Big-time names, big-time events at Skydive City

Already established as a world-renowned drop zone, Skydive City is bringing some of the top divers and elite events this fall

> By Andy Warrner Sports Reporter

As summer finally loosens her stubborn grip on Florida, Skydive City in Zephyrhills is becoming a lighting rod for skydivers from all over the world, looking to push their limits. The mild weather makes for a busy slate of events, even as more northern drop zones are closing down for the season. Skydive City just recently hosted both the National Skydiving League (NSL) indoor and outdoor championships.

The indoor league actually heads to I-Fly in Brandon, a facility that houses a cylindrical wind tunnel that mimics free-falling. The competition is between teams of five. Four of the competitors participate in the maneuvers and the fifth takes video. That fifth person is important as the judges for the competition are not on-site and the footage has to be submitted to the judges' panel for evaluation.

"It's very much like synchronized swimming in free-fall," Amer Kassas, part of the top-ranked teams in both the NSL Outdoor and NSL Indoor championships said. "The team has a pre-determined sequence that they perform in-air for 35 seconds or working time.

There are two categories for the evaluation, randoms and blocks. Randoms include four different motions that the group must execute. Blocks are formations that have to be turned in a specific geometry. Both the indoor and outdoor competitions have the same judging criteria, it's just, one is in a wind tunnel and one is falling out of an airplane. Kassas' group Teiwaz took the top-ranking

Pipe being laid and road paved for city's new tennis center

Progress being made on the Sarah Vande Berg Tennis Center, targeted to open next summer

> By Steve Lee Sports Reporter

The Sarah Vande Berg Tennis Center, slated to open next July, has yet to reach the building construction phase that should be visible sometime after the New Year. Still, progress is being made on the infrastructure surrounding the nine-acre site in Zephyr-

Asphalt has been laid on Simons Road, which is located off Eiland Boulevard and leads to the new facility. Underground pipes are being laid and already in place are nearby retention ponds, as well as grading for a parking lot, building and courts.

That looks really good," city planner Todd

Vande Berg said. The tennis center is named for Vande Berg's late daughter Sarah, an accomplished tennis player who perished at the age of 21 in a 2015 auto accident. A tennis player at the University of South Carolina Upstate at the time of the fatal car crash, which also resulted in the death of three other students from that school, the Zephyrhills High graduate is remembered as one of the best female tennis players to ever come out of Pasco County.

"It's kind of overwhelming at times, but very exciting and surreal," Vande Berg said of the facility that broke ground last July and had been in the planning stages for the past two years.

Pickleball thriving at Betmar Acres with Ladder League under way

Sport's growth at local retirement community reflected in third season with plans for two more courts

> By Steve Lee Sports Reporter

Judging by the six courts packed with pickleball players now that the snowbirds are starting to come south, it is obvious that the sport akin to tennis is thriving at Betmar Acres. So much so, in fact, that two more courts are in the planning stages and could be added sometime late in 2020.

The Ladder League, which is only for pickleball players at the Zephyrhills retirement community, is under way for a third straight season. With about 100 players, the league has grown incrementally since 50 or so came out for the inaugural season in 2017-18. The league for residents of Betmar runs from November through April.

Among the more avid players is Rita Jones, who also is the treasurer of the Betmar Tennis and Pickleball Club. She recalled a time when pickleball first got off the ground at Betmar, back when players resorted to chalking or taping off pickleball dimensions over the

Get the facts about the cold and flu

The common cold and influenza are two can Lung Association. Adults get an average of contagious viruses that many people may be all too aware of. Although colds and flu can be contracted any time of the year, winter tends to be a prime time for cold and flu outbreaks, as more time spent indoors in close proximity to others provides an easy way for viruses to pass from one person to another.

Despîte how common these illnesses can be, there seems to be no shortage of misinformation concerning prevention and treatment of the viruses. Those who think they know all about a cold or the flu can still benefit from a refresher course, which may even debunk some prevailing myths about both ailments.

Colds are relatively minor infections of the throat and nose that are caused by more than 200 different viruses. Rhinovirus is the most common cause, which accounts for between 10 and 40 percent of infections, advises the Ameritwo to four colds per year, while children suffer six to eight colds annually. In fact, in the United States, colds account for more visits to the doctor than any other condition, says the ALA.

