Hold onto your hats, because things are about to become really interesting! CHANGE IS COMING! Yes, yes, you already feel as if you have “been there, done that, and have all those tee shirts.” But you ain’t seen nothing yet!

The past ten years have all been prelude to Big Change! What? You’ve been through enormous changes already? Then you should be used to it by now! Right?!

Don’t forget that humanity is in the process of moving from the Piscean Age to the Aquarian Age. It is the Great Shift of the Ages, and it takes time. What part of “Great” didn’t you understand? Even if everything seems to have been changing for the last decade—and it has—it’s not done yet. There is a quote from the movie, Millennium (1989) that applies well: “This is not the end. This is not the beginning of the end. It is the end of the beginning.”

The good news is that you are getting a lot of help. The beloved planets are lending their energies to humanity in this effort, pushing and shoving everyone along the path to enlightenment, along the path to Love.

This Shift has been “on the books” for a long time. Not only is it the end/beginning of a 2,160-year cycle, it is also the end/beginning of a 26,000-year cycle. It is a Big Deal. Souls started training for this opportunity long, long ago, over many, many lifetimes. And then everyone stood in line to get the ticket to be here on planet Earth at this precise time, because this time period on planet Earth is AMAZING! If you are not feeling privileged, think again.

Let’s review. The best way to understand what, exactly, is going on “out there,” is to look at how the planets are helping. Although the energies of the Aquarian Age have been felt for a long, long time, the big push toward the Shift started with the Uranus/Pluto Conjunction in the mid-60s, the beginning of a long, transformational cycle. This is what brought us what is popularly known as “the 60s.” It was a time of great turmoil, as those who were unknowingly receiving and channeling glimmers of “the new” came up against those who were clinging to the past. Those early receivers did not fail in their mission; rather, they planted important seeds about civil rights, equality, healthy food, alternative medicine, and many other issues that needed to change. Then, as with any large expansion, there was a lengthy contraction. That’s the way life—and change—happens. Change comes in a zigzag, a dancing pattern of two steps forward, one step back.

From 2008 to 2012, the three transpersonal planets each changed signs. These are “generational” planets (their changes in placement give us the “generation gap”). They are transpersonal, affecting everyone on the planet on a deep, subconscious level. They bring internal changes in the way people think, feel, believe, and define themselves. They change people’s core values in significant ways.

And from 2011 to 2015, Uranus and Pluto squared off for the first time since that conjunction brought us “the 60s,” asking the important question, “How are you doing with all that?” about all those issues that were raised back then. So... how are we doing with that?? It is time to reassess.

All these planetary changes and transits have created a deep feeling of Divine Discontent that continues to grow in people all over the world. Have you noticed? This Discontent can become so unbearable that some are literally compelled to take action to bring change. Sometimes it seems like people across the globe are, quite simply, jumping out of their skins! And in a very real way, that's true.

This is why the refrain since 2012 has been—and continues to be—CHANGE, CHANGE, CHANGE! People have been experiencing that Divine Discontent in every aspect of their lives to one degree or another. Anything that does not support the authenticity and truth of an individual, and anything that is toxic, detrimental, or stifling in any way is becoming increasingly uncomfortable to the point of intolerance, as each person is pushed, from the inside, toward greater freedom and love.

The biggest problem is that people do not like change. They are afraid of change, because change is the road to the unknown. And the unknown is perceived to be dangerous and scary. There is this popular idea that one can/must get one's life "settled," and then "live happily ever after." Without change! But change is normal. Change is necessary. And yet, people resist change with all their might. It is the resistance to change that slows progress and brings pain! And so, because there is so much resistance to change in the world, there is great pain in the world!

This process of deep internal change and Divine Discontent has been going on for quite some time, and now—as we enter the year 2020—the proverbial rubber is about to hit the road! All of that internal change and Divine Discontent is about to manifest as changes in the outer world.

