The Sarfan Early Childhood Center thrives on the connections we make with our families. Connections made through morning coffee talks in the preschool, Walk-in Wednesdays for our families, and our biggest on-campus preschool event, Grandparents Day. For quite some time we were unable to share these face-to-face connections with our community due social distancing and caution. However, I am happy to say that those times are over!

The Sarfan Center recently welcomed 200 grandparents and grand-friends to celebrate their impact on our lives with a special presentation by our early childhood teachers and students. For months, our classrooms prepped, practiced and made beautifully crafted personalized notecards for this special occasion. Our wonderful parent committee was right by our side, making sure every component of the Grandparents Day “comeback” went smoothly. After Grandparents’ Day wrapped up, our Sarfan Center staff didn’t waste any time continuing with programs. We brought in our preschool parents to share our space and create something beautiful with their children with our Daddy & Me and Mommy & Me events.

SPORT: Basketball

What are you most looking forward to at the JCC Maccabi Games?

I am looking forward to meeting new people and new experiences.

Space Jam! It has basketball and Looney Tunes, Michael Jordan, and golf. I would recommend it to anyone who likes basketball.

What's your favorite dessert?

A cookie cake, with frosting and ice cream.

Do you have any secret hobbies?

I play tennis, pickleball, and I got a 197 in bowling once.

What goal do you hope to achieve this year?

I hope to get all As this whole year.

Good luck, Eli!

JCC Maccabi Moment

NAME: Seth Green

AGE: 14

SCHOOL: Poquoson Middle School

SYNAGOGUE: Rodef Sholom Temple

SPORT: Basketball

What are you most looking forward to at the JCC Maccabi Games?

Going to Florida, since I have never been there before.

If you could interview any historical figure, who would it be and why?

Honestly, probably my grandpa, Lester. He fought in the Army and worked for the stock exchange, and he has lots of stories to tell.

In your opinion, who is the better athlete: Giannis Antetokounmpo (Milwaukee Bucks basketball) or Mike Trout (Los Angeles Angels baseball)?

I think Giannis Antetokounmpo because he is big and strong and can jump high... but it's close!

How would you describe yourself in 3 words?

Outgoing, smart, friendly

Good luck, Seth!

ing soccer with different people.

If you could have any pet, what animal would you choose?

A cat who isn't shy because I wouldn't want it to be mean and bite or hide all day.

What's your favorite vegetable?

Carrots. I like them cooked and soft.

What was the best book you read this year?

"Among the Hidden" by Margaret Peterson Haddix. It was about a third child in a place where having more than two children was illegal.

Cake or Pie? Why?

Cake! I don't like pie. I like red velvet cake.

REMEMBER AND HONOR

Executive Director's Message - Eric Maurer

The headline “The Fundamentals of the Baseball ‘Game’ Described for Non-Sports Fans” was featured on the front page of a 1909 edition of The Forward, a Yiddish-language daily newspaper for New York’s newly arrived Jewish immigrants.

This image highlights how generations of Jewish immigrants sought acceptance through baseball: understanding it, playing it, cheering it. Nothing blends the American Jewish experience quite like the love affair Jews have had with the sport of baseball. In the words of Solomon Schechter, the first President of the Jewish Theological Seminary – “In order to be a success in the American rabbinate, you must be able to talk baseball.”

May is American Jewish Heritage Month. It is a moment to relish in the grand American Jewish experience. This month commemorates the contributions American Jews have made to the fabric of American culture, society and history – and mark the gratefulness of American Jews to America.

This month, organizations around the country will join together to help Americans of all backgrounds discover, explore, and celebrate the vibrant and varied American Jewish experience from the dawn of our nation to the present day.

In Virginia, we are particularly energized this year because our state legislative session saw the formal adoption of May as American Jewish Heritage Month. In recognition of the active role the Jewish community has played on the Peninsula for more than 125 year history, Mayor Phillip Jones of Newport News published a proclamation, which can be read in full online on our website.

The proclamation highlights how Jewish immigrants “played a central role in the creation, growth, freedom, prosperity, and strength of the United States” and how the “enduring values of the Jewish faith were vital sources of inspiration for the founding of the United States, the Civil Rights movement, America’s global leadership in the cause of freedom, Americans’ commitment to social justice, and many of our country’s most central tenets.”

In the spirit of this month and the great American pastime of baseball, we are thrilled to welcome to the UJC, Assaf Lowengart, an Israeli baseball player on the William & Mary Baseball team, on May 18th for a conversation and screening of the film, Israel Swings for Gold.

More information about the film can be found on page 18 of the newsletter.

 Rabbi Gershon Litt, 757-559-1836

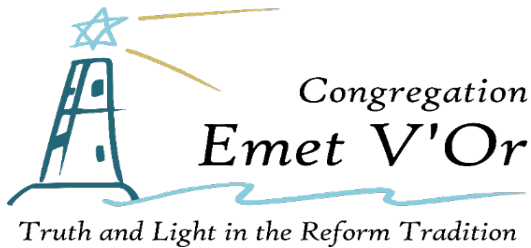

We read the Book of Ruth on Shavuot. On the day that we celebrate the giving of the Torah, the Book of Ruth reminds us that small acts of kindness, such as Ruth staying with Naomi, and Boaz providing food for them, were important acts, which endeared them to Hashem and led to David and eventually the Messiah.

We can become the heroes of tomorrow through our small acts of kindness. One never knows which small deeds can have massive implications.

*Israel Swings for Gold is the sequel to the 2017 underdog sports saga, Heading Home: The Tale of Team Israel.

The documentary tells the story of the 2020 Israeli Olympic team composed of Jewish baseball players from around the world. Once arriving in Tokyo, the athletes faced unexpected bigotry from opponents, spectators, and fans. With no media allowed in the Olympic Village due to COVID restrictions, the competing athletes were given cameras to record their experiences.

Israel Swings for Gold will inspire viewers as Team Israel bands together to overcome religious prejudice.

Camp Chaverim

Director of Summer Camp, Naioki Wood

Camp Chaverim hosts several special camp engagement events for campers, new and returning, year-round. These events are designed to get campers and their families excited for the upcoming summer of fun, as well as providing them with the opportunity to ask questions, receive additional camp information and to get to know one another.

So far our off-season events had campers walking in a Hollywood pajama fashion show, voting for our next camp T-shirt color, going on a scavenger hunt, having a pizza party and most recently, taking over the UJCVP parking lot with their bikes, skateboards, and scooters! Next on our agenda: celebrating National Physical Fitness and Sports Month with daily challenges throughout the month of May, which includes the upcoming 37th Annual Sarfan Center 5K/1 Mile Fun Run on May 21st at the Mariners' Museum.

Camp Enrollment Update: DRUMROLL PLEASE...

We are at our highest enrollment for the month of May, with 97 campers so far leading the way to an amazing 2023 camp season!
