

Stop & Smell the Tulips

March was a busy month at Parkside Playschool, but we couldn't go without a newsletter, so better late than not at all!

When life gets busy it is important that we remember to equal ourselves out by remembering to relax, take a deep breath and reserve time for ourselves. One of the ways we do that at Parkside Playschool is to provide our teachers time off for Spring Break. It is a much deserved break for teachers who spend so much time pouring love and time into your kiddos, to give them a time to focus on family and themselves.

We heard about so many exciting stories that happened over Spring Break and we know the kiddos, their families and the teachers will remember those memories from years to come!

Sometimes we all just need a reminder to stop and smell the tulips!
