TAROT TIPS

@SUPERLUNARISTAROT

When doing a reading, first take a look at which suit/element is most prominent in the cards to identify the theme.

Many wands?

Action! Many wands in a reading indicate a time of expansion, drive, inspiration, passion and movement. The theme right now is planning, acknowledging recent accomplishments or anything related to fruitfulness. If you receive many wands in your reading, you might be considering how you can expand your horizons. It's a good time to think about what your driving force is in life. What lights your fire and makes you feel most alive?

Many cups?

Emotions! Your life is ruled by your heart right now, or you might be experiencing some relationship issues. Many cups can indicate a time for healing and cleansing. Your intuition is loud and your creative spark is strong. If you receive many cups in your reading, try to sit with your emotions and listen to your inner voice. Your heart holds the truth of the matter and can help you realign. Remember that feelings aren't facts and you hold the power to manifest.

Many swords?

Thoughts! Your mind is the director of your life right now and your cards are pointing to the psychology, intellect and logic behind the scenes. You might be thinking more with your head than with your heart, experiencing communication issues or conflict. If your reading has a lot of swords, it might be a good time to look at your own brain chemistry, beliefs, and how you interpret information from the world around you.

Many pentacles?

Your realm! Many pentacles in a reading point to your physical world: your domain, your health, finances and spiritual path. You might be extra focused on your resources, your soul work, your career or your sense of security. Now is a good time to take a look at your world and decide where you can instill more balance. If you've been working hard towards a goal but not seeing the rewards yet, let your cards guide you towards receiving them.

Many majors? Big life lessons! You're dealing with the big spiritual lessons in life that everyone has to go through (ie. faith, surrender, wisdom, death and rebirth, healing your shadow self, patience). Have patience with yourself and trust that you will come out on the other side with many new gifts.

VII - rewards, investments, cultivation, perseverance, long-term goals, things coming to fruition, hard work paying off, reflecting on the results of your work, planning.

VIII - mastering a trade, developing skills, dedication, high standards, spiritually rewarding work, moving forward in your career, the opportunity to grow through work, self-mastery.

IX - abundance, luxury, self-sufficiency, fulfillment, the joy of knowing you've made all the right choices to get here, comfort for the self, everything feels right in your universe.

X - wealth, stability, security, success, family, inheritance, lineage, strong bonds, passing of traditions, a successful transfer of a home/property, a stable home environment.

Page - a loving fascination, pure wonder, a deep seeker, skill development, slow movement, a financial or material opportunity, an eagerness to work and learn.

Knight - diligence, productivity, patience, conservatism, calmness, responsibility, staying focused on a task, being of service to the group, a dedication to practical matters.

Queen - generosity, success, creativity, sensuality, business-minded, practical, opulence, a love of nature, a fondness of luxury, self-care, nurturing family and home.

King - stability, security, ambition, practicality, wealthy, business-minded, successful, leadership, discipline, hard-working, grounded, conservative, provider.
