ZHS softball steals extra-inning win from Anclote

Catcher Kyleigh Smith winds up for a put out.

ANDY WARRENER

It wasn't dominant and it wasn't pretty but the Bulldogs are back in the win column with a 9-8 win at Anclote on Tuesday night

BY ANDY WARRENER
 Sports Reporter

Last week was exhausting and even a bit tragic. After our last game for a 12-11 win in nine innings, the Bulldogs squared off against rival Pasco on the following Wednesday, due to a rain postponement. The Bulldogs led 7-2 through the first six innings only to give up a game-tying grand slam to Pasco's Mackenzie Petty. The Pirates would score the winning run in the bottom of the eighth.

"Last year, it was the same thing," Bulldog head coach Jarrett Myers said. "We were up on them (Pasco) both games until the last inning. That game took a lot out of us, it was gut-wrenching." It went from bad to worse the next day as the Bulldogs were mercy-ruled 12-0 by Cypress Creek. They needed to stop the skid and they had a great opportunity going up against Anclote just this past Tuesday.

The Sharks had a 2018 season they are trying to forget. They lost their first eight games by mercy-rulings and their coach quit. They forfeited the remainder of the season. In 2019, a concerned parent, Mike Morrell stepped up and took over the team. He has just three returning players from last year and the rest are new to the game. They should have been easy prey for the Bulldogs. They were not.

It's Opening Day in Dade City and Zephyrhills

Little League baseball and softball teams begin their 2019 seasons in neighboring cities

BY STEVE LEE
 Sports Reporter

Baseball and softball are in the air once again and the telltale signs were there last Saturday morning. It was the smell of freshly cut grass, the site of Little League teams being introduced on the diamonds and national anthems bringing everyone to attention.

Officially, the call of "play ball" and visions of championships brought youngsters and their families to ball fields in Dade City and Zephyrhills to kick off the 2019 season.

It all began with the first pitch. Paula O'Neil, the clerk and comptroller for Pasco County, tossed a softball at John S. Burks Memorial Park in Dade City. O'Neil, who played softball at Missouri State, brought her granddaughter Abby to the mound to lend support.

Matt Mohler, Dade City's scorekeeping director and senior softball coach who also works in IT for the county, asked O'Neil if she would throw out the first pitch: "I know Paula played college softball, so I asked her."

"I was honored. I love softball and baseball," said O'Neil, a lifelong St. Louis Cardinals fan.

Nine miles away, Zephyrhills Police Chief Derek Brewer threw out a baseball at Samuel W. Pasco Athletic Complex. Brewer grew up in New Hampshire playing Little League and American Legion baseball.

"First of all it was a huge honor to be asked to do it," he said. "To see all the kids and parents and sponsors in the community — that's what I enjoyed seeing."

As for the pitch, Brewer commented, "It was a little bit high and tight, but I didn't bounce it."

In Dade City, besides introducing the 28 teams and nearly 400 players league officials recognized Hiedi Perez, public relations and uniforms director who received a plaque of appreciation from league president Amy Gant. Another individual drawing attention was Ben Aquillera, who got to umpire for the

Strategies to reduce young athletes' injury risk

Sports can make a profound impact on the life of a young person. Stanford Children's Health, a Bay Area-based pediatric and obstetric health care system that offers comprehensive clinical services, notes that children who participate in sports experience a range of physical, emotional and interpersonal benefits.

Improved vision, a reduced risk of obesity, the development of motor skills, and the development of social skills are just a handful of the many ways kids can benefit from sports. Athletes' parents typically recognize such benefits, but that likely doesn't prevent them from being concerned about the children's risk of suffering sports-related physical injuries, particularly for young athletes who compete in contact sports. While it's impossible to eliminate the risk of injury entirely, regardless of which sports kids play, there are some strategies athletes and their parents can take to reduce that risk.

- Make sure young athletes get their physicals. Recreational and scholastic sports leagues typically require athletes to get physicals before they're allowed to compete. Kids who participate in more loosely organized leagues should get a physical before each season even if the league does not require them to do so. These examinations can uncover problems such as irregular heartbeat that may make kids vulnerable to injury or illness. When these issues are discovered, athletes, their parents, their physicians, and their coaches can then work together to develop a plan to protect kids without preventing them from participating in their favorite sports.

- Open and maintain a dialogue with coaches before and throughout the season. Safe Kids Worldwide, a nonprofit organization that works to help families and communities keep kids safe from injuries, recommends parents meet with coaches before the first practice of the season to inform them of a child's medical history with asthma or other medical conditions that require special attention. If kids develop nagging injuries during a season, whether it's during competition or not, parents should report them to the coach directly, as kids may be hesitant to do so on their own.