Since 2008, with much assistance from Pluto, humanity has been forced to see the skeletons in the closet on a personal, local, national, and global level. Pluto takes us on a journey into the Underworld, to see into our Shadows, and face ourselves. This is what we see on the world stage and in our own lives right now: that Shadow side that everyone wants to ignore. We see the trash that hasn't been taken out. We see the dead body under the rug in the living room that everyone just steps over, because no one wants to acknowledge it, and no one wants to deal with it.

In 2020, it will be time to take out the trash and deal with the dead body in the living room! Saturn will conjunct Pluto in Capricorn as the year begins and will give humanity a big reality check! It's time to pay the piper, because Saturn is the teacher and the builder and, often, the father who gives his children tough love. With Saturn, the unsustainable must be corrected and the foundations must be fixed. NOW! Enough fooling around. It's not like you didn't know the termites were eating through the front steps.

If you have already built a good, strong foundation, you will have a smooth ride, and Saturn will reward you for your hard work, dedication, and conscientiousness. But if you have built your "house" of straw or wood, like the first two little piggies in the story, the Wolf will blow your house down. And that's actually a gift, despite your negative judgment of it, because it gives you the opportunity to rebuild and create the strong foundation that will support you for the rest of your life!

2020 will bring new solutions to old problems. You will see people coming together in new ways to solve problems. Although this may not happen through your elected leaders (who are still clinging to that old Piscean hierarchy and consolidation of wealth and power), that ten years of Divine Discontent that the people have experienced will begin to resolve itself through concrete action to address problems large and small for everyone.

Many of the changes may involve the use of money, banking, and the economy, because we are dealing with Pluto and Saturn in Capricorn, and because Uranus moved last May into Taurus. This does not necessarily mean economic catastrophe, although there may well be volatility, so it is wise to take appropriate action. More likely, it could mean dramatic banking reforms or some big change in the way money is used—think about how the use of “plastic” and phone-pay systems have overtaken the use of paper money. Think also of how money provides or suppresses freedom in your life and look at ideas and concepts about providing “basic income” to all.

Other big changes will come in every area that affects humanity: medicine, food, ecology, technology, science, religion, education, governments, institutions, and so on. As humanity moves more into the Aquarian energy and casts off the old, Piscean ways, expect humanitarian energies and intentions to prevail: more people working together, more efforts toward peace, and more ways to address homelessness and provide basic needs and medical care, as well as more equal access to information, education, and opportunity. Innovations in technology will play a large role.

What can each person do to make this continued change easier? Use the energies that are being provided, release your attachment to the status quo, and allow change! Even better, actively create change to bring yourself more freedom and joy.

As Pluto shows you the skeletons in your closet, open your eyes, acknowledge them, and bury them appropriately with thanks! Stop fooling yourself! The days of denial are over.

Give yourself a reality check to identify any beliefs, habits, relationships or circumstances in your life that are unsustainable, nonbeneficial, or unsupportive, and fix them or walk away. Do the necessary work to make sure your foundations are solid.

Take a long, hard look at yourself and all those parts that you don't like, that you try to pretend don't exist—and then embrace them. Love them! They are all parts of you that want to be loved, and as you embrace all those parts, you move more into Self-Love, which is the most important key to entering the Age of Aquarius!

As you cultivate Self-Love, you begin to accept yourself “warts and all,” and as a result, you begin to be able to accept and love others. You treat yourself and others with kindness and walk away from toxic situations and abuse.

As you begin to forgive yourself, you begin to understand that everyone is simply doing the best they can (as you are), and you begin to be able to understand and forgive others, too.

As you begin to love and forgive yourself, you let yourself come down off that cross upon which you have been torturing yourself, and you allow yourself to ASCEND into authenticity.

And as you allow yourself to ascend into authenticity, your True Self, the magic and the miracles really start to happen! You start living from your Heart, and the Universe rolls out the red carpet for you.

Are you ready to stop resisting and embrace the change? To take the actions needed to bring more freedom, joy, peace, and love into your life? Into your workplace? Into your neighborhood? Into your organizations? It all begins with YOU. That's where the rubber (finally) hits the road!
