Zephyrhills running back Willie Queen breaks free on a run up the middle.

Zephyrhills bounced back from its only loss of the season with a dominating 44-3 win over district rival Cypress Creek

By STEVE LEE
Sports Reporter

The Bulldogs got back on track in their quest for what could be a sixth playoff berth in seven seasons. Zephyrhills traveled to Cypress Creek to take on its Class 5A, District 9 rival and came away with a dominating 44-3 win.

Taking out their frustrations following the lone defeat of the season — 40-7 against Wiregrass Ranch — the Bulldogs built a 42-3 halftime lead and won for the fourth time this season by virtue of a running clock. That format is mandated by the Florida High School Athletic Association when a team takes a lead of 35 points or more in the second half of a football game.

"We flushed that loss and we went back to work," Zephyrhills coach Nick Carroll said. "We found out who we are and that we needed to prepare better."

Offensive lineman Caleb Durham had a one-word assessment for the Cypress Creek game following the debacle against Wiregrass Ranch: "Redemption."

Meanwhile the Coyotes, who opened the season at 2-0 before five consecutive losses, might have better luck in their next game. Cypress Creek travels to Weeki Wachee for a game against the winless Hornets, who are 0-7.

"They played a great game tonight," Cypress Creek Mike Johnson said of the Bulldogs. "As for us, my coaches and I will take a look at the film, correct the mistakes and get ready for next week."

Cypress Creek lost its inaugural meeting against the Bulldogs, 35-7 last season. Now that both teams are Class 5A, District 9 rivals they must play until the district is realigned after next year. The Coyotes still must figure out how to beat the Bulldogs.

"If we want to be a playoff team year-in and year-out we have to beat playoff teams," Johnson said.

Now that their bid for an unbeaten season like in 2019 has been dashed, the Bulldogs (6-1) are focused on making the playoffs and perhaps going a bit further than last year when they lost in the region semifinals to Orlando Jones. This week's game at Nature Coast (5-2) could determine the district winner.

"Next week is championship week," Carroll told his players after the Cypress Creek game. "If we work and we prepare and we beat Nature Coast we are district champs. Enjoy this and turn the page."

9-Mile War is on

Rumors and innuendos about cancelling the annual Pasco-Zephyrhills football game are flat-out wrong

By STEVE LEE
Sports Reporter

The simple truth is that social media all too often relies on rumors and innuendos rather than facts and recent chatter about the annual Pasco-Zephyrhills football game being in jeopardy is no different. The fact is that the 9-Mile War is on.

Athletic directors and coaches from both high schools vowed that the most storied rivalry game in Pasco County history will be played after all. The battle for bragging rights and east Pasco supremacy is scheduled for Nov. 5 at Zephyrhills' Bulldog Stadium. Kickoff in the final regular-season game for both teams is at 7:30 p.m.

"As far as we know, we're still playing," Zephyrhills coach Nick Carroll said as his team headed into the second half of the regular season with an impressive 5-1 record.

Like Carroll, Zephyrhills athletic director Bruce Cimorelli, a former football assistant coach for the Bulldogs, was well aware of the game being in question. He took matters into his own hands by reaching out to Dawn Wetherby, Pasco's athletic director and cheerleading coach.

"The (Pasco) AD assured me that if they have a team they'll be there, but if they can't play us it would be hard to find a game (against a different opponent) that late in the season," Cimorelli said.

Asked if she felt comfortable about the 9-Mile War game being played this year, Wetherby said, "Absolutely, yes I do. (The players) give it their all to play for us and are determined to finish this season."

At issue is the Pirates enduring one of their worse seasons in school history. They had not won a game, or even scored for that matter, through the first six weeks of the 2021 regular season. That included two home losses and four on the road during a downtrodden season in which Pasco has been outscored by a whopping 159-0 margin.

Bulldogs erupt in second half, Rout Cyclones 40-0

Both sides seemed evenly matched in the early going, only for the Bulldogs to go on beat the Cyclones in the second half

By ANDY WARRENER
Sports Reporter

The Stewart Bulldogs are the class of Pasco County middle school football. Their streaks are the stuff of legend and yet for the first two quarters of Tuesday night's game, the Bulldogs and crosstown rivals Centennial Cyclones, stood at eye level. The Cyclones went three-and-out on their opening drive but a stop by Centennial's Kevin Senior on a third down helped stymie the Bulldogs' opening drive. Stewart's Daniel Carter returned the favor by logging a pair of sacks to close out Centennial's ensuing drive. The Bulldogs got backed up by penalties and the Cyclones' Ethan Gilbert scored a sack that turned the ball over on downs.

