

Meet the Author

Theresa Cocci

Meet Harry, a downhearted little dog, who is saddened by the stares of others who only see his horrible hair. When Miss Maggie knits him a handsome sweater to hide his messy hair, Harry quickly gains confidence. But when disaster strikes and his patchy hair is once again revealed, Harry wonders if others will ever see him for what he's like on the inside---not just the outside.

Mem's Choice Award Winner

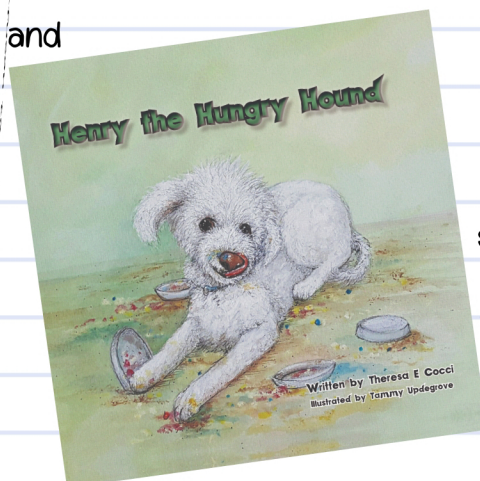

Theresa Cocci's appreciation for telling stories began early in her teaching career. By capturing the interest of her students through storytelling and songs, she embraced her desire to encourage an appreciation and love for literacy. She currently works as a music specialist and writes for educational websites, including

Music ConstructED:

<https://www.musicconstructed.com> and

Teaching with Orff:

<https://teachingwithorff.com>

Discover how a kind old woman, whose love for baking and sharing her delicious pies, suddenly discovers that her plans may change. Could it be her loveable but mischievous pup named Henry, who silently waits to devour those pies? A final twist on the last pages reveals a silent partner that encourages young readers to use their imagination.