce.

By creating a venue where both the seller and customer can meet on a regular basis, the Martin County Farmer's Market is a win-win for everyone.

Opening day of the 2011 season will be this upcoming Saturday, June 4. With only one location this year, everyone will be able to remember that the market will be located in Shoals near Bo Mac's from 9 a.m. until noon each Saturday from June through October. All items for sale will be locally grown or produced in our immediate southern Indiana community.

Opening day festivities will include a Judo demonstration by Ed and Nancy Cronk of Defenders of the Faith, live music performed by Brokenpick, face-painting, door prizes as well as some very special surprise activities.

Come and join us for what is sure to be a fun filled morning - what a great way to start the summer. See you in Shoals on Saturday!
