WE'RE NOT IN KANSAS ANYMORE!

By Ellyn Dye

Not every big change of reality involves a house falling on someone's sister, a town filled with munchkins, and a yellow brick road (not to mention flying monkeys)! Even without such obvious markers, Mother Earth and humanity are hurtling into very new territory. It is a new energetic environment with an increasingly higher vibration, where manifestation can happen much more quickly, and many human activities will no longer yield the expected result. New territory, indeed! And there is no turning back.

Most people have not consciously noticed—let alone embraced—this change. The new reality physically resembles the old, so it is easy to ignore. And yet, the changes being manifested by the higher vibration on the planet are felt on a very deep level, and that is producing fear, uncertainty, and intense resistance.

Humanity is lurching along into this new vibration, kicking and screaming the whole way. Many feel like they are walking downhill on ice, and they are desperately flailing around, grabbing for a non-existent railing, trying to control the descent and stop the slow slide into the unknown. It will take a decade or more before everyone starts to recognize, accept, and adjust to all the differences in this new landscape.

It is up to those who understand what is happening to help show the way. This will not necessarily be easy, because you are now in Earth 2.0 and Humanity 2.0, and there is no manual! Those who understand—and even those who can feel the new vibration and the new “ripeness” in the air—must still feel their way, learning and adjusting to the new reality like everyone else. They are just more aware of what is happening.

The last few years have been years of transition to the new, higher vibration experienced on the planet. The events of 2020 and 2021 provided the tornado that shook everything up enough to land everyone firmly in this new reality. In 2022, the transition process will escalate on the ground.

Resistance—manifesting as anger, fear, and desperation—continues to be one of the most prevalent energies on the planet, even though everyone knows that “Resistance is futile”!

The Chaos Continues

The chaos in the outer world will continue, and possibly escalate, in 2022. It is the result of resistance, the clash of the old vibration/paradigm versus the new, the clash of those who resist change and those who embrace it. This clash will continue to play out in many ways, on the personal, national, and global levels: The information wars, continuing revelations, the purging of trapped emotions and unhealed wounds, and a decrease in tolerance of injustice.

The more afraid of change that people are, the more they will become unbalanced, volatile, vitriolic, and desperate. Bullies become louder and more demanding as they cling desperately to the illusion of control. Politicians fearing a loss of power, status, and wealth create policies and laws that are more and more authoritarian, repressive, and regressive, in a futile attempt to “go back” to times that they believe were better (at least for them). The desire and need for control—especially over others who are seen as part of the change—drives those who are afraid to greater desperation and more drastic actions.

This will continue in 2022, as the planet and humanity move more and more into this new reality. It could be much easier, if people would let go of their fear and resistance, but many will be unable to do so. They simply feel too threatened.

Remember that the Universe always supports courage, change, and growth. Embrace change, and the obstacles fall out of the way like Dominoes. Resist change, and the Cosmic 2-by-4 moves into position to help the process along. It will become important to identify where and how fear and the need for control are manifesting in your own lives.

There are two predominant questions that will apply to just about everything in 2022: In order to step out of your comfort zone and allow meaningful change, 1) how bad does it have to get, and 2) how long will it take? These are questions you might want to consider throughout the year in relation to many different topics. The answers are totally up to you!

The changes will be easy or hard, totally determined by the level of resistance.

The Information Wars

The information wars have been stoked over decades by media personalities, shock jocks and “infotainment” outlets—with increasing participation by politicians—who have recognized that manipulating people through fear can be quite lucrative. Manipulating, gaslighting, and outright lying have become the norm, even by those purporting to deliver the “news.” The divide created by this decades-long effort has resulted in two separate portions of the population believing in, and living in, two separate realities.

A major key for navigating through the information wars and all these changes is: discernment, discernment, discernment! Many have no idea what is true or what to believe, so they pick their favorite media personality or media outlet and believe them. But belief does not make it so, and the world is smothering under a blanket of illusion and delusion.

The new energies present the need to learn to discern the truth, rather than simply following the pack or following authorities. Be careful of where, and from whom, you receive your information, no matter which “side” you are on. Take note of what beliefs you hold, and why. Beware of any and all purveyors of fear.

Discernment is one of the prevailing lessons of these times. Allowing yourself to be taken in and duped may have harder consequences in 2022 than ever before. In addition, smug superiority over those you believe to be deluded and wrong will not serve you in the higher energies.

At the beginning of the year, the energies will shift and soften, and the increase in love energy will be felt on the planet. The people will eventually come back together, and this will happen faster if everyone can agree to stop trying to convince everyone else of their viewpoint. Letting go, holding your beliefs lightly, and allowing others to have their own views and their own journey—and deciding to be happy, rather than right—will serve you well in 2022.

Living in kindness, love, and compassion will always assist in creating peace, joy, and the life you desire. The Golden Rule is a great teaching that many have forgotten. Always remember that you get back what you put out and what you resist, persists.

Purging of Trapped Emotions and Unhealed Wounds

Much of the sturm und drang that the world will continue to experience in the coming year is the result of the ongoing purging of trapped emotions and unhealed wounds. There are national wounds as well as personal wounds, and a great purging and healing is long overdue. To heal completely, festering wounds must be opened and cleaned, and deeply trapped emotional energy must be released in order to stop it from wielding unconscious control over life.

