CLUE #1

50,000 years ago in the ancient Orient, my people created the cuisine that will never relent. We cook stock in a wok and stir up oodles of noodles and just like a clock, when your meal is done we seek your approval; our wanton fortunes we hope you still want from _____.

CLUE #2

I'm known throughout the land as the maker of Italian frozen treats but very few know, I am a main conversation piece for anyone seeking dairy-free, gluten-free and health-friendly sweets.

CLUE #3

In my kitchen I steam it, I roast it, I stir-fry to perfection, and most of my customers have developed an Asian cuisine obsession. Hint: The first part of my name is the same as the ancient ruling dynasty of China.

CLUE #4

I'm called _____'s and my cuisine manifesto is to my country of focaccia, lasagna, calzone, carbonara and the pizza pies that are not sweet but are covered with sauces and cheeses and meats.

CLUE #5

My recipes are a combination of Spanish, African and Arab influences and no one ever says "Nada" to my empanadas. In the language of my South American country, my name means "the good taste."

CLUE #6

From a far away island in the Pacific Ocean, my special cuisine was set in motion. Wrapped up in white grains, my most famous DISH contains the flesh of recently swimming fish.

CLUE #7

Everyone knows "The Early Bird gets the worm" but here, the early birds get treated like royalty! The breakfast & lunch and dinners have never been finer at _____.

CLUE #8

Did you know....I serve spaghetti, calamari, manicotti, fettuccine, macaroni, cannelloni but my name rhymes with the entrance of this sentence?...and that's no baloney!

CLUE #9

I sizzle, I drizzle with a side of french fries. But it's my amazing fried onion rings that leave you surprised. You say "WHUT!???" That's right, cause I'm the one, the only Tamarac _____!

CLUE #10

If I were a sailor, with an appetite as big as a submarine, I would place my order for a hoagie with some MORE mustard, provolone and pepperoni.

CLUE #11

Where I am you might recall, was an Asian food place open for all...but now that I'm here, they come for my biscuits and gravy, bacon and eggs and I can assure I won't disappear. I'm open daily for breakfast and lunch, I think you're gonna love us, but that's just a hunch.