- Warm up and stretch before games. Many coaches are fully aware of the importance of warming up and stretching before games. But parents can still keep an eye out to make sure kids do this prior to competition, as Safe Kids Worldwide notes warming up and stretching helps to prevent sports-related injuries by releasing muscle tension before kids begin physical activity.

- Encourage young athletes to hydrate and stay hydrated throughout competition. The NCAA notes that the consequences of dehydration are severe and can include increased core temperature and heart rate, decreased blood pressure, nausea and vomiting, general fatigue, headaches, and muscle cramps.

Hydrating before competition and staying hydrated throughout a game can help athletes maximize their performance and minimize their risk of injury and muscle cramps.

Young athletes benefit greatly from participating in sports. Parents and coaches can help kids capitalize on those benefits by encouraging them to employ various strategies designed to reduce their risk of injury.

Irish night at Grand Horizons

By HELENE RUBENSTEIN

Approximately 90 people, residents and guests, met in the Grand Horizons Community Center on Feb. 16 to see a show put on by Cahal Dunne, "Ireland's Happy Man." This was one terrific show that included many types of music and several songs.

Before each song was performed, Dunne told a small story of how it came about. Some were touching stories that really got to you while others were cute and snappy. He started off with a country Irish tart and song complete with a dance step. His first song that he performed on his white piano was entitled "Mary, Did you know." He did a beautiful job on this song complete with little antics of expression.

During the evening he did several more including a country song by George Strait called "I Just Want to Dance with You" and this included some audience participation while he played it on the piano. He then told us a story, which was quite touching, about a "special" student named Sara. As he told the story, chills ran up and down my body. Everyone was quiet as they listened to the story.

He then proceeded to sing the song called "An Angel for Sara." In the song he related precisely what he told the audience in the story about a teacher stating that Sara was "special."

One of the cute and funny songs was entitled "On the Internet" which was priceless the way it was presented. By this I mean he had expressions that spoke volumes. Everyone in the audience had quite a chuckle.

When he first started the show, he was wearing a lovely jacket with blue and at this moment he changed to a green jacket. He then proceeded to sing "The Galway Girl" that was originally by Steve Earle. He not only played the piano but also the flute and, once again, with intermittently good antics. This was a lovely song and the audience definitely showed their appreciation.

There was one real cute moment where he sang "The Pheasant Plucker" with no music but the song had us in stitches. Also performed was "Danny Boy" while he played on the piano and sang the song. It was a fantastic performance.

The audience went wild and loved the entire performance. He put on one last jacket and this was a patriotic jacket and sang the song called "The Journey" which was a song of life. Also, he had a drawing and one lucky person got their choice of either a CD or a book.

Everyone went home in a great mood after 2 hours and 10 minutes with a slight break in the middle.

Saint Leo University's Paws of Love organization donates 135 leashes

Saint Leo University's Paws of Love volunteers celebrated the donation of 135 lasso leashes to Pasco County Animal Services, along with animal services' office dog, Olivia. PHOTOS BY BENJAMIN WATERS, SAINT LEO UNIVERSITY

Saint Leo University helps all creatures, great and small, and its Paws of Love organization was founded to help rescued and sheltered animals while protecting the environment.

On Feb. 26, Paws of Love organizers and volunteers celebrated the completion of one of its missions by presenting Pasco County Animal Services with 135 lasso leashes to be used at the county's Land O' Lakes shelter. Assistant director Spencer Conover and members of the animal services staff, along with office dog Olivia, accepted the leashes.

The office of student affairs started the project in the summer and during new student orientation on Aug. 20, freshmen, transfer students, and others made healthy no-bake dog treats; assembled first aid kits for pets; and created braided dog toys from recycled T-shirts. The Lions tennis teams donated tennis balls to be used for pet toys.

The treats and toys were donated to the Humane Society of Pasco, Pasco County Animal Services, DC Dogos and Destiny for Dogs to sell and some items will be sold by Paws of Love to those in the community. In addition, Paws of Love collected monetary donations.

"We raised more than $700 for the leashes for Pasco County Animal Services, and we were able to buy a microchip reader for another rescue group," said Heidi D'Ambrosio, executive assistant to the vice president of student affairs.

The goal was to purchase enough of the leashes so that each kennel at Pasco County Animal Services will have its own leash. Prior to receiving the donation from Saint Leo and Paws of Love, kennel volunteers would have to wait to take dogs for a walk if others were using the leashes that were available.

