

Environmental and Social Justice Asian Authors:

1. Vandana Shiva - Indian environmental activist and author of "Staying Alive: Women, Ecology, and Development" and "Soil Not Oil: Environmental Justice in an Age of Climate Crisis," advocating for sustainable agriculture and environmental justice.
2. Dr. Doris S. B. Ho - Environmental justice scholar and author of "Empire of Care: Nursing and Migration in Filipino American History," exploring the intersections of migration, labor, and the environment.
3. Dr. Gary Y. Okihiro - Historian and author of "Cane Fires: The Anti-Japanese Movement in Hawaii, 1865-1945," examining the history of Japanese laborers and their struggle for justice and equality in Hawaii.
4. Grace Lee Boggs - Chinese American philosopher and author of "The Next American Revolution: Sustainable Activism for the Twenty-First Century," advocating for social justice and sustainable communities.

 These authors provide valuable perspectives on environmental and social justice issues from Asian communities, highlighting the intersections of race, culture, and the environment in their work.*