

Invest in The only app that teaches financial literacy with a global humanitarian impact.

Globally more than 773 million people, mainly women are financially illiterate, resulting in increasing poverty, food shortages, mental health problems, cancer, worsening crime, prison populations and rising mortality. FinLitX is a global autonomous app that delivers financial literacy curriculum to the largest cities and the remotest villages using socio-emotional instruction, artificial intelligence and blockchain. FinLitX improves the global environment and saves lives.
