Great-Grandfather John Eakes and her Great-Great-Uncle William Eakes.

Program:

1st Lt. Commander Jeff Toalson introduced our guests and our speaker for the evening, Mr. Preston Nuttall of Chesterfield County, VA.

Mr. Nuttall gave a very interesting and informative overview of his historical novel "The Amish Rebel -
The Story of a Midshipman at the Confederate Naval Academy".

New Members:

Three new members were inducted into the Camp:
Kyle Summerfield (in absentia, his father Scott standing in), Mark Carpenter and Aaron Anderson.

CAMP JOURNAL FOR LAST MUSTER

He said he has received dues payments from 53 of 66 members and encouraged those who have not paid, to do so soon. Ken also said he won't be giving out membership cards this year, but for those who want a card to see him.

Trivia Question

What Virginia born artillerist named four of his cannons, Matthew, Mark, Luke, and John?

Answer: Gen. William Nelson Pendleton who was an ordained Episcopal Minister.

Support the Troops

Compatriot Joel Goodwin indicated our deployed military member point of contact will soon return to the states and that a new contact will need to be named. He urged all to bring items to be shipped overseas to each meeting.

Cemetery Report

None as Compatriot Steve White was not present tonight.

Old Business

None to report.

New Members

Two new members were inducted tonight:
Mike Willoughby and Tim Davis.

New Business

Compatriot Ed Engle informed the camp that this Saturday, September 29th there would be a reenactment, subject "Prisoner Exchange" that would take place at the Old Town Center in Gloucester 10:00 AM to 4:00 PM. He encouraged interested compatriots to attend.

Compatriot Fred Boelt informed the camp that Mt. Vernon Methodist Church in Toano celebrated their 125th anniversary on September 23, 2012. In conjunction with this event, Bob and Carole Dishman have written a history of the church and the James City Chapel Cemetery owned by the church. In this book, they give credit to our James City Cavalry Camp for having our Confederate Remembrance Day service at the cemetery in 2009, and also for keeping Confederate flags year-round on the graves of the five veterans buried there.

Book Raffle:

$77.00 was donated to the Camp Treasury for the raffle of the two donations: "Here Come the Rebels" by Wilbur S. Nye and "Pickett - Leader of the Charge" by Edward Longacre.

The Camp adjourned at 8:45PM.

Compatriot Steve White on right with Greg and Cheryl Garrett, brother and sister at Pvt. Pink T. Garrett Jr. stone at Olive Branch Church, James City County.

Historian and Genealogist Compatriot Fred Boelt had communicated with Greg and our Camp installed the stone. Greg is from Chicago, Illinois. Cheryl is from Maryland.

OCTOBER GUEST SPEAKER

Compatriot Jeff Toalson
Author & Historian

"Mama, I Am Yet Still Alive – A Composite Diary of 1863 in the Confederacy"

When local Williamsburg author and historian Jeff Toalson was offered access to a treasure trove of WBTS diaries, letters and journals at the Brewer Library of the United Daughters of the Confederacy he embarked on a two year effort to create a companion volume for No Soap, No Pay, Diarrhea, Dysentery & Desertion – A Composite Diary of 1864-1865 in the Confederacy.

Toalson uses the 'voices' of 50 women and 220 men to tell the story of 1863. Three of the women and twelve of the men are 'major voices' and become your good friends and guides as they are regular voices, in virtually every chapter, for the entire two and one half years of the two books. More than 100 of the 'voices' used in Mama, I Am Yet Still Alive have never been published.

Tonight you will take a journey through 1863 as Toalson reads selected letters from farm wives, privates, surgeons, ministers, sergeants, clerks, refugees and nurses. He will complement his presentation with a variety of historical artifacts and perhaps share his knowledge of the secret ingredient in the production of a superior 'blackberry bounce.'

Jeff Toalson, our 1st Lt. Commander, appreciates the opportunity to take his new talk for a test drive with his compatriots at the James City Cavalry.

