WORKERS' COMPENSATION APPEALS BOARD
STATE OF CALIFORNIA

STEPHANIE
Applicant, vs.
self-insured, administered by MANAGEMENT,
Defendants.

Case No. (Van Nuys District Office)

OPINION AND DECISION
AFTER RECONSIDERATION

We previously granted reconsideration of both applicant and defendant's petitions for reconsideration in order to further study the factual and legal issues in this case. This is our Decision After Reconsideration.

Applicant and defendant each seek reconsideration of the Opinion and Findings of Fact and Award (F&A) issued on June 10, 2015, by the workers' compensation administrative law judge (WCJ). In the F&A, the WCJ found in pertinent part that applicant sustained injury to her back and left hip and was entitled to an award of 19% permanent disability.

Defendant contends that the finding of 19% permanent disability was not based on substantial evidence because the rating incorrectly applied the American Medical Association Guides to the Evaluation of Permanent Impairment, 5th Edition (2001) (AMA Guides) and because the body part rated (the left knee) was not listed as a body part in the pre-trial conference statement.

Applicant contends that the WCJ improperly rejected a proffered Almaraz-Guzman opinion by the agreed medical evaluator (AME) and incorrectly rated applicant's nerve impairment. (Mitipitas Unified School Dist. v. Workers' Comp. Appeals Bd. (Almaraz-Guzman) (2010) 187 Cal.App.4th 808 [75 Cal.Comp.Cases 837].)

We have received answers from applicant and defendant in response to their respective petitions. We received two Reports and Recommendation on Petitions for Reconsideration (Reports) from the WCJ

1 in response to the respective petitions, recommending we deny reconsideration to both applicant and
2 defendant.

3 We have reviewed the record, the Petitions for Reconsideration, the Answers, and the WCJ's
4 Reports with respect thereto. Based on our review of the record, as our Decision After Reconsideration
5 we will affirm the F&A, except that we will amend the F&A to defer the issues of permanent disability
6 and attorney's fees. (Findings of Fact 2, 5; Award (1), (3).) We will return this matter to the trial level
7 for further proceedings consistent with this opinion and a new decision by the WCJ.

8 FACTS

9 Applicant was employed by defendant as a police officer from June 19, 1999 to June 12, 2012,
10 and suffered a cumulative injury to her low back and left hip through June 15, 2012.

11 Applicant was examined by AME Mark M.D., who authored a total of three reports
12 and was deposed by the parties. Dr. diagnosed applicant with left meralgia paresthetica, left 13 femoral neuralgia, left inguinal region strain, lumbar spine strain, multilevel lumbar spondylosis, and 14 degenerative arthritis of the left hip. In his ratings report, Dr. assigned 2% whole person
15 impairment (WPI) to applicant's low back solely as a pain rating, 2% WPI to applicant's left hip based 16 on loss of range of motion, 1% WPI to left thigh muscle atrophy, and 1% WPI for pain. (Exhibit C, 17 Report of Mark M.D., February 17, 2014, pp. 5-6.)

18 The parties deposed Dr. on September 15, 2014. (Exhibit D, Deposition Transcript of 19 Mark Greenspan, M.D.) Dr. testified that applicant lost 20% of the function of her lumbar
20 spine; thus, he changed his impairment rating of the lumbar spine from 2% to 20%. Dr.
21 explained his reasoning as follows:

22 Well, one, if you look at the actual MRI, she does have degenerative
23 changes. She has bulges rated as mild bulges and some minimal bulges.
24 I'd have to go back and read it, but -- and I think that Dr. Kim, when he 25 saw her, felt that the work restrictions were, you know, were no sitting,
26 prolonged sitting, prolonged standing, lifting 20 and then 25 pounds, respectively. I think that that kind of would be a preclusion -- let me just go to the first report. So I think when we look at her ability to function, I think that 20 percent loss I think is reasonable. So that's why I think the 20 percent for the regional impairment is reasonable.

27 (Id., p. 11, lines 5-17.)

Stephanie

1 Additionally, the AME assigned 4% WPI due to peripheral nerve impairment to the femoral and 2 lateral femoral cutaneous nerves. The AME opined that the 20% rating for applicant's low back was the 3 most accurate rating.

4 The WCI issued ratings instructions on May 14, 2015, which instructed the rater to issue a rating
5 based on the AME's ratings report (Exhibit C) and the AME's addition of a peripheral nerve rating in 6 deposition. (Formal Rating and Instructions, May 27, 2015.) The WCI instructed the rater to ignore the 7 20% WPI rating to applicant's lower back. (Ibid.)

8 The rater issued the formal rating on May 27, 2015. The rater noted a mathematical error in the 9 rating for left thigh atrophy, which the rater corrected to 2% WPI. Additionally, the rater corrected the 10 rating to the peripheral nerves to 2% WPI and issued the following rating:

11 FORMULA:
12 PERIPHERAL NERVES: 17.01.04.00 - 4 - [5]5 - 4901 - 8 - 9 PD (A)
13 2 WP ADD-ON INCLUDED FOR PAIN
14 LHIP: 17.03.04.00 - 2 - [5]3 - 4901 - 5 - 6 PD (A)
15 L KNEE: 17.05.01.00 - 3 - [2]3 - 4901 - 5 - 6 PD (A)
16 (A) 9 C 6 C 6 = 19 FINAL PD
(Ibid.)

17 On June 4, 2015, applicant objected to the rating instructions and rating and reserved her right to 18 cross-examine the rater after seeking reconsideration. On June 10, 2015, the WCI issued the F&A,
19 which awarded applicant 19% permanent disability relying on the above rating.

