Bulldogs make it five in a row at Weeki Wachee's expense

Zephyrhills quarterback Jaxson Rivera scrambles for a short gain during last Friday night's dominating win over Weeki Wachee.

Zephyrhills comes back to the field after a bye week to pick up where it left off and defeats the Hornets, 48-0

Having made the playoffs in five of the past six seasons, the Zephyrhills High football team has had some memorable years of late. This is shaping up to be yet another one with the latest game being a 48-0 shutout win over winless Weeki Wachee that elevated the Bulldogs to a perfect 5-0 record halfway through the regular season.

Zephyrhills notched its second shutout this year with the win over Weeki Wachee, which is now 0-6. Plus, the lead was so substantial that a running clock had to be implemented for the third time this fall.

Still, Bulldogs are only halfway to what could be the first unbeaten regular season since 2019 when they wound up 11-1 and advanced to a region semifinal where they lost to Citra North Marion. "Celebrate this one, but then it's time to lock in," coach Nick Carroll told the players in a postgame huddle in reference to this Friday night's home game against perennial playoff contender Wiregrass Ranch. "You're not going to go out and beat (the Bulls) because you're a better team. You're going to outwork them."

The Bulldogs built a 35-0 halftime lead against the Hornets than added 13 points in the second half with most of the backups in by then. T.J. Jackson and Willie Queen each had a pair of touchdowns for Zephyrhills. Jackson's 19-yard scoring run helped stake the Bulldogs to a 21-0 lead and his 60-yard touchdown catch from quarterback Jaxson Rivera resulted in a 42-0 lead.

Queen, whose 93 rushing yards was second only to Jaylin Thomas' game-leading 96 yards on the ground, had touchdown

Zephyrhills Little League looking ahead to brighter days

The organization came dangerously close to shuttering during the height of the COVID-19 pandemic but has emerged as strong as ever

By ANDY WARRENER
Sports Reporter

There were moments in mid to late 2020 where former Zephyrhills Little League (ZLL) President Adam Wilkes didn't know if the league was going to make it.

"We got an email from the county parks and rec that all youth leagues were to cease operations," Wilkes said. "We were only three games into the spring season and we ended up being shut down from March of 2020 to January of 2021."

ZLL does not run a summer program. Thus, the park was dark for almost a full year. After the spring season shut down outright, in August, ZLL was notified that they would have the option to have a fall 2020 season. However, there were conditions.

"In August, Little League said we could go back but there were requirements from the county, like kids wearing masks on the field and we decided to just forego the (fall) season."

It was a blow. The league had already bought uniforms and Wilkes predicted lost revenue at the level of $9,000.

"And we couldn't charge our registration fees, we had people on payment plans and we couldn't

Pirates celebrate Senior Night with 3-2 win over Bulldogs

Pasco rallies to win pivotal fifth game over resurgent Zephyrhills, thereby rewarding its six seniors

By STEVE LEE
Sports Reporter

Forget the record, Zephyrhills coach Emily Frazer feels that her team's one win in 17 games is not indicative of the team's improvement. Although the Bulldogs are in the midst of another season at the bottom of the standings, which got worse with Tuesday's 3-2 loss to arch-rival Pasco, the coach believes they are on the cusp of a turnaround.

"I told the girls, 'Don't let the record affect how you feel about a transition season,'" said Emily Frazer, Zephyrhills' first-year coach who has brought a more optimistic outlook to the team. "Every game we play we treat it as practice. Our team is on the way up."

For Pasco's six seniors — Cayla Bergren, Ashanti Joe, Brenna Gregory, Sandi Cameron, Lexie Mussen and Kiersten Marsee — were honored in a brief ceremony before the game in Dade City. The outcome turned out just fine for them and the rest of the Pirates, even though there were numerous moments where it could have gone either way.

"It's a way to be recognized for all their hard work," Pasco coach Ramiro Tejada said. "It's something that every girl on every high school team looks forward to and deserves."

Three of the first four games were close with the fifth and decisive contest providing more of the same. A block by Maya Llanes following one of the longest volleys of the night set the tone for that game and gave Zephyrhills a 1-0 lead.

Breast Cancer awareness MONTH

Women have some control in regard to their risk for breast cancer

No one, regardless of their age, occupation, skin color, or socioeconomic status, is immune to cancer. In fact, individuals might be hard pressed to say no one in their family and/or circle of friends has been diagnosed with cancer at some point.

According to the National Cancer Institute, there were 18.1 million new cancer cases across the globe in 2018. Among women, when excluding non-melanoma skin cancer, no cancer was more prevalent globally than breast cancer. The World Cancer Research Fund reports that, in 2018, breast cancer accounted for 25.4 percent of all new cancer diagnoses in women. That figure is nearly three times as high as the percentage of cases of colorectal cancer, which accounted for the second most new cancer cases diagnosed in women in 2018.

