'WE'RE READY': MAURY ALLIANCE LAUNCHES COUNTY-WIDE TALENT ATTRACTION CAMPAIGN

Commissioned in response to the needs of both new and existing employers in Maury County, a new talent attraction campaign tells how and why Maury County is positioned to welcome, hire and support new residents.

The campaign, created by the Maury County Chamber of Commerce & Economic Alliance, also focuses on how the area is sparking innovation, growing small businesses, and offering unique cultural, recreational, and educational opportunities.

"Maury County is the ideal place to move, find a successful career, and have a great quality of life," said Maury Alliance President Wil Evans. "We're eager to promote Maury County—the job opportunities that are here, the ability to grow, the high quality of life—to people who may be looking to move."

As one of the state's fastest-growing counties, Maury County has already seen an influx of new people along with billions of dollars in economic investment. The campaign's theme, "We're Ready," showcases this momentum and how the county has prepared for growth.

"We're Ready' is the ideal way to describe Maury County and the momentum that's been building here," Evans said. "We're truly ready as a community to grow and welcome new residents from all over the world."

The campaign is aimed at new talent but built around people who have made Maury County what it is—ranging from educators and artists to entrepreneurs and industry leaders.

The campaign will feature storytelling about Maury County and its people on a variety of platforms as well as targeted advertising, outreach efforts, and a dedicated campaign website: mauryisready.com.

ON THE ROAD WITH KENNY LOGGINS

LOCAL GUITARIST SHARES CAREER HIGHLIGHTS

PAM WINDSOR

It's a busy time for Scott Bernard as he heads out on tour with Kenny Loggins. He's played guitar with the music legend for the past 15 years, and at 75, Loggins says his "This Is It Tour" will be his last. Bernard has been helping with the setlist.

"The problem is Kenny has so many hits, and we only have an hour and a half to play," he explains. "You have to play 'Danger Zone' and 'Footloose,' you have to play 'Danny's Song,' and 'House at Pooh Corner' and everything in between. So, we've been trying to pare it down and still represent every facet of his career."

Bernard is especially excited the tour will feature a show close to home.

"We're going to be playing FirstBank Amphitheater in Franklin in May. So, we'll finally get a Nashville gig. It's been a few years since I played in Nashville with Kenny."

As he prepares to join Loggins and the rest of the crew for the final tour, Bernard says it's been an incredible ride.

"Playing those hits every night is pretty amazing. And to have been with Kenny for 15 years, it's been a good run in the music industry."

Bernard never dreamed he'd end up in Loggins band when he and his wife, Stephanie, moved to Nashville from New Iberia, Louisiana, 24 years ago. Growing up in a musical family, he was just 9 years old when he learned to play guitar so he could join one of his older brother's bands. He recalls his early musical influences.

“It was all Beatles, all 70s pop radio when I was a kid,” he recalls. “And my brothers got me into the whole A&R rock of the 70s with Kansas, Boston, ELO, and Foreigner. But in 1985, I made a decision to follow Christ and started playing Christian music. And I thought that would be my thing when I moved here.”

Bernard began playing Christian music but was also asked to perform with country artists. Early on, he played shows with singer/songwriter Paul Overstreet, and later spent several years working with Christian artist Nicole C. Mullins. He continued working in both genres, meeting more people, which led to an invitation to fill in for Loggins’ regular guitar player. He ended up getting a permanent gig.

When he’s not touring, Bernard does session work, he’s a singer/songwriter with some of his solo work available on streaming platforms, and he and a group of fellow musicians are part of a Toto tribute band called Child’s Anthem. They made a series of music videos that are popular in Europe.

“It’s a great group of guys, and we try to nail the stuff as true as we can. We have European fans that have asked us to come and play in Europe. But because we’re session players, it’s hard to get us all together for a gig, but we try.”

This summer, Child’s Anthem, will play a single show as the opening act during Night Ranger’s current tour.

Bernard does a lot of recording work from his home studio, which allows him to work his schedule around his family. He and his wife, who moved to Spring Hill in 2003, have two children, a 17-year-old daughter, Gabriella, and a son, Jude.

“When we first moved here, there was very little here,” he says. “And we’ve grown as Spring Hill as grown. It’s a great place, and this is where I want to raise my family, for sure.”

He says he’s grateful for an amazing family and the many incredible opportunities life has given him.

“I’m 100 percent sure it’s all been God’s plan. I’m thankful for the path and know I could never have don’t this all on my own. I am truly blessed.”

And as the Kenny Loggins chapter comes to an end, he’ll be ready to see what comes next.

HOMEGROWN PLANTS, TREES, AND SHRUBS

BY JASON ZASKY

Riverbend Nurseries was founded in 1990 on 80 acres of land. Today, Riverbend utilizes 500 acres of family-owned and -operated land to grow 1,500 different types of trees, shrubs, annuals, and perennials, not to mention houseplants, organic vegetables, and herbs.

