How to complete lessons

To complete a unit, you might need to:

- Sometimes you have to answer a question. If your answer is correct, you'll move to the next unit. If not, you will have many chances to try again.
- If you have an assignment, you can submit it, but look for an email from me when I have provided feedback. If for any reason your submission doesn't satisfy the assignment, you will be asked to resubmit.

Tests	Assignments
You'll need to answer all questions to move on.	You'll be prompted to submit a reply.
Graded automatically. You'll immediately know if your attempt was successful or unsuccessful.	Might need to be graded by an instructor.

26

26

Once you have completed a course

- Once you have completed all units of a course successfully, a pop-up window will appear indicating you have completed the course.
- If you don't see that pop-up, you can click on "progress" in your dashboard and see what unit you may not have completed or a unit where I have not yet graded an assignment.
- You will receive an unofficial certificate.
- Remember, however, that I will send you an official certificate for the NCREC within 24 hours of course completion.

27

27

Viewing your progress

You can keep track of your course progress from different spots on the platform.

1. On your dashboard, you'll find the right-hand bar showing some general stats.
2. From your dashboard, go to Progress on the right panel to access more detailed reports.
3. Also click on Learner by your name to see more information, such as grades on assignments.

The main dashboard area displays a summary of course progress: 57 courses in progress, 2 completed courses, 15h 36m training time, 2 badges, and 3185 points. A right-hand sidebar contains navigation links for 'Progress', 'Join group', 'Conferences', and 'Discussions'. A red arrow points from the 'Learner' link in the top navigation bar to the 'Progress' link in the sidebar. Another red arrow points from the 'Progress' link in the sidebar to the 'Progress' section of the dashboard.