John Holdsworth Barlow, Jr. was born October 13, 1838 in Williamsburg, Virginia. He was the son of John H. and Margaret Nelson Bellette Barlow.

He joined the Williamsburg Junior Guard on April 28, 1861 as a private. John was detailed as the Regimental Quartermaster Sergeant in July, 1861. August, 1861 finds John in Williamsburg on sick furlough.

On April 23, 1862 John was in Seminary Hospital in Williamsburg with Catarrhus. John was promoted 2nd Lieutenant for the Co. C on May 11, 1862 when the army reorganized. May 12, 1862 at Chimborazo Hospital #5 with debilities. May 29 till June, 6 at Chimborazo #1 with diarrhea.

On May 21, 1862, in between hospital visits, he ordered 100 pr shoes, 85 pants, 100 shirts, 100 drawers, 120 pr socks and 36 caps for Company C – 32nd Virginia Infantry.

Wounded and captured at Sharpsburg on September 17, 1862. Exchanged on November 8, 1862. From November, 1862 thru January, 1863 absent on furlough recovering from wounds. In February, 1863 he is back in the Chimborazo hospital under the care of Dr. Crenshaw. Returned to duty on March 10, 1863.

He was promoted 1st Lieutenant on January 29, 1863 and to Regimental Assistant Quartermaster in March, 1863.

June 27, 1864 thru August 31, 1864 sick at Chimborazo #4 and the Division Hospital in Petersburg, Virginia with Remittant Fever. On October 31, 1864 furloughed from Hosp. #4 to recover at a farm in New Kent County.

Signed parole on April 9, 1865 at Appomattox.

John returned to Williamsburg to practice law. On December 9, 1869 he married Mary M. DeNeufville and they lived with her father, a retired merchant on Duke of Gloucester Street. They had 2 daughters, Henrietta and Emma. The 1880 census shows John practicing law and Mary as a dry goods merchant. John died sometime after 1886 and is buried in the Cedar Grove Cemetery in Williamsburg.

November 4, 3 pm. Presentation: A Prelude to "Kiss My Little Girls - 1861"

Jeff Toalson, historian and author of three Civil War-era books, will provide some special insights into his research and how he came to know the intriguing story of Richard and Mary Watkins. Richard Watkins, Prince Edward County lawyer and former Confederate cavalry captain (portrayed by Mr. Toalson), will join us for a visit on the front porch and recall stories of the conflict. Mr. Toalson will capture your interest and prepare you for the upcoming performances of one of his most popular works. York Hall, 301 Main Street, Yorktown, Virginia. Sponsored by the York County Historical Committee. 757-890-3508. Free.

November 9 – 18, Times Vary, Yorktown Freight Shed: "Kiss My Little Girls - 1861," A Civil War Romantic Epic (Theatrical Production)

Between 1861 and 1865, plantation owner, lawyer and Confederate Cavalryman Richard Watkins and his young wife, Mary, exchanged detailed and heartfelt letters. Richard had enlisted with Company K of the 3rd Virginia Cavalry after Virginia seceded from the Union. Mary remained living in Prince Edward County, Virginia, raising their three daughters and managing the farm. Richard and Mary's letters offer a heartfelt and eye opening glimpse into the War and the times, weaving both a love story and intense eyewitness accounts of the battlefield. Call 757-766-2309. Tickets available online at www.bootsandkisses.com, at the door and at some Yorktown merchants.

Premiering in Gloucester, Virginia, December 2012 - "Kiss My Little Girls - 1862; The Healing Child" (Theatrical Production)

The Year is 1861

Virginia has seceded from the Union, and Richard Wadkins joins the 3rd Virginia Cavalry. For four long years, he and his wife, Mary, correspond. He fights in almost every major campaign in the Eastern Theatre, and his letters include stories of the Virginia Peninsula and York County. Mary's letters tell of struggles to maintain their farm, three children and her relatives amidst famine, pestilence, plague, and Yankee raids.

Witness this historic tale of epic Romance come alive through their letters in this outstanding theatrical event.