The Cleveland Clinic states colds are contracted from inhalation of microscopic particles in the air or from contact with contaminated surfaces. Symptoms can include runny nose, sneezing and nasal congestion, often with sore throat, mild cough, mild aches/ fatigue, and fever in youngsters.

The flu is a contagious respiratory illness that is caused by the influenza virus. It infects the throat, nose and sometimes the lungs, advises the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention. Like colds, the flu also can be spread through tiny droplets made when infected individuals cough, sneeze or talk, or by touching

R Community HealthCare

One common misconception about the flu is that it can be contracted from the flu vaccine. This is not true. Harvard Medical School says the flu shot is made from an inactivated virus that can't transmit infection. People who get sick after receiving a flu vaccination were going to get sick anyway, as it takes a week or two to get protection from the vaccine. Many people assume that because they became sick after getting the vaccine, the flu shot caused their ill-

Even though the flu and colds share some symptoms, such as runny nose, sneezing, hoarseness, and cough, the flu is not just a bad cold. While very few people have landed in the hospital with a cold, the flu can be so severe as to require hospitalization.

Steering clear of people who are sick, frequently washing hands, sterilizing common surfaces, and getting the flu shot are ways to prevent illness. Antibiotics are not effective against the cold and flu, and antiviral medication can lessen the effects and shorten the duration of flu but may not be able to prevent it.

The ALA notes that herbal and mineral products have received a lot of publicity as cold and flu remedies, but insists that such claims are not solidly supported by science. If symptoms do not abate, see a doctor.

A fabulous show went on in the community center on Nov. 16. There were about 65 people who enjoyed the show put on by Sally Langwah. She started the show by performing several songs and browsed through the audience to sing to everyone. She tried to get as many people as possible.

The songs were done to perfection and it was quite enjoyable. Langwah also performed the soundtrack from The Great Gatsby called "What'll I Do" while she danced with a gentleman from the audience. It brought back memo-

Above and top: Formerly tennis courts, the pickleball courts at Betmar Acres are filled with players every morning.

"It's more organized now," she said of the increasingly popular league. "No. 1, there's more players. The Ladder League just makes it more interesting and a whole lot more competitive. I like the competition."

With more people playing and their level of play improving as they gain more experience, the league is more competitive now than it has ever been. Among the state-ranked players from Betmar is Barb Kerr, a 64-year-old from Canada who now resides at Betmar. Last spring, she and her partner and daughter Kim, 35, won a silver medal in their division at a national tournament in Naples.

Organizers figure that sending highly competitive players to tournaments in and out of state will likely continue to be the case. Above all, however, most players, regardless of their skill level, seem to come out simply because they enjoy the sport.

"It's just the expansion of the game," said longtime club member Tom Frain, who formerly played quite a lot of tennis but now predominantly sticks with pickleball. "They like the game. It's fun. They spend less time running and they have more fun."

Fun, Jones noted, like last week during an open play session when she teamed with Judy Wheelock to take on doubles partners James St. Jean and Laraine Roberts.

While the Ladder League

takes place on Friday mornings, pickleball players come out every morning. Only Fridays, however, count in the league standings with some players coming out on a regupate occasionally.

"It's a drop-in league, so it's not a commitment that you come every Friday," Frain said.

The addition of two more courts would allow Betmar to actually host a tournament. Eight courts are required for tournament play and so far that is not an option in Zephyrhills. Along those lines, the new Sarah Vande Berg Tennis Center plans to have eight courts for pickleball. So in another year or two there could be two places in the city for pickleball tourneys.
"One of our visions for the future is to have a pickleball tournament here," said Frain, who has played in tourneys at Canadian Lakes in Michigan, where he lives in the offseason. "It expands the game and it gives the people in our club a chance to play in tournaments and see how fun they are."

Aside from Betmar and the planned courts at the new tennis facility being built off Simons Road, pickleball also is played on the tennis courts at Zephyr Park.

The $5 million project's centerpiece will be 11 outdoor tennis courts built to United States Tennis Association standards. There also will be a fitness center and café, as well as an area for physical therapy and other amenities.