It's understandable to be fearful of such figures, which can make a breast cancer diagnosis seem almost inevitable. However, the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention notes that not all risk factors for breast cancer are set in stone. Though age and family history, two known risk factors for breast cancer, may be beyond a woman's control, she still can exercise some control over other risk factors.

- Physical activity: The CDC notes that women who are not physically active have a higher risk of getting breast cancer than those who are. The Office on Women's Health, a division of the U.S. Department of Health & Human Services, notes that women should get two hours and 30 minutes of moderate-intensity aerobic physical activity every week or 75 minutes of vigorous-intensity aerobic activity each week.

This should be accompanied by muscle-strengthening activities on two or more days each week. Carrying around extra weight can make moving around more difficult, so the Office on Women's Health urges larger women to start slowly if it's been awhile since they exercised. In addition, aging women can speak with their physicians for advice about exercise regimens they should or need not avoid.

- Taking hormones: The CDC notes that hormone replacement therapies that include both estrogen and progesterone taken during menopause can increase a woman's risk for breast cancer when taken for more than five years. In addition, the CDC reports that oral contraceptives, such as birth control pills, have been linked to a higher risk for breast cancer. Women can speak with their physicians about how to control hormone-related risk factors for breast cancer.

- Alcohol consumption: Studies have found that the more alcohol a woman consumes the greater her risk for breast cancer becomes.

Smoking, exposure to chemicals that have been found to cause cancer and changes in hormones related to working night shifts are some additional risk factors for breast cancer that women may be able to control.

Breast cancer affects millions of women across the globe each year. Though that may instill a feeling of helplessness, women should know that many risk factors for breast cancer are within their control.

The fifth game was tied four times before Pasco erased a four-point deficit with an 8-0 run resulting in a 13-9 lead. Pasco's Madison Snider served during that stretch, which was halted by a kill by Zephyrhills' Aamahri Lewis. The Pirates went on to win that game 15-11.

Afterward, Tejada said the Bulldogs "did play really hard" and that his team needed to be a bit more consistent.

While the Bulldogs dropped to 1-16, the Pirates improved to 9-7 and are on a three-game winning streak.

Zephyrhills won the first game 25-23, which was much closer than it seemed. Pasco went on a 7-0 run late, but still came up short.

"Minimize our errors," Frazer told her players in between the first and second games.

Pasco changed momentum by winning the next two games, 25-13 and 25-22. An extended run in the second game allowed the Pirates to tie the series 1-1. They took a 2-1 lead by hanging on as the Bulldogs erased a nine-point deficit.

In the fourth game, momentum shifted again when Zephyrhills tied the series at 2-2 by staving off a late comeback bid by the home team.

Both teams got clutch performances out of their leading players. Zephyrhills played strong at the net, getting its share of digs and hits from Peyton Leidy, Tiara Sands and Bryanna O'Malley; along with kills and blocks by Lewis, Llanes, Mikala Geiger and Sabrina Calhoun.

Pasco's top players throughout the night were Bergren, Cameron, Emma Letourneau, Isabella Lane, Musser and Blake Samon.

In the junior varsity matchup, Pasco won 2-0 to improve to 4-3 while Zephyrhills fell to 1-4.

Zephyrhills' Senior Night is Monday against Zephyrhills Christian Academy, which has yet to win in five tries. Honored that night on Alan Reed Court, named after former Bulldog basketball coach and area referee, will be Llanes, Lewis, Breanne Rood, Madison Poe, Tayrn Henry and Lis Santiago.

With the district tournament hosted by Cypress Creek just a few weeks away, Frazer feels that her team will be geared up to play even stronger. No doubt that she has her players believing they could surprise a team or two in the postseason.

Left: Brenna Gregory, one of six Pasco seniors honored before Tuesday night's home game, got plenty of support from family and friends.

runs of 56 and 4 yards. Thomas also had a 60-yard scoring run.

As has become a standard this season, the Bulldogs got another score from their defense. Late in the game, Maguire Neal blocked a punt by Weeki Wachee's David Richards and Nick Sheldon scooped up the football for a 26-yard touchdown.

That turnover marked the fifth game in which the Bulldogs have scored on defense and gave Sheldon, a senior strong safety, three touchdowns this season.

Additionally, Rivera, who aside from being the quarterback and kicker, gave way to two backups in the second half. Raleigh Allen went in at quarterback with Christian Clemens kicking two extra points and kicking off twice.

Attendance was greater than usual on Friday night, which turned out to be much more than a football game. The cheerleaders were joined on the sidelines by the Junior Bulldogs with the young girls also performing at half-time and the football team ran out onto the field with youth football players from the Zephyrhills Police Athletic League.

It was all part of Pink Out Night in recognition of October being Breast Cancer Awareness Month. That was not scheduled last season due to restrictions stemming from the coronavirus pandemic.

