MICRO, MINIATURE AND SMALL ORCHIDS

MICROCHILUS TRIDAX

Origin: Central America

Temperatures: Cool to hot growing miniature to small size terrestrial / jewel orchid species

Light: Bright shade

Watering & fertilizing: Regular watering and fertilizing in active growing season (spring summer), semi-deciduous – no fertilizing in the winter time, low watering during dormancy when leafless till new growth appears.

General care: Jewel orchids are in high demand and they are usually grown not as much for their blooms as they are for their beautiful leaves! Microchilus species are rare in cultivation. Gorgeous leaves are great decoration for any terrarium, vivarium, vase. Perfect orchid for any frog encounters! Grows best in bright shade, high humidity, lightly moist (not soggy). Old leaves/growth will die off after blooming and new growths will sprout from old stem. Perfect for indoor growing, greenhouses and outside in proper zones.