Initially not part of the plans, pickleball now is being included in the construction. Nine courts, including a center court, will be part of the new facility being built adjacent to the Silverado Golf Course.

"It's a sport that's becoming huge," Vande Berg said. "It's pretty quick to pick up too."

Tom Frain, who oversees the pickleball league at Betmar Acres, is thrilled with the center's additional plans for what has become an increasingly popular sport.

"I think it's needed," said Frain, who envisions tennis and pickleball organizations unifying someday. "I think the tennis association should've embraced pickleball years ago. I'm glad they're embracing pickleball.

Fran has played tennis with Vande Berg and the late Sarah. He still plays tennis occasionally, but nowadays prefers pickleball.

Additionally, the relatively new sport of padel will be played on the new courts as well. Padel is typically played in doubles on an enclosed court a third the size of a tennis court.

Scoring is the same as normal tennis and the balls used are similar but with a little less pres-

The center, which also include a restaurant and pro shop, will be more than just an opportunity for tennis, pickleball and padel players, along with other fitness enthusiasts. It is expected to be a financial boon for the entire community, most notably in the area along Eiland Bou-

"It's going to have an economic development impact," said Vande Berg, noting that the site will bring in various tournaments, provide for high-level instruction and perhaps even lead to new businesses such as hotels and restaurants. "We're very unique. I'm not aware of any tennis center that's partnered like this."

Vande Berg noted that the project could be helped financially by a $100,000 USTA grant. The center is being built by DeLotto Construction with funding coming from Penny for Pasco, county parks and recreation fees, along with a state grant.

David Waronker, a tennis player who is close to the Vande Berg family, donated much of the land for the facility. Heading up the tennis programs will be Pascal Collard, a highly regarded coach and consultant who has worked with international stars at Saddlebrook.

SOAP UPDATE

Katelyn MacMullen stars as "Willow" on "General Hospital."

THE BOLD AND THE BEAUTIFUL

Quinn invited Shauna to Thanksgiving dinner. Douglas told Liam that he was homesick for Hope. Steffy confronted Hope about her terrible lie. Liam gave Thomas the 411 on how Hope was retiring for a while to spend time with Beth, which prompted Thomas to come up with another idea on how to win Hope's heart. Liam and Steffy continued to disagree on Thomas' level of trustworthiness. Shauna confided in Quinn that Ridge was divorcing his soulmate, Brooke. Ridge ended up presenting Brooke with an idea on how to salvage their relationship instead. Steffy warned Thomas to stay in his lane when it came to Hope. Brooke made the final call about her marriage. Wait to see: Shauna makes a declaration of love.

DAYS OF OUR LIVES

Ben tried to stop Clyde from hurting Will. Ciara broke into Xander's metal box to uncover his secret. Nicole urged Eric to forgive her. Gabi sent Eli off to Rome to thwart Chad. Abigail told "Hope" she didn't believe Eve pushed her mother. Lani revealed to Abe she made a commitment to someone. JJ was desperate to uncover Kristen's location. Rafe questioned "Hope's" odd behavior. Eric introduced Mickey to Roman and Marlena. Sarah told Xander that Eric was willing to share custody, but with one condition. Gabi and Chad went head-to-head for control over DiMera. JJ trailed Eli, hoping he would lead him to Kristen. Marlena told Eric that Mickey had a fever. Wait to see: JJ confronts Kristen about Haley's death.

GENERAL HOSPITAL

Julian made a devastating discovery. Carly's plans were suddenly cut short. Sonny gave Kristina some reassurance. Jordan finally felt content. Willow was eager to know the truth. Bobbie had some terrible news to share. Michael pressed for more information. Jax confronted Valentin. Finn worried about what to tell Violet. Jordan's findings were inconclusive. Nelle was given a new cellmate. Maxie and Lulu got caught up on each other's lives. Jason surprised Ned. Franco completed an important project. Monica clarified things with Olivia. Peter gathered up his possessions. Anna very much disagreed with Robert. Elizabeth attempted to express her gratitude. Trina helped at the gallery. Wait to see: Jax loses patience with his houseguest.

