YOU HAVE THE RIGHT TO MAKE DECISIONS ABOUT YOUR MEDICAL TREATMENT

A federal law requires us to give you information that explains your rights to make health care decisions and how you can plan what should be done when you can't speak for yourself.

Your doctor must tell you about your medical condition and about what different treatments are available to you. . Many treatments have "side effects". Often, more than one treatment might help you. Your doctor can tell you which treatments are available to you, but can't choose for you. That choice depends on what is important to you.

If you can't make treatment decisions, your doctor will ask your closest relative or friend to help decide what is best for you. Sometimes everyone doesn't agree about what to do. That's why it's helpful if you say, in advance, what you want to happen if you cannot speak for yourself. There are several kinds of "advance directives" that you can use to say what you want and who you want to speak for you.

One kind of advance directive under California law lets you name someone to make healthcare decisions when you can't. This form is called a DURABLE POWER OF ATTORNEY FOR HEALTHCARE. You can choose an adult relative or friend you trust as your "agent" to speak for you when you're too sick to make your own decisions.

You can write down in the DURABLE POWER OF ATTORNEY FOR HEALTHCARE when you would or wouldn't want medical treatment. Talk to your doctor about what you want and give your doctor a copy of the form. Sometimes treatment decisions are hard to make and it truly helps your family and your doctors if they know what you want. THE DURABLE POWER OF ATTORNEY FOR HEALTHCARE also gives them legal protection when they follow your wishes.

If you don't want to have anyone make decisions for you, you can use another kind of advance directive to write down your wishes about treatment. This is often called a LIVING WILL because it takes effect while you are still alive but have become unable to speak for yourself. The California Natural Death Act lets you sign a living will called a DECLARATION. Anyone 18 years or older of sound mind can sign one.

When you sign a DECLARATION it tells your doctors that you don't want any treatment that would prolong your dying. All life-sustaining treatment would be stopped if you were terminally ill and your death was expected soon, or if you were permanently unconscious. You would still receive treatment to keep you comfortable, however.

The doctors must follow your wishes about limiting treatment or turn your care over to another doctor who will. Your doctors are also legally protected when they follow your wishes.

You can sign a DECLARATION, using any of the available LIVING WILL forms, a DURABLE POWER OF ATTORNEY FOR HEALTHCARE form, or you can just write down your wishes on a piece of paper. Your doctors and family can use what you write in deciding about your treatment. But living Wills that don't meet the requirements of the Natural Death Act don't give as much legal protection for your doctors if a disagreement arises about following your wishes. You can change or revoke any of these documents at any time as long as you communicate your wishes. Be sure to let your doctors, family, friends and any agent you may have appointed know if you decide to change or revoke your advance directive.

You do not have to fill out any of these forms if you don't want to. You can just talk with your doctors and ask them to write down what you've said in your medical chart. And you can talk with your family, but people will be clearer about your treatment wishes, and your wishes are more likely to be followed if you write them down.

If you don't have someone you want to name to make decisions when you can't, you can sign a NATURAL DEATH ACT DECLARATION. This DECLARATION says that you do not want life prolonging treatment if you are terminally ill or permanently unconscious.

We have provided you with this information concerning advance directives so that you can fully participate in planning your future health care decisions. We believe it is never too early to think about decisions that may be very important in the future, and to discuss these topics with your family, friends, and other interested people.

It is up to you to inform your primary care physician of whether or not you have completed an advance directive and provide a copy of it to them. Also, remember to bring a copy of your advance directive when you check into a hospital or other health facility so that it can be kept with your medical records.