“We grow 90 percent of what we sell here,” begins retail manager Lynn Vaughn Smith, who has been with Riverbend Nurseries for eight years. “Our products aren’t shipped from across the country and have never been in a tractor-trailer. They are taken across a field or from one side of the road to the other,” she explains.

That helps Riverbend Nurseries keep prices down, especially compared to area competitors.

“Because we grow here, that makes our products a bit less expensive,” adds Smith, before noting that there is no sales tax on Riverbend’s plants, as the nursery qualifies for an agricultural sales tax exemption. “That is something we can extend to customers. So, if the price tag on a tree says ‘$200,’ it’s $200. There are no hidden fees. The price tag you see on the plants is what it is,” she says.

Smith believes that her team’s customer service also helps differentiate Riverbend from other nurseries.

“We pride ourselves on making our customers feel at home, and also trying to answer their questions and educate them the best we can,” she says.

To that end, Riverbend Nurseries offers educational classes on an ongoing basis, like one recent session that focused on helping attendees pair the right plant and the right container, as well as picking the right plants for your yard.

“You always want to pay attention to how much sunlight you get in your yard. If you have six hours or more, that would be considered full sun. If you have six hours or less, that would be considered shade. Also, you want to know how tall and how wide a particular plant is going to get,” elaborates Smith. “For example, if you have a window and it’s four feet off the ground, we’ll try to guide you to something that is only going to be three to four feet tall, as opposed to six or seven feet tall where you are going to have to continually cut it. We want to guide you in a direction where it’s less work for you and better health for the plant and makes for a more enjoyable experience all the way around.”

With that in mind, Smith says a good portion of Riverbend’s customers is brand-new homeowners.

“A brand-new home that has no landscaping—or you don’t like the landscaping the builder put in? We can guide you in the right plants for that,” she says. “Or if you’re looking to spruce something up and add, we are able to do that. If you’re looking to plant a garden, we have organic garden soil that we grow here, as well as all the mulches and pine straw you need to spruce up your beds.”

Another big part of Riverbend’s customer base is people who have just bought a house, and the landscaping is overgrown or hasn’t been taken care of, and they want to re-plant.

“We also have customers who live in condos and want to do container gardening. We even have people who live in apartments who just want houseplants,” says Smith.

Finally, Riverbend sees quite a few customers who have moved to Nashville from elsewhere and are struggling with the clay loam soil.

“We try to guide them in terms of how to plant in the clay,” offers Smith, before reminding readers that almost everything Riverbend sells is grown on-site, so it’s going to grow elsewhere in Middle Tennessee, where Smith has lived and worked her whole life.

“I think it’s a great place to live,” she says, speaking about Williamson County.

And she can hardly imagine working anywhere else.

“When you are working someplace for eight years or longer, you are working for ownership that treats you well. We’re like a family here,” she concludes. “We have employees who have been here 20 or 25 years. When you have people working for you that long, you’re doing something right.”

DEBERRY INSURANCE TO HOST 7TH ANNUAL FREE SHRED DAY

DeBerry Insurance Agency is set to host their 7th Annual FREE Shred Day for the community on Saturday, April 15, 2023. The event will take place from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the agency on Main Street in Spring Hill, TN.

FREE Shred Day has become a signature event for the agency since their first shred event in 2016. The agency has continued to provide the event as a service to the community every year (except for 2020), collecting more than 18 tons of paper for recycling.

"Each year, we look forward to hosting this event," said Chris DeBerry, Owner and Principal Licensed Agent. "It has become an important tradition for us and we truly enjoy the opportunity to connect with our customers, friends, and members of the community. Making those connections is why we opened our agency in the very beginning in 2003."

DeBerry Insurance Agency will celebrate 20 years in business this July. Their give-back efforts all along the way have become an integral part of their reputation for service. From founding the Spring Hill Country Ham Festival (now the Whole Hog Festival benefitting The Well Outreach), to serving in leadership for the Rotary Club of Spring Hill and Thompson's Station and the Spring Hill Chamber of Commerce, the DeBerrys are known for giving back.

"We are local business owners who are committed to serving our customers and the community," said Eric DeBerry, Owner and Principal Licensed Agent. "That sense of connection has become more important than ever. We want people to know that they can pick up the phone, or walk through our door and we will personally work with them to get them the coverage that they need."

The FREE Shred Day event is an expansion of the community life that is experienced every day at DeBerry Insurance Agency. The office is a hub of the community where people stop by to catch up or just say "hello" throughout the day.

"We are thankful to everyone who comes to our event and makes it a great day," said Eric DeBerry, owner of DeBerry Insurance Agency. "We look forward to seeing everyone!"

*DeBerry Insurance Agency is your Hometown Independent Insurance Agency, locally owned and operated since 2003. The agency provides comprehensive insurance packages for individuals and businesses.