AND THE RESTLESS

Chelsea explained to Nick that she needed to move in with Connor (and Adam) because of his recurrent nightmares and trouble at school. Nick didn't blame Connor but was certain that Adam had a secret plan. Amanda quickly covered when Nate arrived while she was tracking someone through a GPS. Over at Crimson Lights, Theo shared with Summer that he wanted to move to a permanent residence and suggested that they live together. Meanwhile, Devon distracted himself with hunting down Colin. Abby received word that there had been another jewel theft at the Grand Phoenix. She later accused Phyllis of being a security threat. Nate told Amanda that he wanted to move bevond the "friend zone" with her. Wait to see: Devon struggles with a secret.

Kingdom), Doug Barron huddle up for in the indoor competition and his team SCZ Zeus was the top-ranked team in the outdoor competition.

Following quickly on the heels of the NSL events, the annual Turkey Chute competition unfolded at Skydive City. The Turkey Chute has a long history, it stretches back to 1976 and is the largest competition held at Skydive City.

"Turkey Chute is a 50-year tradition," Skydive City Co-Owner Joannie Murphy said. "The whole history of skydiving goes along with it. In the 1960s, people started to want to fall out of airplanes for fun. After a while, falling out of planes got boring, so they wanted to start something where they touch each other in the air, pass the baton. Skydivers were constantly creating scenarios to move the sport along."

Eventually, the 10-way star formation emerged, 10 divers locking wrists in a big circle. Then it was a matter of how fast could they get that formation together. In 2019, there are now 4-way, 8-way, 10-way and 16-way competitions. Skydive City has been ground zero for the emerging history of the sport.

'Zephyrhills is rich in Skydiving history,"

A simple walk through the Jerry "Bird House" at Skydive City, is almost like touring a museum of skydiving history. Each high-top table is clear-coated but underneath are newspaper articles chronicling skydiving history at Skydive City, some even from the inaugural Turkey Chute in 1976, some even publications by The Zephyrhills News. The walls are decked with newspaper articles and memorabilia. It's no wonder the event has attracted some of the top talent in the world to little Zephyrhills.

Ahead of the Turkey Chute competition are the Skillz in the Hillz camps. Top-flight instructors take on pre-formed teams of 4, 8, 10 or 16 or even consolidate individuals into teams and teach the maneuvers. Scott Latins is one of the storied instructors for the skills camps.

"Turkey Chute is a tradition in Zephyrhills and this year we brought in Doug Barron and Scott Latins, two of the most iconic divers in the country to organize skills camps," Kassas said.

Barron is truly one of the top skydivers in the world. His 4-way team, this past September, unseated a 14-year national champion at the National Skydiving Championships in North Carolina. It qualified Barron and his team for the World Championships in Siberia next summer. It's rare in any sport that moderatelyskilled athletes get instruction from the top athletes in the sport but that's just what happens at the Turkey Chute in Skydive City.

ANDY WARRENER

"When you first organize the teams, it can be daunting," Barron said. "We've been run-ning the camp for five years and there are different challenges based on where your spot in the formation is. We try to assign positions based on ability. For instance, we will put a more experienced diver in one of the more difficult positions and vice versa for a less experienced diver."

Divers have between 60 and 65 seconds to complete their maneuvers in-air. An additional diver records the exercises, much in the same way the fifth diver in the NSL competitions does. The judging is done remotely, like in the NSL competitions and the video is very important to the team. The videos are also used on practice runs and are viewed after the dives to critique and improve.

The Turkey Chute has a very long history and this facility is one of the oldest drop zones in the country," Barron said. "The event has expanded over the years and a lot of skydiving history has happened right here. It's super awe some to be a part of it."

It's a great time for elite skydivers at Skydive City. The events are also a treat for spectators as well. While the formations are done at a pretty high altitude, the groups can still be spotted with the naked eye, exiting the plane and getting into formation. With a pair of binoculars or a telescope, viewing the formations can really be a treat. In fact, the judging used to be done by looking through a telescope.

However you slice it, fall is a great time to visit Skydive Čity. If it's watching some of the top athletes in the sport perform or if it's finally time to work up that courage to jump out of a plane yourself, it's a great time of year to do it.