SUPPORT THE TROOPS

In the book "Until Tuesday" by former Army Captain L. C. Montalvan, his stories of tours in Iraq and Afghanistan he had the following note on wet wipes...

"...the best thing to send soldiers."
"Almost every soldier I knew carried baby wipes, even on long patrols. The sand infiltrated everything, and baby wipes were the best way to remove it from elbow folds, hair lines, lips, nostrils, ears, and every other awful place you can think of. They were also great to wipe down weapons. I spent many evenings, and many water breaks on patrol, wiping down my M4 carbine and Beretta 9mm pistol with baby wipes. If it wasn't for Pampers brand butt cleaners, there would have been a lot more jammed weapons and a few more dead soldiers. Of course the Army does not supply them, so baby wipe purchases are out of pocket expenses. If you really want to send something useful to the troops, send baby wipes."

CONFEDERATE GRAVESITES

(Contributed by Historian/Genealogist Compatriot Fred Boelt)

Thaddeus W. Hankins was born about 1828. He was the son of Daniel P. and Mary C. Lightfoot Hankins. Thaddeus was listed in his father's household in the 1850 census as a farmer, and in the 1860 census as a constable. On June 24, 1861, he enlisted in the 3rd Virginia Cavalry in Williamsburg as a private. He died on September 6, 1861. Though cause of death was not given, much of the 3rd Cavalry was stationed on the lower peninsula in the summer of 1861. It is possible that Thaddeus, along with other men, died of disease contracted from the swampy campsites.

The following entry in the Richard Manning Bucktrout Daybook and Ledger adds to the story: "Sept. 7, 1861 Mr. Daniell P. Handkins - to first rate black walnut coffin for your son Thadidas Handkins order written by Doctor Hubbard for you (40.00), to case for same by same (5.00)." While there is nothing written in any of this data that states where Thaddeus was buried, it seems very probable that he was laid to rest with other family members in the cemetery at Hill Pleasant.

Hill Pleasant was originally the seat of the Lightfoot family. Thaddeus's mother, Mary Lightfoot, was daughter of William Lightfoot who is buried in the cemetery there. Thaddeus's parents are both known to have been buried there; Daniel in 1872, and Mary in 1878. Daniel and Mary's younger son Darius King Hankins died in 1906, and his obituary stated that he was buried at Hill Pleasant. This seems to lend credence to Thaddeus having been buried there, also.

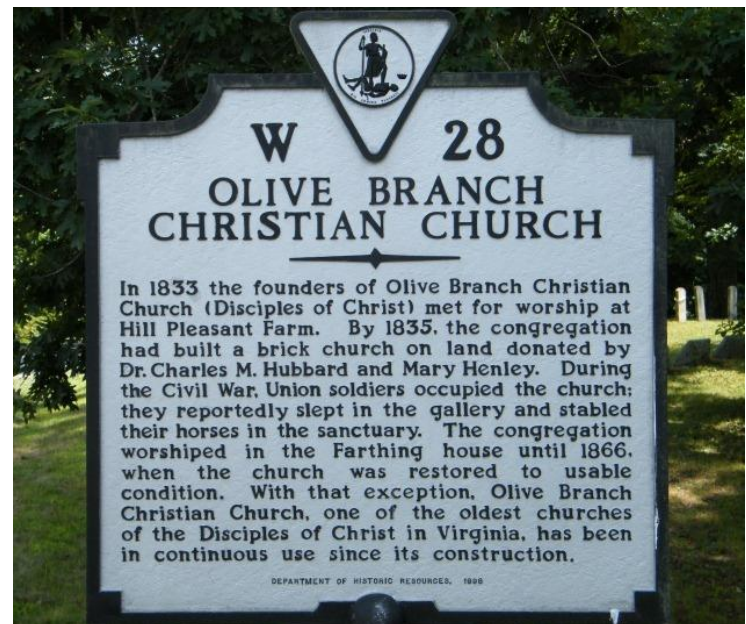

The 1850 census indicates that Daniel and Mary Hankins had four children: Thaddeus, Mary, Darius and Catherine. By 1860, daughter Mary had married Logan W. Lukhard. They were living near present day Croaker, and his occupation was listed as "wheelwright." Logan came from a family in King William County, and he was twenty-three years old when the census was taken.

