Part II: Client(s) Rights

You have the right to ask questions about any procedures used during therapy; if you wish, I will explain my approach and methods to you.

You have the right to decide not to receive therapeutic assistance from me; if you wish, I will provide you with the names of other qualified professionals whose services you might prefer.

You have the right to end therapy at any time without any moral, legal, or financial obligations other than those already accrued. I ask you to please contact me by phone or in person before you make such a decision without prior discussion.

You have the right to expect that I will maintain professional and ethical boundaries by not entering in to other personal, financial, or professional relationships with you, all of which would greatly compromise our work together.

Client's Initial's_______

One of the most important rights involves confidentiality: within the limits of the law, information revealed by you during therapy will be kept strictly confidential and will not be revealed to any other person or agency without your written permission. As your therapist, I am legally prohibited from revealing to another person that you are in therapy with me, nor can I reveal what you have said to me in any way that identifies you without your written permission. However, in the following instances, your right to confidentiality must be set aside as required by law or my professional standards.

Limits of Confidentiality:

1) Instances of actual or suspected physical or sexual abuse, emotional cruelty, or neglect of a child or an elder or dependent adult must be reported to the appropriate protective services.

2) If I have a reason to believe that a client poses an unavoidable and imminent danger of violence to another person, I may warn the intended victim and notify the proper authorities.

3) If you, as a client, reveal a serious intent to harm yourself, I am ethically bound to do what I can to help maintain your safety, which may involve notifying others who may be of assistance.

4) If a judge orders my testimony or, in the context of a legal proceeding, you raise your own psychological state as an issue, I may be required to release your confidential information to the court.

In all the above cases, it is incumbent upon me to release only that information necessary to appropriately carry out my responsibilities. Your confidentiality remains an ethical priority.

Client's Initial's_______

Legal action:

Please know that being a witness is not in my area of interest or expertise. If you are seeking therapy for court or court-related purposes, I will provide you with alternative referral sources. Should you, your attorney, your spouse, or ex-spouse's attorney, subpoena me or your client file as a factual case witness, or involve me in court-related proceedings, you agree to pay $360 for every hour of my time involved, including case preparation, travel, witness time, and any wait time related to court-related process. You further agree to pay a retainer fee of $3,000 at the time a subpoena is served, to be applied toward these charges. If a subpoena is issued for me, it will be turned over to my attorney, and you will be billed for any attorney fees I incur on your behalf. A bill will be rendered to you for immediate payment when a subpoena is issued. If you have a suspicion that your case will be going to court, or you will need a therapist testimony, please let me know before a therapeutic relationship is established, and appropriate referral sources will be provided to you. Please note: 24-hour advanced notice is required if a cancellation occurs related to a court process, including dismissal of case. If a 24-hour notification is not made, a fee of $2,880 will be billed. (8 hours @ $360/hr.)

Client's Initial's_______

Dual Relationships: I will avoid a therapeutic relationship with a friend, education or business associate and will avoid the development of a personal, education or business relationship with a therapy client. I do not accept friend or contact requests from current or former clients on any social sites. Adding you as a friend could compromise confidentiality and privacy. If I see you in public, I will protect your confidentiality by greeting you only if you greet me first.

Client's Initial's_______

Part III: The Therapeutic Process

Benefits and Risks of Therapy: Psychotherapy is a process in which you and I discuss a variety of issues, events, and experiences for the purpose of creating positive change so you can experience your life more fully. Participating in therapy may result in several benefits to you, including, but not limited to, reduced stress and anxiety, a decrease in negative thoughts and self-sabotaging behaviors, improved interpersonal relationships, increased comfort in social, work, and family settings, increased capacity for intimacy, and increased self-confidence. There is no guarantee that therapy will yield any or all the benefits listed above.

Participating in therapy may also involve some discomfort, including remembering and discussing unpleasant events, feelings, and experiences. This process may evoke strong feelings of sadness, anger, fear, etc. The issues presented by you may result in unintended outcomes, including changes in personal relationships. During the therapeutic process, many clients find that they feel worse before they feel better. This is generally a normal course of events. Personal growth and change may be easy and swift at times but may also be slow and frustrating. The outcome of your treatment largely depends on your willingness to engage in the therapeutic process. Please address any concerns you have regarding your progress in therapy with me.

Client's Initial's_______

Emergencies: Medical and/or psychiatric emergencies should be directed to 911 if life or safety is threatened. If you need emergency help at a time when I am not available, please call 911, go to the nearest ER, or seek some other emergency service (such as 472-HELP, a 24-hour helpline).

Client's Initial's_______

E-Mail, Cell Phones, Computers and Faxes:
It is important to be aware that computers, E-mail, and cell phone communication can be easily accessed by unauthorized people and, hence, can compromise the privacy and confidentiality of such communication. E-mails in general are vulnerable to such unauthorized access. Please do not use e-mail for sensitive information or emergencies.

Records and Administrative Services:
I may take notes during session and will also produce other notes and records regarding treatment. These notes constitute my clinical and business records, which by law, I am required to maintain. Should you request a copy of my records, such a request must be made in writing. I reserve the right under Texas law, to provide you with a treatment summary in lieu of actual records. I also reserve the right to refuse to produce a copy of the record under certain circumstances, but may, as requested, provide a copy of the record to another treating health care provider.

Video or Audio:
You acknowledge and agree that neither you or I will record any part of your sessions unless you and I mutually agree in writing that the session may be recorded. You further acknowledge that I object to your recording any portion of your sessions without my written consent.

Client's Initial's_______

Payment is expected at the beginning of each session unless I have obtained permission to bill a clergy member on your behalf. Balances more than 120 days overdue may be subject to collection using a collection agency. However, I will first attempt to make other arrangements with you as needed.
