Small Publishing In A Big Universe

Steven Radecki

Between traditional publishing and self-publishing there is small publishing. In this presentation, our speaker will discuss the place independent publishers occupy in the publishing ecosystem, comparing and contrasting the submissions processes, benefits, and challenges authors might encounter as they follow each publishing path.

Steven Radecki is the author of Building Baby Brother, short fiction, technical papers, and the non-fiction book Multimedia with QuickTime. Steven is also the managing editor of Paper Angel Press, Water Dragon Publishing, and Unruly Voices as well as executive producer of the Small Publishing in a Big Universe podcast. Steven is a member of the SFWA Independent Authors Committee and is a technical writer by trade.