The Bulldogs answered with the first splash play of the game, when Deori Pope intercepted a Cyclone pass and returned it to the 45-yard line. With the short field, the Bulldogs were finally able to capitalize. It took most of the Cyclone team to bring down Amerh Norris on a loss of yardage but Roosevelt Miller took a right sweep, on the ensuing play, 45 yards through the Cyclone defense for a touchdown. Steamroller John Blanford added the two-point conversion to make it 8-0. That score carried into the half when the real reason the Cyclones kept it close came out.

"We were putting our younger kids in, during the first half," Stewart coach Greg Mathis said. "We wanted to make sure they got playing time and got in, on certain plays."

The second half was a different story. On Stewart's second play of the first drive of the second half, Saniyn Black picked and weaved his way through the entire Cyclone defense for a 50-yard touchdown run. Blanford trucked a Cyclone defender for the two-point conversion to make it 16-0. On Centennial's ensuing offensive drive, Carter forced a fumble that Dax Kirkland scooped up and returned to the Centennial nine-yard line. It was just one run from Carter to add another touchdown to the tally.

Up 24-0, the Bulldogs knocked Cyclone quarterback Jerrid Pinkston out of the game and just a few plays later, Stewart's Norris recovered a fumble. One play with the Bulldog offense and Miller raced one in from 45 yards out. The two-point conversion made it 32-0 in the fourth quarter. It was only a couple more plays before the Bulldogs forced another turnover, Edward Lee recovering a fumble. Stewart's

Breast CANCER awareness MONTH

Three mammogram myths you shouldn't believe

For women in the U.S., breast cancer is the second deadliest cancer, after lung cancer. In fact, the American Cancer Society estimates more than 43,600 women will sadly lose their lives from breast cancer in 2021.

With so much at stake, it's important to separate fact from fiction, so you can make the best possible decisions to protect your health.

Early detection is key

As a woman, you know breast self-exams are your first-line defense in finding breast cancer. Next, having a mammogram means you can get treatment earlier for the best chance of survival or even a cure. Mammograms can help reduce breast cancer deaths in women ages 40 to

74. Even so, myths about mammography's usefulness, safety and effectiveness persist. To make the best decision for your physical, emotional and spiritual health, here's what you need to know.

Get the facts

Myth: Mammograms cause cancer.

Fact: Mammograms use low-dose radiation to produce images of breast tissue.

"While any radiation exposure increases your risk for cancer, mammograms are low-radiation procedures," explains Thushy Siva, MD, a board-certified general surgeon.

"You'll get slightly more radiation than from a chest X-ray, but much less than from a CT scan. And you'll get much less radiation from digital 3D mammography than from either film or 2D mammography."

3D mammography also reduces false positives and do-over mammograms. They can detect cancers too small to feel by hand.

Myth: With no symptoms and no family history of breast cancer, I don't need a mammogram.

Fact: A mammogram can save your life.

"Just because you don't have symptoms doesn't mean you can't have breast cancer," says Dr. Siva. Symptoms can be a lump or swelling, or skin changes. Sometimes breast cancer has no symptoms. While it's true that your risk increases if a woman in your immediate family has breast cancer, any woman at any age can develop breast cancer. Your risk also increases if you smoke or are overweight. If you're nearing 40, plan to have annual screening mammograms into your 70s. If you're in your 20s or 30s, get a breast exam from your doctor every three years. If you're around 30 and breast or ovarian cancer runs in your family, ask your doctor about a mammogram.

Myth: Mammograms are painful.

Fact: Mammograms can be uncomfortable, but they shouldn't be painful.

Breast compression is necessary to get the best images. Although everyone has a different pain threshold, a mammogram should not be painful unless your breasts are already tender. If you do feel pain, let the imaging technologist know and he or she can help.

Talk to your doctor

The benefits of detecting breast cancer are far greater than the low dose of mammogram radiation. Although mammograms are perfectly safe for most women, talk with your primary care physician or gynecologist to make sure it's right for you. If you're a woman, age 40 to 74, regular screening mammograms are crucial to protect your health and well-being.

Black actually saved a Bulldog turnover by recovering an offensive fumble. Kingston McCullough sprinted one for 22 yards and a first down, only to follow it up with a 30-yard touchdown run. A two-point conversion by Tim Darius Clemons made it 40-0 and started the running clock.

The Bulldogs kept their undefeated season intact with the win and capped their home stand as well. They'll face off against Pine View for the title next week and look to extend their 20-game win streak, stretching across three consecutive seasons.

"I tell the kids that everyone is on our radar, that you can't discount anyone," Mathis said.

When asked about the recipe for Stewart's success over the years, even before Mathis was the coach...

"It's got a lot to do with the atmosphere," Mathis said. "The coaching, how you talk to the kids, how you treat them. They respond to it."

Unlike the previous week when Zephyrhills went 0-for-2 inside the red zone and got its lone touchdown on a kick-off return by T. J. Jackson in the fourth quarter to avoid a shut-out, there were no such problems against Cypress Creek.

