

Individual-Not Self-Employed

If you and your spouse do not earn self-employment income, then your tax return and taxes owing are both due May 1, 2023.

Normally, taxes would be due on April 30th, but because that date falls on a Sunday, they can be paid on Monday May 1st without penalty.

This is the most common scenario for taxpayers.

Self-Employed

If you or your spouse earned business income in 2022 then your tax return is due June 15, 2023.

This deadline is a bit tricky because taxes owing are still due May 1, 2023 even though the actual filing of the return is not due until June.

Normally, taxes would be due on April 30th, but because that date falls on a Sunday, they can be paid on Monday May 1st without penalty.
