Oscar Meyer adds a jetpack to the Wienerfleet

The Oscar Meyer Wienermobile is one of the most iconic food trucks. What else is it than a food truck, given it's a food-shaped truck? But Oscar Meyer wants to boldly go where a truck cannot, and naturally the solution for that is to employ a jetpack.

The "Thunderball"-style jetpack, flown by a superhero character called Super Hotdogger, follows the introduction of Oscar Meyer's Wienerfleet a year ago. The Wienerfleet comprises the classic Wienermobile alongside a wienerized Mini, a Vespa with a sidecar and a Wienerdrone, all of them with the instantly recognizable red-and-yellow wiener livery.

But the jetpack might be the most inventive Wienerfleet addition so far. The company says that more people have walked on the moon than have flown with a jetpack — though only 12 men have walked on the moon, so we're not too sure about that claim. Nonetheless, jetpack travel is pretty rarified, and jetpack hotdog delivery is even rarer.

The jetpack in question is made by Jetpack Aviation, whose CEO, David Mayman, flew around the Statue of Liberty, which along with hotdogs is about as American as it gets.
