

Quick Guide To A Blowjob

Who usually starts the sexy time? You or your partner? If both of you are okay with one person always making the first move, great! But, most people like to mix it up. Sometimes, if you really want to blow his mind with the best oral sex experience, it can all start with you taking the lead!

How To Get Started

Despite what you may think most men actually love and get a lot out of extended foreplay. Taking time with oral foreplay can seriously up the satisfaction game for him, making everything more enjoyable. So to get the best out of giving him a blowjob it is time to focus first on the warm-up, the key is to buildup his anticipation for a way better sexual experience.

But First ...

Lets Talk Teeth. For oral sex, avoid using teeth by covering them with your lips for softness. Additionally, use techniques you're comfortable with, ensuring enough saliva or a flavoured, safe lubricant for a better experience. Note; Some men may request a gentle feather graze of the teeth, however you must communicate well with each other as to what this looks like to avoid any harm.

Quick Guide To A Blowjob

What if I gag? Well the average erect penis is about 5 inches, and the mouth's depth is approximately 3 or 4 inches. This means taking your man fully into your mouth could hit the back of your throat and trigger the gag reflex.

Avoiding The Gagging. The key is to control how deep you go by placing your hand at the base of his penis. For well-endowed partners, wrap a few fingers around the base for depth control, for others, just keep your hand near the base or on his thigh. This helps prevent gagging and lets you focus on maximising his pleasure. Another essential tip, you have to breath through your nose!

Enthusiasm. Show him you want to be there and who is in charge. As you become more confident start using your words to tell him how much you enjoy giving him oral sex. That you can't wait to taste his and how giving him a blow job turns you on.

Stroke Him. Slide your hand up to his crotch over his clothes, giving him a gentle stroke before he takes off his trousers and briefs. Explore him with your hands. Lightly run your fingers up and down over his penis and testicles.

Enthusiasm is a key part of giving great oral sex

Quick Guide To A Blowjob

Start from kissing then let it lead into the oral sex part, slowly moving down his body with kisses, starting from his lips and proceeding down to his chest, navel and his inner thigh, look him in the eye as you finally kiss his penis tip.

Positioning. The position you pick for giving a blow job really matters. Do you want to take charge, or prefer being more submissive?

Kneeling by him while he stands can feel submissive, making him feel dominant. Ensure clear communication to avoid any unwanted head pushing down or thrusting.

Feeling Dominant you could push your man down on the bed, so he's on his back. Straddle him and slowly lower your mouth around his penis, commanding him to lay there while you are in control!

Try Out Different Positions like standing, sitting, or kneeling, and maybe even set up a mirror behind. This can be especially exciting if your guy is visually stimulated, which a lot of men are.

Kiss His Penis A great way to start off your blow job is by kissing his penis all over. Try giving him small, quick kisses to longer, more intense extra wet kisses. Use your hand to guide him as to where you want to kiss him, not forgetting his testicles.

Quick Guide To A Blowjob

Flick The Frenulum. Many men find the frenulum, where the glans meets the shaft on the penis's underside, extremely sensitive. A top blow job tip is to gently flick this area with your tongue tip while sucking, naturally targeting the frenulum. Begin by flicking his frenulum before taking his whole penis in your mouth. You can go up-and-down, side-to-side, in circles, or mix it all up.

Wetter is Better. Suck him gently, making sure to use lots of saliva, think wet not drooling, that's not sexy, then you can even gently blow on his wet tip or shaft or even testicles creating a cooling sensation that is great for teasing your man.

Moan Into Him. Moans of pleasure or you showing him how much you are enjoying giving him oral sex will make this whole experience so much hotter for you both. Sending vibrations from your moans can intensify sensations to his penis and up the notch on how he feels when he knows you are enjoying it too!

Eye Contact. Eye contact is incredibly sensual and intense, creating a deep connection. Being slightly submissive and looking up at your man during oral sex can be a huge turn-on for him. You might also relish the sense of sexual power as you watch him in pleasure, controlling him completely with just your mouth.

Try focusing on licking the tip of his penis using the least amount of pressure possible. Many guys report this being their absolute favourite blow job technique.

Quick Guide To A Blowjob

Licking is fun and easy, just hold his penis in your hands and use your tongue to lick him. Licking him from the base to the tip works really well, then move gradually onto gently sucking him like your favourite lollypop

Variation Is Your Friend. Most men will crave variety in their sexual experiences, so sticking to the same two moves every single time you're giving oral is going to bore him super quickly. But remember, too much change can be overwhelming, so aim for that sweet spot of just enough variety.

His Balls. Don't overlook his testicles – they're just as sensitive as his penis, or for some guys, even more so. You can just kiss and lick them, play around with your tongue and lips. Gently use your hands to stroke them, hold and then massage them, even giving a gentle tug and pull if he's into it.

Taint To Tip. He may enjoy you slowly licking him from his perineum all the way to the tip of his penis. Doing this in one wet slow, continuous lick is best. Gently press his penis against his stomach whilst licking can help you access his perineum and testicles so you can uninterruptedly lick all the way up.

Quick Guide To A Blowjob

Slow and Sensual. Slowing down is an effective way to enhance your man's pleasure by delaying his orgasm. Instead of rushing, slow your movements until they're minimal. This gives him the chance to enjoy the sensation of your lips and tongue over every part of him. It's particularly beneficial for men with premature ejaculation.

Fast, and Intense. This is the total opposite of the above. You'll be stimulating as much as you can, as quickly as you can, and as intensely as you can, note only do this if when you're ready to bring him to the point of ejaculation as it can tip most men over the edge.

Roof Of Your Mouth. While it may seem unlikely, angling his penis during a blow job so the top of his glans rubs against the ridges on your mouth's roof feels great. However, be cautious with changing angles to avoid any unwanted scraping him with your teeth.

Deep Throat. Deep throating is definitely a more advanced technique when it comes to blow jobs, and it should only be done with complete consent and trust. The extra pleasure he can receive comes from the back of your throat. As you take him deep into your mouth the back of your throat will contact the tip of his penis, remember this technique isn't for all.

Take A Break. Remember if your mouth or tongue becomes fatigued, its okay to simply take a break. Use this opportunity to gently explore his body with your hands, trace kisses up his abdomen to his nipples, or share a kiss.

Quick Guide To A Blowjob

How To Finish. It's always a good idea to chat in advance about whether you're okay with him finishing in your mouth or not. Make sure to set clear boundaries and check that you're both on the same page.

If you're okay with him finishing in your mouth, you might be thinking about what to do next. Really, there's no right or wrong here, it's all about what you're comfortable with. Not into swallowing? Totally fine, you can just spit it out. But if you're curious, maybe give swallowing a shot at least once to see how you feel about it.

Another idea is to have him finish somewhere else, for this you can even use your hands. You could aim for him to ejaculate on your chin or cheeks (just be careful not to get into your eyes) over your breasts, or even into your hands. Lots of guys think it's really hot to see their partner swallow, but most guys also find it pretty sexy to watch it run over your smooth skin or to watch you play with it with your fingers

After giving and receiving oral sex, it's really key to take a moment to embrace some aftercare with each other, in a hug or a kiss. It lets you both soak in the warmth and closeness of the experience. Oral sex is incredibly intimate so allow this time and connection to bring you closer.