Celebrating the Impact of Our Dedicated Donors

This month, we shine a spotlight on two incredible groups who make our mission possible:

- The Cynthia Lake Charitable Trust – $45,000
- The City of Meridian – $6,600

Because of you, more students will receive the literacy support they desperately need. Thank you for investing in their future.

Spring Book Drive

While you're spring cleaning, donate your gently used (or damaged!) books. We'll repurpose them for classroom libraries, community events, and even creative art projects with local students. Help keep books out of landfills while also raising funds for essential supplies for our

Annual Scarecrow Competition

Mark your calendar for our 5th Annual Scarecrow Competition with kick off festival on October 1! This family-friendly event will bring our community together to celebrate creativity and raise funds for our scholarship program. The proceeds will support ongoing scholarships for dyslexia therapy, making it possible for even more students to receive specialized services that empower them to reach their full potential.

☐ Save the Date: Let's Team Up for Student Success!

Calling all parents! Mark your calendars for October 1–2, 2025—we're hosting our first-ever Dyslexia Conference in downtown Meridian, and it's going to be a game-changer for students in grades 4–12.

This event is all about real solutions across all subjects—language arts, science, social studies, math, and even the arts. We'll hear from powerful voices including local, regional, and national experts—and feature a special guest: a local artist sharing her personal journey with dyslexia.

☐ Here's how you can take action: Invite your child's teachers, interventionists, and school staff to attend with you! When families and schools work together, students soar. Let's build a support team around your child that's ready, informed, and empowered to help them succeed.

VTO (Vertical Take-off) Reading

VTO assists teachers, therapists, and tutors in accelerating the pace of literacy acquisition by individualizing assessment and practice.

This tool will provide individualized instruction with automated feedback using AI's large language models. The result is a more literate and capable population regardless of past difficulties with education. Designed for teachers, therapists, and tutors—because every student deserves instruction tailored to their needs.
