

U.S. Constitution Poem

From day to day

To bay to bay

Waking up to hitting the hay

Even celebrating on holidays...

The constitutional effects will not go away... in the U.S.A

From the rights to speak your mind

To voting polls including womankind

Now racial inequality...will gladly be declined

Equal powers of government

No more harsh punishment

And now you cannot be searched without your consent

Ben Carson Grade 11, Age 16