Zephyrhills cheerleader Emily Kirk, among others, was glad that Pink Out Night was revived and that the Junior Bulldogs were able to join the varsity cheerleaders for the halftime performance.

"It's great," said Kirk, a senior co-captain. "We practiced all week."

Before the game, former announcer Greg First and clock operator Kerry Ryman were honored. The press box is being named in their honor after they spent 25 years in the booth.

Also showing up for that special tribute, along with watching his young granddaughter join the cheerleaders, was former Zephyrhills football coach Tom Fisher. The home field at Bulldog Stadium is named after Fisher.

ask them for that," Wilkes said. "Even when we came back in the spring of 2021, we had sponsors who'd already committed, no new ones and Little League was not refunding anything."

Wilkes also mentioned ZLL lost $2,000 in liability insurance for a season that they never played. When ZLL was finally ready to come back for the spring (2021) season, they didn't know what kind of turnout they were going to have. There was a significant spike in positive COVID-19 cases coming out of the winter break. ZLL dropped their registration fees for the 2021 spring season from $140 to just $20.

"We had to be frugal," Wilkes said. "It was a gamble to go back for 2021."

The league went from buying traditional youth jerseys to just t-shirts to save a little money there. Expenses for umpires was something there was just no way around. While ZLL umpires are not directly paid, they are offered gift cards as compensation for an otherwise thankless and oftentimes stressful job. Weekly expenses to keep umpires working were from $500 to $700.

"Those are costs we can't recoup unless we make it back in the concession stand," Wilkes said. "It was a lot to deal with and it was stressful. There was a lot of work to be done. It's an underappreciated job and people fall out."

ZLL started 2021 with 13 of the 16 board positions filled. Coaches became hard to come by. Meanwhile, the pandemic would not ebb until the summer.

"It (pandemic) affected a lot of people," Wilkes said. "We had coaches whose employers prohibited their participation."

It got to the point where Wilkes was putting in seven days a week at Sam Pasco Park, while maintaining his job as a shipping manager for Amalie Oil Company. Wilkes and his son, Edward, let go of coaching any teams and just focused on umpiring and managing the league. The overwhelming demands of the league, the time away from his family, finally ground down Wilkes.

"I missed the Spring 2021 Opening Day because of work," Wilkes said. "I'm a family-first guy and I have to work. That's what finally forced it for me."

Wilkes stepped down as league president after the 2021 Spring season. Over the summer, the pandemic took a nosedive and looked as though it had just about played its course. Then in late summer, a new surge of the Delta Variant spiked positive cases again. Now into October, it appears new positive cases are on a steep decline and there is light at the end of the tunnel. That hope has inspired the Zephyrhills community to rally in support of the ZLL fall season. At the first board meeting for the Fall season, 20 former and prospective board members met. A second meeting, just weeks later, nominated new board members and 16 volunteered to staff the board positions. It's the first time ZLL has had a full board since Wilkes can remember. Wilkes took over as president four years ago and has been involved at least as a coach for the last six years.

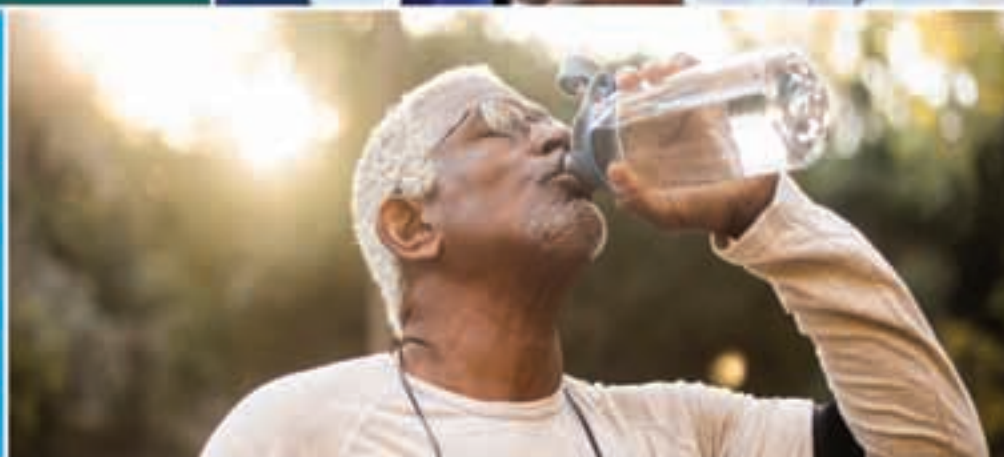

"We've been working on getting people involved, this league would not exist otherwise," Wilkes said. "There is a lot of experience on that board right now."

The new board took over on Oct. 1 and looks to be poised to help ZLL look ahead to brighter days. Even the recent surge of COVID-19 cases seems to be on the wane and the future is again looking bright at Krusen Field.

"I had a feeling we would be all right," Wilkes said. "It (help) might come in the 12th hour but someone is always going to step up."