Logan Lukhard [spelled Lukehard in his service record] enlisted on May 16, 1861, as a private in Company C, 32nd Virginia Infantry at Williamsburg. He was present on all rolls except he was absent July 17, 1861 - February 28, 1862, having been detailed to superintend negroes working on fortifications. He was on leave February 7 - March 31, 1863, and he deserted on November 2, 1864. On November 24, 1864, federal records listed him as being confined in the military prison at Camp Hamilton, Virginia, on charges of being a spy. He took the oath of allegiance and was sent to Baltimore on January 25, 1865. In the roster for Company C, given in the Virginia Gazette on August 26, 1909, "L. Luckhard" was listed as having been captured in March 1865. Did he return to fight for the Confederacy after he took the oath?

Logan Lukhard returned to James City County and lived here for the rest of his life. He and Mary had two sons, Vernon, born in 1861, and H. Waller, born in 1866. Logan continued his work as a wheelwright. He died on February 23, 1907, and his obituary in the Virginia Gazette stated that the funeral took place at Hill View [sic] cemetery. Logan Lukhard's younger son, H. Waller Lukhard, died in July 1910, and his obituary clearly stated that he was buried at Hill Pleasant. It seems very probable that father and son were buried in the same cemetery.

Sleuthing has yielded two additional Confederate graves in James City County!

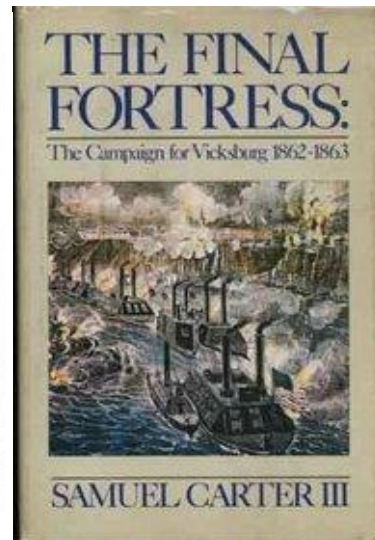

A Virginia Historical Marker provides more information on Dr. Hubbard, Hill Pleasant Farm, and the sacrilegious Yankees during the War Between the States.

OCTOBER BOOK RAFFLE

Vicksburg Court House, the target for a hundred guns.

“The Siege of Vicksburg” Richard Wheeler, 1st. Edition, Hardcover, 1978, New York, 256 pages

This book is mostly told in the 'first person' using diary, letter, journals and various military documents. You feel the sights and sounds as well as the emotions and thoughts of the participants. It is always good to know that rat flesh when properly fried had a flavor "fully equal to that of a squirrel."

“The Final Fortress: The Campaign for Vicksburg 1862-63” Samuel Carter, Hardcover, 1980, New York, 358 pages

"The Final Fortress" is as readable as a novel and a compelling story of men at war. An eloquently woven public and private history of the critical WBTS campaign and siege. A top notch read.

SCV NATIONAL LEADERSHIP WORKSHOP

As we approach the challenging years of the Sesquicentennial, leadership training has become even more important to the defense of our Southern heritage. In an effort to insure that our members better understand the challenges of leadership roles and to aid our leaders in acquiring the knowledge to better perform their duties, the SCV has scheduled an Autumn National Leadership Workshop.

This year's event will be held November 3, 2012 at the Confederate Memorial Chapel at 2900 Grove Ave, Richmond, VA 23255. It will be hosted by the Lee-Jackson Camp 1 and the J.E.B. Stuart Camp 1343.

A tentative schedule for the day is posted below along with registration and lodging information.

Please note that this event will include relevant presentations and individual workshops for more specialized training for Commanders and Adjutants; however, ALL members are invited to attend!
