Jennifer's Blog

April Shower bring May flowers. We should have a very beautiful May! Hope you all are drying out by the time this newsletter comes out! It does make for good quilting/sewing days. Not so much for walking outside. My treadmill has been getting a workout, but I am ready to go out and walk and talk to neighbors. I know it wasn't a bad winter but it seemed long. I am not even going to talk about the temperature.

We still spots left for the second session of 201. It will be starting on Saturday, June 1st. We don't have anyone signed up yet so get signed up! Hopefully you have been seeing the project pictures on Facebook and Instagram! Are you ready to learn how to design your own quilt?

Our next session of 101, which will be starting on July 20th! We have one already for our July session. If you know someone interested have them come in and get on the list! We can do up to 3 or 4 if we re-arrange. As you know we try to keep our 101 and 201 small so YOU get the attention you need!

Don't forget our on going charity dress program! The first set of dresses have been picked up to be taken to Ohio! We appreciate everyone who has been participating and we hope that you will continue!

Quilting 201— Have you ever stopped doing a pattern because it wasn't real good? Have you ever wished you could design your own quilt, wall hanging or such? Well, this class is going to be for you. It's going to take the basic skills you learned in Quilting 101 and we are going to teach you some basics that you can make endless quilts. Whether it's taking a concept you know, reproducing a quilt that you have seen and making it your own, or taking a block and doing what you want with it. There is a pre-requisite with this class. You will have to have taken Quilting 101 or have about 5 quilts/projects under your belt as a quilter! Don't let this scare those of you who have just taken 101. You have the skills to do this class! As an added bonus you will get to do multiple projects out of the course. You also get to draw! I mean this class is going to be fun. There will be a ton of homework but I think you can do it! Class will be limited to 3 people at a time. Interested? Stop in and sign up! Get on the waiting list! This is a picture of the first of two projects that you will make without a pattern! When: Second session is Saturday, June 1 @9am! It is a six week class! Cost: $65. Teacher: Jenn Shushnar.
