K. LARSEN

I don't know why I'm so easily frightened, I think it's something from my past

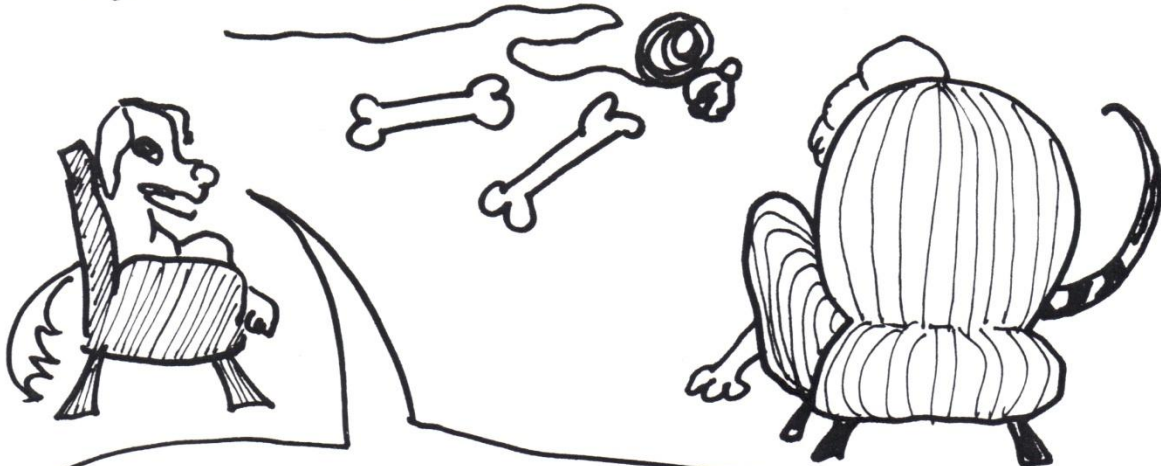

You are welcome to join our group sessions - others have similar feelings, it might help

I was one of twelve. My mother's owners didn't want any of us. They took us to the flea market in a box and gave us away to strangers

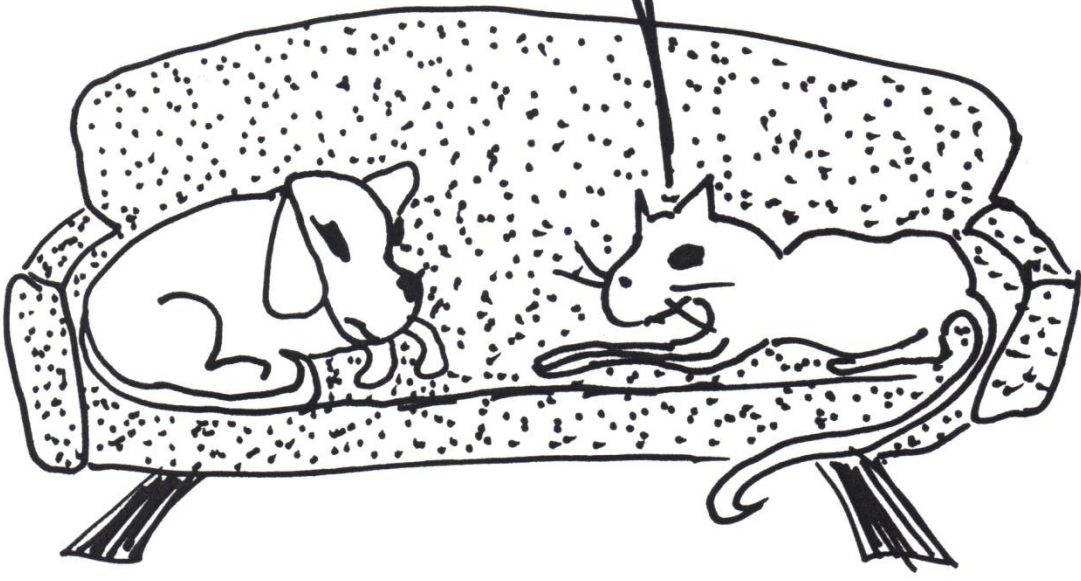

My litter mates and I were left in an irrigation ditch. Only two of us survived

I do know that, before I found the good home I have now, I had puppies. I think the humans drowned them - SOB! - I can't even think about it. I can't even believe it!

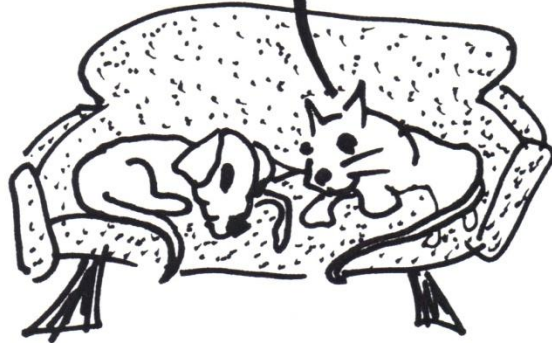

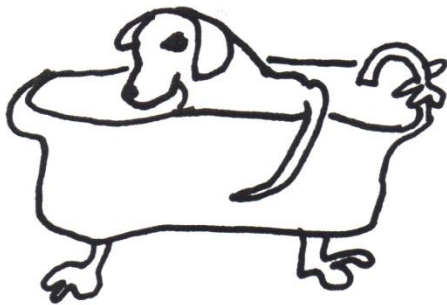

Dear one, your story is all too familiar. We are each suffering in similar and also in different ways. The human species is just now realizing that their value is reflected in the own way that they value us.

But I'm pregnant and I'm terrified. The way I was treated. The mere pup is likely as a my own babies will be treated. I have no say in the future of my children, my way

We need to stop having babies. We need to be respected and helped, not gathered together and destroyed with such ease.

What have we done to deserve this? We were born?

We love them and honor them, these humans. We heal them and trust them. My new family loves me.

Lucky you

True... I was spayed and my foster brother was fixed as a puppy

I have heard from my owner human that a group of people are trying to get a free spay and neuter program going for all of us.

Good idea!

Yes, and because we cannot speak for ourselves, these humans are becoming our voices.

We have no money to pay for the veterinarian but the program these humans propose means that ALL animals, regardless of their owner's income, will be able to be helped!

It could save countless lives. Shelters could become "no-kill" homes for the abandoned, abused, neglected misused and lost!

Let's hope and pray that it beomes a reality

yes! Let's hope for the success of these people & the relief of animal suffering
