Hoarding Support with a Difference

With our background rooted in psychology, alongside training and experience working with vulnerable individuals and groups, I understand how hard it can be to live with hoarding behaviours. Whether it be a relative or friend who is struggling, a tenant of yours, or even yourself, we know how overwhelming and difficult it can be for everyone involved.

We choose to specialise in ongoing hoarding support, for as long as is needed, whilst building a rapport with the client - no judgement, at a comfortable pace, whilst focusing on fire and safety risks, ensuring their engagement and security, before moving on at each stage.

We are fully trained in all aspects. Give us a call.