20 DISCUSSION

21 The Appeals Board has the discretionary authority to develop the record when the record does not
22 contain substantial evidence, or when it is appropriate to provide due process or fully adjudicate the 23 issues. (Lab. Code, §§ 5701, 5906; Tyler v. Workers' Comp. Appeals Bd. (1997) 56 Cal.App.4th 389, 394
24 [62 Cal.Comp.Cases 924] [“The principle of allowing full development of the evidentiary record to 25 enable a complete adjudication of the issues is consistent with due process in connection with workers’
26 compensation claims. (Citations.)”]; see McClune v. Workers' Comp. Appeals Bd. (1998) 62 Cal.App.4th
27 1117 [63 Cal.Comp.Cases 261].)

Stephanie

1 To constitute substantial evidence "... a medical opinion must be framed in terms of reasonable
2 medical probability, it must not be speculative, it must be based on pertinent facts and on an adequate
3 examination and history, and it must set forth reasoning in support of its conclusions." (Escobedo v.
4 Marshalls (2005) 70 Cal.Comp.Cases 604, 621 (Appeals Board en banc).)

5 The overarching goal of rating permanent impairment is to achieve accuracy. (Milpitas Unified
6 School Dist. v. Workers' Comp. Appeals Bd. (Almaraz-Guzman) (2010) 187 Cal.App.4th 808, 822 [75
7 Cal.Comp.Cases 837].) To properly rate using Almaraz-Guzman the doctor is expected to (1) provide a
8 strict rating per the American Medical Association Guides to the Evaluation of Permanent Impairment,
9 5th Edition (2001) (AMA Guides), (2) explain why the strict rating does not accurately reflect the 10 applicant's disability, (3) provide an alternative rating using the four corners of the AMA Guides, and 11 (4) explain why that alternative rating most accurately reflects applicant's level of disability. (Id., 12 p. 828-829.)

13 The parties presumably choose an AME because of the AME's expertise and neutrality. (Power
14 v. Workers' Comp. Appeals Bd. (1986) 179 Cal.App.3d 775, 782 [51 Cal.Comp.Cases 114].) We will
15 follow the opinions of the AME unless good cause exists to find his opinion unpersuasive. (Ibid.)

16 I.

17 As detailed below, both the AME's strict AMA Guides rating and his Almaraz-Guzman rating are 18 defective and do not constitute substantial medical evidence. Without substantial evidence supporting 19 applicant's permanent disability rating, we must rescind the findings as to the permanent disability level
20 and return the matter for further development of the record.

21 Defendant argues that the permanent disability rating should not include a rating to applicant's
22 left knee and that the rater improperly combined ratings for applicant's loss of range of motion to the hip
23 with muscle atrophy. The rating string provided by the rater notes a rating to applicant's left knee;
24 however, it is clear from examining the record that this was actually the rating for atrophy to applicant's 25 left thigh with the 1% pain add-on.

26 The AMA Guides specifically state: "Atrophy ratings should not be combined with any of the 27 other three possible ratings of diminished muscle function (gait derangement, muscle weakness, and

MOTEN, Stephanie

1 peripheral nerve injury)." (AMA Guides, p. 530.) Thus, it was error to combine applicant's muscle
2 atrophy and peripheral nerve injury into the same rating under a strict AMA Guides approach.

3 Furthermore, the AME never completed a proper analysis of applicant's peripheral nerve injury.
4 Per chapter 17.21, page 550 of the AMA Guides, the evaluator must first assign a classification of the 5 severity of the motor deficit using Table 16-11. Then, the evaluator must assign a percentage of sensory
6 deficit using Table 16-10. Then, the evaluator must multiply the percent of motor deficit and sensory
7 deficit against the maximum value for the nerve deficit and combine the results. Here, the AME never
8 assigned a percentage of severity of either the sensory or motor deficit for applicant's peripheral nerve
9 injury. The AME never multiplied the sensory or motor deficit percentages against the maximum value
10 for the nerve. The AME did not combine the results of this calculation. The AME's opinion on 11 peripheral nerve impairment is not substantial medical evidence. Without a substantial opinion assigning 12 applicant's disability using a strict AMA Guides analysis, we cannot affirm the WCJ's assignment of 13 19% permanent disability.

14 II.

15 For the reasons stated in the WCJ's Report and Recommendation dated June 26, 2105, which we 16 adopt and incorporate, we also find that the AME's opinion regarding an Almaraz-Guzman analysis is 17 not substantial evidence. The AME did not properly analogize applicant's lifting restriction to the loss
18 of use of her entire lumbar spine. For this reason, we cannot assign a permanent disability rating based 19 on the AME's proffered Almaraz-Guzman rating.

20 Accordingly, we will affirm the Findings of Fact and Award issued on June 10, 2015, by the 21 WCJ, except that we will amend the F&A to defer the issues of permanent disability and attorney's fees
22 to the trial level for further proceedings consistent with this opinion and a decision by the WCJ.

23 For the foregoing reasons,

24 IT IS ORDERED as the Decision After Reconsideration of the Workers' Compensation Appeals
25 Board that the Findings of Fact and Award issued on June 10, 2015, by the WCJ is AFFIRMED except 26 that Findings of Fact numbers 2 and 5 and Award (1) and (3) are AMENDED as follows:

FINDINGS OF FACT

- 2. The issue of permanent disability is deferred.
- 5. The issue of attorney's fees is deferred

AWARD

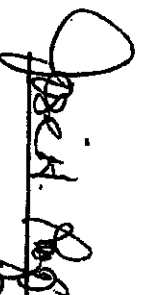

- (1) The issue of permanent disability is deferred;
- (3) The issue of attorney's fees is deferred.
