

Finch's Gold Possumhaw Holly

Ilex decidua 'Finch's Gold'

A multi-trunked native, small ornamental tree that is covered in sunny, yellow berries all fall, winter and early spring. Cedar waxwings, mockingbirds, robins and blue jays, among others, will devour the ripe berries. Tough, drought tolerant and can take periodic wet conditions. Grows about 18' tall. Sun or part shade. A must for winter color!