"If 10 volunteers are there, they have to wait until someone is done," D'Ambrosio said. "Now, the leashes will allow more dogs to be exercised at the same time, enabling each dog to receive time outdoors," she added.

Paws of Love benefited from the work of many. Students (and faculty and staff) helped create cat trees and other items during National Make a Difference Day in October, while students in the Fall 1 Semester's Interdisciplinary Approaches: Service and Therapy Animals course helped make dog treats and toys.

Saint Leo University's Counseling Services offers Puppies and Pizza twice a semester—once just before midterms and again just before finals week—and students not only had the opportunity to cuddle with a dog, but they also could create items for Paws of Love.

True to the university's core values, Paws of Love not only helps other creatures and the community, but also "upcycles" items that would go in landfills. By using old T-shirts and tennis balls to make the pet toys, Paws of Love is helping the environment.

"It really shows that we can make a difference together," D'Ambrosio said.

More than 150 students have participated in Paws of Love. Volunteers, fraternity and sorority members, the student government union, and others are doing community service and creating items or volunteering at shelters. They will be finishing cat trees that will be donated to Pasco County Animal Services. In addition, Paws of Love will be at Dogs' Day in Dade City on March 16, to sell items. The event will be held from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. in Agnes Lamb Park, 14200 Ninth St. Money raised will go to Pasco Animal Services and other rescues to help more animals.

Olivia, the office dog, at Pasco County Animal Services, visited Saint Leo University on Feb. 26 to receive a donation of leashes from Paws of Love.

Southeast Regionals in Georgia last summer.

Also recognized was the 2018 senior softball all-star team that went on to win District 25 and Section 4 championships before finishing third in the state tournament. That squad was coached by Kayla Carter.

In all, four — two baseball and two softball — of seven all-star teams from last season captured district championships. The 9-11 softball team also advanced to the state level, but did not crack the top three.

At the Zephyrhills ballfields, youngsters were eager to get in their first games following the fanfare and pageantry of opening day ceremonies.

For 12-year-old Vincent Contreras, who plays in the Majors Division for Jacob's Heating and Cooling, the best part about opening day was "probably just meeting up with all the kids."

A new addition in Zephyrhills for this season is the Challenger Division, which is part of a national program for developmentally and physically challenged youth.

"It's super awesome," said Jade Locascio, whose 6-year-old son Liam plays in that division. "It gives him a really good opportunity to be around other kids."

On a neighboring field, t-ballers got their first taste of the game by taking turns hitting a ball off a tee before crowding the infield with their gloves at the ready.

Just west of Zephyrhills and Dade City, Wesley Chapel got a head start on its youth baseball and softball program by hosting Opening Night on a Friday. That organization, based at Wesley Chapel District Park, fields teams in the Babe Ruth League.

Tossing out the first pitch for baseball on Friday was former Orestes Destrade, a former Florida Marlins first baseman, who also played for the New York Yankees and Pittsburgh Pirates. Now, he is a color analyst for the Tampa Bay Rays.

Throwing out the first pitch for softball was Wesley Chapel High pitcher Jordan Almasy, who spent seven years playing on youth softball teams at the Wesley Chapel fields and has committed to the University of Central Florida.

American paratroopers, spent Friday-Sunday jumping and training to be part of the upcoming commemoration of the 75th anniversary of D-Day on June 6.

Aside from jumping early each morning, the paratroopers worked on ground skills, most notably rigging and packing their parachutes in the watchful eyes of Derek Thomas, owner of Elite Rigging Academy at the airport.

The primary advice he imparted on a group of paratroopers working on their packing Saturday afternoon was "Don't die." Although Thomas said that jokingly, it was a serious message nonetheless.

Teaming up to rig their chutes at the academy were Nick Brainard and Peter Sotos.

"This is my chute I'm rigging, so hopefully I'm doing it right," said Sotos, president of the battalion.

The age of the jumpers from the battalion ranges between 47 and 71. Charles Oliver, who is 59 and this past weekend had his first jump in 33 years, described it as "the most perfect jump I ever had."

To commemorate Operation Overlord in 1944, during which American and allied paratroopers dropped behind enemy lines ahead of the amphibious assault on the French beachhead, more than 300 veterans will parachute into Normandy this June 5. The jump is to commemorate the sacrifices of those who willingly risked their lives to ensure freedom in Europe.

"It's just like a dream come true," Brainard said. "We're being able to pay homage to the trailblazers."

The danger of that mission is not lost on Sotos, who said, "Nobody knew if paratroopers were going to be successful. They were guinea pigs."

The paratroopers will be jumping out of C-47s, which basically will follow the same route taken in World War II with jumps taking place in Ranville, France.

