USA East Coast Basketball Teams Set for Greece in 2024

New York, N.Y. – The basketball experience of a lifetime is taking place this June as the 2024 USA East Coast Men's and Women's teams will compete in Greece. Director of USA Operations Guy Rancourt, along with a panel of advisors, continue evaluating the college basketball landscape as each team's roster and coaching staff are assembled. Basketball's greatest coaching minds have led these talented collegiate stars since 2006. New York City will serve as the backdrop for USA Training Camp as Columbia University plays host. Columbia's stunning Manhattan campus and state-of-the-art facilities are the ideal location. Each team will experience multiple training sessions, an open media event for interviews, and the team photo shoot at one of New York's iconic locations prior to departing for their international destination. The Men's Team will be participating in matches against National Teams selected to compete in the FIBA Olympic Qualifying Tournament held in Piraeus, Greece. The USA Women's Team will be competing against top teams from Greece's A1 and A2 professional leagues, finishing with a friendly match against Greece's U-20 National Team tentatively set.

USA East Coast's roster selection considers all levels of college basketball. While the majority of our players commonly hail from the NCAA Division I level all platforms are considered and represented as well. Players from the NCAA Division II, Division III, NAIA, and two-year college levels often have a roster spot available to them. Those interested in being considered for a player or coach roster opportunity are encouraged to reach out. Applicants should send their material via email to usaeastcoastbasketball@gmail.com.