To obtain an advance directive form, attend a workshop, or receive free assistance in completing an advance directive, you may call California Health Decisions at: 714 347-7921

A. HOW THIS MEDICAL PRACTICE MAY USE OR DISCLOSE YOUR HEALTH INFORMATION
This medical practice collects health information about you and stores it in a chart and on a computer. This is your medical record. For example, we may share your medical information with other physicians or other health care providers who will provide services which we do not provide. Or we may share this information with a pharmacist who needs it to dispense a prescription to you, or a laboratory that performs a test. We may also disclose medical information to members of your family or others who can help you when you are sick or injured.
2. Payment. We use and disclose medical information about you to obtain payment for the services we provide. For example, we give your health plan the information it requires before it will pay us. We may also disclose information to other health care providers to assist them in obtaining payment for services they have provided to you.
3. Health Care Operations. We may use and disclose medical information about you to operate this medical practice. For example, we may use and disclose this information to review and improve the quality of care we provide, or the competence and qualifications of our professional staff. Or we may use and disclose this information to get your health plan to authorize services or services and audits, including fraud and abuse detection and compliance programs and business planning and management. We may also share your medical information with our "business associates," such as our billing service, that perform administrative services for us. We have a written contract with each of these business associates that contains terms requiring them to protect the confidentiality and security of your medical information. Although federal law does not protect health information which is disclosed to someone other than another healthcare provider, health plan, healthcare clearinghouse, or one of their business associates, California law prohibits all recipients of healthcare information from further disclosing it except as specifically required or permitted by law. We may also share your information with other health care providers, health care clearinghouses or health plans that have a relationship with you, when they request this information to help them with their quality assessment and improvement activities, their patient-safety activities, their population- based efforts to improve health or reduce health care costs, protocol development, case management or care coordination activities, their review of competence, qualifications and performance of health care professionals, their training programs, their accreditation, certification or licensing activities, their activities related to contracts of health insurance or health benefits, or their health care fraud and abuse detection and compliance efforts. [Participants in organized health care arrangements only should add: We may also share medical information about you with the other health care providers, health care clearinghouses and health plans that participate with us in "organized health care arrangements" (OHCAs) for any of the OHCAs' health care operations. We may also disclose information to someone who is involved with your care or helps pay for your care. If you are able and available to agree or object, we will give you the opportunity to object prior to making these disclosures, although we may disclose this information in a disaster even over your objection if we believe it is necessary to respond to the emergency circumstances. If you are unable or unavailable to agree or object, our health professionals will use their best judgment in communication with your family and others.
7. Marketing. Provided we do not receive any payment for making these communications, we may contact you to encourage you to purchase or use products or services related to your treatment, case management or care coordination, or to direct or recommend other treatments, therapies, health care providers or settings of care that may be of interest to you. We may similarly describe products or services provided by this practice and tell you which health plans we participate in.We may receive financial compensation to talk with you face-to-face, to provide you with small promotional gifts, or to cover our cost of reminding you to take and refill your medication or otherwise communicate about a drug or biologic that is currently prescribed for you, but only if you either: (1) have a chronic and seriously debilitating or life-threatening condition and the communication is made to educate or advise you about treatment options and otherwise maintain adherence to a prescribed course of treatment, or (2) you are a current health plan enrollee and the communication is limited to the availability of more cost-effective pharmaceuticals. If we make these communications while you have a chronic and seriously debilitating or life threatening condition, we will provide notice of the following in at least 14-point type: (1) the fact and source of the remuneration; and (2) your right to opt-out of future remunerated communications by calling the communicator's toll-free number. We may deny your request if we do not have the information, if we did not create the information (unless the person or entity that created the information is no longer available to make the amendment), if you would not be permitted to inspect or copy the information at issue, or if the information is accurate and complete as is. If we deny your request, you may submit a written statement of your disagreement with that decision, and we may, in turn, prepare a written rebuttal. You also have the right to request that we add to your record a statement of up to 250 words concerning anything in the record you believe to be incomplete or incorrect. 6. You have a right to notice of our legal duties and privacy practices with respect to your health information, including a right to a paper copy of this Notice of Privacy Practices, even if you have previously requested its receipt by email.
If you would like to have a more detailed explanation of these rights or if you would like to exercise one or more of these rights, contact our Privacy Officer listed at the top of this Notice of Privacy Practices.

D. CHANGES TO THIS NOTICE OF PRIVACY PRACTICES

We reserve the right to amend our privacy practices and the terms of this Notice of Privacy Practices at any time in the future. Until such amendment is made, we are required by law to comply with this Notice.
After an amendment is made, the revised Notice of Privacy Protections will apply to all protected health information that we maintain, regardless of when it was created or received. We will keep a copy of the current notice posted in our reception area, and a copy will be available at each appointment.