Anything that has not been openly addressed will find its way to the surface to be dealt with. While this may be very messy and extremely uncomfortable, this is a good thing, and by the end of the year, many will feel lighter, and freer, as a result of this deep purging and healing.

Many of the earth and weather events—earthquakes, volcanoes, fires, and hurricanes, etc.—actually represent a purging of negative energy by Mother Earth. This is also necessary as the planet and humanity reach a much higher level. These catastrophic events will not only be the impetus for improved construction materials and techniques, they will also help to bring the people together and create more compassion.

As always, it is better to work with the energies, rather than resisting them!

The Revelations Will Continue

As many have become aware, these are the times of revelation! Much has been revealed already, and there will be more revelations to come throughout the year. Be prepared to be shocked and dismayed, as once-revered authority figures will be shown to have feet of clay. The illusions and delusions are being stripped away from everything. The Light is shining brighter and brighter, and it will become increasingly harder to keep anything hidden or in the shadows. Again, what used to work, will no longer work, and “the [men] behind the curtain” will be exposed and seen for who they are, what they’ve been doing, and what they stand for!

This is happening particularly in the United States, as Pluto returns to its position at the time of the founding of the country in February 2022, overturning all the rocks and exposing all the secrets as it comes. There will be many “worms” coming out from under those rocks. And many will recoil at what is revealed.

Pluto rules power—who wields it, and how. It also rules corruption, secrets and all things hidden and behind-the-scenes (especially secret power). And because Pluto is in Capricorn, it is shining its light on politics, government, institutions, corporations, organizations, and overarching systems (such as the economy). You may remember that the economy crashed in 2008 when Pluto entered Capricorn, as if announcing its arrival in the sign.

What’s the purpose of all these revelations? People tend to look away from anything unpleasant, in essence, hoping it will go away or resolve itself if not too much attention is paid. Anyone who has had roaches knows that problems only grow worse if they are not identified and addressed. These long-standing unaddressed problems are now like dead bodies long hidden under the rug in the living room—and Pluto is causing them to stink, so they can no longer be ignored!

In 2022, there will be less and less tolerance for corruption, abuse, injustice, and unfairness, and there will be increasing demands to root this out wherever it exists and make things better for everyone. There will likely be more—and bigger—protests against policies and laws that do not support the people. As the revelations increase, tolerance decreases.

Responsibility and accountability will be required at all levels, as more and more people reach the point of screaming, “I’m mad as Hell and I just won’t take it anymore!” The movie from the mid-70s with that famous line (Network) was prescient, and considerably ahead of its time!

It’s All Good!

Even though all these changes may be fear-inducing, disconcerting, and extremely uncomfortable, it’s all good! Everything and everyone is moving in the right direction, moving into a higher vibrating reality. Every person on the planet came at this time to be part of this great shift! Don’t lose heart now!

Technology will continue to change faster than even the young ones can keep up with, and new uses and applications will be found for this new technology in many areas of life: science, medicine, business, education, construction, agriculture, the economy, energy, and more. Be ready to be dazzled!

Individuals will change, physically, mentally, and emotionally. Many will become more sensitive, intuitive, and psychic. Many will find themselves experiencing more understanding and compassion for others. Tastes and tolerances for food may change. Sleep patterns may be disrupted temporarily or permanently changed. As the body adjusts to the new energies, bouts of headaches, vertigo, nausea, and gastrointestinal upsets may be experienced. (If these reach a level or duration that causes concern, seek medical assistance.)

Tolerance for toxic and abusive relationships and situations will decrease drastically. As people begin increasingly to empower themselves, abuses and dysfunctional behavior and relationships will phase out, and there will be an end to the very Piscean concept of victim mentality.

The fog will lift as people learn to trust themselves and discern the truth. More and more people will make changes and choices that will bring them more joy and fulfillment in their work and relationships. Self-love and authenticity will grow. Creativity will flourish, and with that will come more happiness and joy.

The cleansing of the body politic will bring more of those who truly wish to serve and help the people, and great gains can be made to level the playing field and truly bring opportunities and justice for all.

Yes, in 2022 the changes and challenges will continue, and many feel weary to the bone. But these are exciting, wonderful times, as humanity moves slowly out of dysfunction and self-loathing and into self-love, self-empowerment, and living in authenticity! Everyone has the opportunity now to manifest the life of their dreams. Be careful what you put out there, because you will get it back much faster than ever before!

The best things you can do throughout this transition are: 1) find something that brings you joy or makes your heart sing, and do more of that; 2) use and share your creative gifts and knowledge; 3) practice living in authenticity, integrity, kindness, and compassion; 4) stay out of fear, anger, and judgment as much as possible; 5) be about your business and pay more attention to your own life than on what others are doing, and 6) focus on all that is good in your life, rather than on what you don’t like or what is difficult.

Whether you look at the glass as half empty or half full does not change the amount of water in the glass, but one will make you feel much better about it! It's always a choice between whether to focus on (cling to) the doors that are closing, or on the new doors that are opening, bringing new opportunities to help you create more peace, joy, and love in your life. Letting go of things that don't matter, or that you cannot change, will help you rise above the chaos in the world. Remember that lives are manifested one choice at a time.

Choose wisely!
