

What Is Your Divine Mission?

“Every divine mission has a vocation-also divine- as a foundation, which guarantees its fulfillment.”

Monsignor Casanova i Casanova Bishop of viv Barcelona, Spain

What is your divine mission, and what prevents you from recognizing it as divine? If we are all gifted with specific talents, as bearers of these gifts of The Holy Spirit, what distances our heart from them?

What if your divine mission is to simply show understanding to lonely souls, who hold up grocery check out lines, much to impatience of us all?

Perhaps your divine mission is to discover treasures buried under the pyramids, or finding a cure for an awful disease. Maybe your divine gift is to help others find their own gifts? We live in a sea of potential, of probable possibilities and impossible dreams all swimming together ahead of the past, into the future. Never underestimate your role on the stage of life, for even God comes in the back door.
