T's Shop Talk

Greetings All!

I trust this message finds each of you in high spirits and good health. Indeed, the summer sun has made its fiery comeback! I've been taking the cherished 1915 Model T out for early breakfast jaunts, and it's been absolutely splendid in the cooler part of the day.

It's a joy to see our community come together—your presence is like sunshine after rain.

Amidst the hustle of graduations and the excitement of summer adventures, we've also shared moments of remembrance. Harold Mann's family held his memorial at the Veterans Cemetery in Boulder City, with a heartfelt gathering of about 30 attendees. Art Goldstrom's tribute was a grand affair, with some 300 friends coming together in celebration. Regrettably, I was traveling and couldn't join, but my thoughts were with everyone.

Jim Marsh brought up a brilliant suggestion during breakfast at Skyline—organizing a tour to Atomic Motors once the weather grants us a cooler reprieve. It's a splendid idea, and seeing Jim was a highlight indeed.

Don't forget to peek at our newsletter and website for all the upcoming dates and events. Eagerly anticipating our next meeting—until then, stay cool and spirited!

Safe travels,
President Tom

The Accessory Corner

As I write this, I'm sitting on my back patio porch swing enjoying the nice weather we've been having but I will say though, enjoy it now because the days of hot summer are rapidly approaching!

Last Saturday morning I decided to make a run out to Boulder City for the Antiques in the Park swap meet. Every May Boulder City holds their annual Boulder City Jamboree. The Jamboree has everything from art shows to classic cars, swap meets to yard sales and antique shops to restaurants.

Usually, I hit a few yard sales and antique shops but as most of you know I'm taking care of my 92-year-old father, so my time is limited, so I only had time for the Antiques in the Park swap meet. I figured I'd get there early in the morning ahead of the pickers while the venders were setting up to sneak the best deals and before the crowds moved in and then head back to Vegas. When I got there the pickers were already there hovering over the venders like vultures circling roadkill!

Fortunately, I scored a couple nice old porcelain signs before the vultures swooped in and a nice Jefferson Electric Company Model T coil tester. Last month I covered the Jefferson Combination Coil Tester, so it just seemed fitting that I cover my newly acquired Jeffersons No. 25 tester this month. This tester is very complete and even has the original wires (and he even threw in an early brass top coil!) Jefferson seemed to offer a small line of Model T testers with their combination tester being their best seller. This no. 25 tester didn't have sockets for testing bulbs like their combination tester but would test spark plugs in addition to coils. Jefferson eventually got into radio, vacuum and transistor testers. Jefferson is still in business today making transformers and test meters of all sorts.

Yup, another great find and a nifty accessory for the Accessory Corner!

Sunshine Girl Report

It's uplifting to know that Linda Cuddy's surgery has improved her breathing. Although she's still in the hospital, let's envelop her in our collective prayers and positive thoughts for a speedy recovery. Elaine Passman is on the mend, having been liberated from her cast. Aaron reports she's doing well, and while the energetic Kazotsky dance is still a bit out of reach, her progress is a dance in itself. And for Robin Peddieson, let's continue to send our strongest wishes for healing and a quick return to wellness.

The strength of our thoughts and prayers go to everyone!
