

Hundreds Fight S. D. County Brush Blazes

Season's Worst Outbreak of Fires Hits Rural Areas

Brush and grass fires in scattered areas of the county were being fought today by hundreds of state forestry men and military personnel as damage exceeding $9000 was counted in the season's worst outbreak of rural blazes.

Still raging out of control was a fire in northern San Diego county which has covered 12,000 acres since breaking out Friday morning when, four miles northeast of De Luz, exhaust of a gasoline engine at a ranch pump started it.

Flames Cross Line

Flames had crossed the Riverside county line and a change of wind checked the conflagration's course toward Temecula. A large portion of the San Diego area blackened by the fire had protection lines around it.

Meanwhile crews were battling a new 100 acre break this morning in
