For more than 50 years, CEI has been providing document reproduction, document processing, and office automation equipment throughout the Triangle. We have been dedicated to offering our customers unparalleled service coupled with a diverse product line that continues to evolve as new, state-of-the-art products emerge.

We have chosen to represent manufacturers that remain committed to research and development, to setting the standard for technological advances, and to providing innovative solutions for the ever-changing office environment.

CEI understands that companies and organizations are looking for more than just a sales rep. They are looking for value, for support, for relationships – for knowledgeable advisors and consultants that analyze situations, understand needs, offer solutions, and solve problems. They are looking for partners – people they can trust and rely on and companies that can support them both now and in the future. We are strongly committed to providing our customers with the products, experience, personnel, and resources required to effectively serve as your partner for the document demands of your office.
