

Novak's Passion Fruit Vine

Passiflora edulis

This large vine makes delicious, edible passion fruit. The fruit are green then turn purple when they ripen. The pulp inside is yellowish-orange, sweet, aromatic and delicious. The exotic looking flowers are white with a purple tinged center. In mild winters it will be root hardy. Produces fruit the same year it's planted, so it is worth replanting each year if it is lost to a freeze. Sun to part sun. Large, gorgeous foliage. Provide a big support for the vine to grow and twine on to.