The defense forced five Cypress Creek turnovers, including four in the first half. Jaylin Thomas capitalized by rushing for three touchdowns and catching a 33-yard scoring pass from Jaxson Rivera for another. The senior running back rushed for a game-high 130 yards and has now topped 100 rushing yards in six of seven games this season.

The Bulldogs also scored when Cypress Creek quarterback Owen Walls, who passed for just 76 yards, fumbled in the end zone and the ball was recovered by Tymar McKeever. Walls wound up getting picked off twice to go along with the fumble for three turnovers in the game.

Theotis Smith and Gabe Mathis recovered fumbles for the swarming Zephyrhills defense. Chipping in with interceptions were Ben Raines and Nick Sheldon.

Aside from Thomas, Jackson ran for 84 yards and Willie Queen gained 70 on the ground. In the air, Rivera passed for 140 yards, spreading the ball out to five different receivers.

Cypress Creek's lone points came on Colton Carrao's 47-yard field goal.

Kevin Bacon in "You Should Have Left"

HOLLYWOOD -- "Kevin Bacon Goes Gay," the headline read, but of course it was referring to him starring and co-producing the (as yet untitled) LGBTQIA empowerment film set in a gay conversion camp, with Theo Germaine. It's also a horror film, which Bacon's done before in "Friday the 13th" (1980) and a slew of "Tremors" films starting in 1990.

He's kept himself busy doing Showtime's "City on a Hill" (renewed for season three), co-producing and starring in "You Should Have Left," with Amanda Seyfried, which went straight to streaming and was very successful. He's completed the action thriller "One Way," with Travis Fimmell and Colson Baker (aka Machine Gun Kelly), and is filming "Toxic Avenger," starring Peter Dinklage, Elijah Wood and Jacob Tremblay, about an "everyman" pushed into a vat of toxic waste who becomes a mutant superhero. Bacon is currently taking direction from his wife, "Closer" star Kyra Sedgwick, making her directorial debut with "Space Oddity," also starring "Big Bang Theory's" Simon Helberg.

Helberg hit Amazon's streaming platform in August with the musical psychological drama "Annette," starring Adam Driver and Marion Cotillard. He's currently getting direction from his former "Big Bang Theory" co-star Mayim Bialik in "As Sick as They Made Us," co-starring Dustin Hoffman and Candice Bergen.

George Clooney has produced and directed "The Tender Bar," a coming-of-age tale about a boy who bonds with the patrons at his uncle's bar. It stars Clooney's buddy Ben Affleck as the uncle to Tye Sheridan (with Christopher Lloyd and Lily Rabe rounding out the cast. It will have a short theatrical release on Dec. 17 before hitting Amazon's platform on Jan. 7.

We lost Jane Powell, one of the last great MGM musical stars who toplined "Royal Wedding" (1951), with Fred Astaire (remember he danced on the ceiling in that one), and "Seven Brides for Seven Brothers" (1954) with Howard Keel and some of the greatest dancing in movies. She worked with Romo Vincent in "Luxury Liner" (1948), and when she came to visit his widow (who lived next door to me) and learned she didn't have a VCR to play his movies on, she came back the next day, unannounced, with a VCR and a new TV. That was the kind of lady she was. We lost her on Sept. 16 at 92 years young.

A last word on Kevin Bacon. Maybe you heard of the game "Six Degrees of Kevin Bacon"? Well, "Ben & Jerry's Clash of the Cones" (Food Network) has taken it one degree further with Kevin as himself in the episode "Six Flavors of Kevin Bacon." How's that for a scoop?!

With a limited roster from the outset, due primarily to fewer players turning out than in previous seasons, Pasco has been beset by a slew of injuries. That has not helped matters.

A lack of depth and injured varsity players are primary reasons Pasco coach Jason Stokes opted to back out of games against Ocala Vanguard and Lake Gibson in Lakeland. Both of those games were to be played away from W.F. Edwards Stadium in Dade City. Pasco has since dropped out of the Florida High School Athletic Association and is finishing the season as an independent.

Aside from the record and team statistics, the unusual decision by the Pirates not to play those games is yet another reason why some have questioned if the team would even bother closing out this season by taking on the Bulldogs on the road.

"They could call up JV players," Cimorelli suggested, just in case the Pirates did not have enough varsity players to field a team.

After missing the aforementioned two road games, Pasco was scheduled to play another road game at Belleview on Oct. 15. On the slate after that are two home games — Oct. 22 against Land O' Lakes and Oct. 29 against Lecanto — before the season finale against Zephyrhills at Bulldog Stadium.

The county's oldest rivalry, which dates back to 1941, often is one of the fiercest games for both teams. This year, however, the playoff-bound Bulldogs and struggling Pirates are on opposite ends of the spectrum.

As for the series, Pasco maintains a 41-21 lead. Zephyrhills, however, has won five of the past six with the Pirates' lone win in that stretch coming in 2019.