"You're jumping out of a piece of history," Ted Boatright said.

Chris Stephens feels good about bringing some notoriety to the paratroopers of days gone by.

"It's all about the vets, the ones that are still alive," he said. "They're going to be sitting there watching us."

Pilot Jim Pearson, who will be flying one of the planes, also takes pride in being part of the historical event, something he knows a thing or two about. He piloted an airplane in Dunnellon that in late February had a record 39 static-line jumpers from Dunnellon.

"They say it's going to be the last big one," Pearson said of the D-Day commemorations.

On hand for advice and to lend support were members of the Phantom Airborne Brigade, an elite static line display team consisting of veterans, active-duty paratroopers and special forces. Many of its members have jumped at numerous historical sites, including Normandy.

"We did that every year," Neil Parkin said of an annual jump to commemorate D-Day. "It's pretty exciting for these guys. It's pretty exciting for these guys who haven't done it before."

Like many paratroopers who get a first-hand glimpse of history at Normandy, Parkin recollected how visiting the graveyards of U.S. troops and allies left an indelible impression.

"When you first go in the graveyard the whole graveyard is immaculate," he said. "The local (Dutch) kids get a graveyard to look after. That gets you. It's phenomenal. They still appreciate history. They never forget."

HOW TO WRITE A GOOD CLASSIFIED AD

Make the heading short - a short heading should have 2 to 4 words and will capture the reader's attention without clutter and confusion.

Start your ad with the merchandise you are selling - starting with the merchandise makes it easier for the reader to locate your item(s) for sale.

Always include the price of the item you are selling - 52% of classified readers do not respond to ads that do not include a price.

Make it easy for readers to understand - abbreviations and technical terms are sometimes difficult for readers to comprehend.

Place yourself in the reader's position - ask what you would like to know about the merchandise for sale. Include information such as brand names, colors and other specific descriptions.

Always include contact information - including your phone number will give the readers confidence that your item is legitimate and give them the option of contacting you for more information.

Reward enhancement for information in the murder of Carlos Saint Louis

The Pasco Sheriff's Office, in coordination with Crime Stoppers of Tampa Bay and the Florida Sheriff's Association, is seeking information leading to the identity and arrest of suspect(s) in the February 2019 murder of Carlos Saint Louis, who was found in Zephyrhills.

Crime Stoppers of Tampa Bay is offering a reward of up to $3,000 for information that leads to the identification and arrest of the unknown suspect(s) involved in the homicide of Carlos Saint Louis. In partnership with the Florida Sheriff's Association, Crime Stoppers of Tampa Bay received enhanced reward funding of $5,000 that is also being offered for information leading to the identification and arrest of the unknown suspect(s) involved in this case.

Anyone with any information regarding the identity of the suspect(s) and who wants to be eligible for a cash reward is asked to call Crime Stoppers at (800) 873-TIPS (8477), report anonymously online at www.crimestoppersfb.com, or send a mobile tip using the P3 Tips Mobile application. Crime Stoppers must be contacted first in order to be eligible for both rewards being offered.

Pasco Sheriff's Office hopes offering this enhanced reward will encourage the public to provide additional information necessary to solve this homicide and locate Saint Louis's vehicle.

There are billboards, posted in conjunction with the FBI, that include Saint Louis's photo and picture of his vehicle. The vehicle is a 4-door 2015 Chevrolet Sonic with the Florida tag, EQS W64 and was last seen by toll plaza cameras on the Polk Parkway in central Florida.

Pasco Sheriff's Office appreciates the assistance of the other agencies and hopes it leads to a resolution in the murder of Carlos Saint Louis.

March Madness Adoption Event at Pasco County Animal Services

Come make your pick and meet your match with reduced adoption fees on March 9

Meet your match at the Pasco County Animal Services (PCAS) March Madness Adoption Event is March 9. Cat adoption fees are waived, courtesy of a donation by the Passantino family, and dog adoptions are reduced to $25. All adoptable pets are spayed/neutered, micro-chipped and vaccinated.

Visitors can enjoy vendor offerings and shop the tag sale for a variety of donated, pre-owned items from 12 to 4 p.m.

Tag sale funds benefit Friends of Animal Services in their support of PCAS enriching the lives, health and welfare of sheltered animals.

OneBlood will also be on site until 4 p.m., providing blood donors with free lunch and a giveaway item. Take advantage of a wellness check-up that includes blood pressure, temperature, iron count, pulse and cholesterol screening.

Don't miss this opportunity to give a four-legged friend a forever home.

SOAP UPDATE

William deVry stars as "Julian" on "General Hospital"

THE BOLD AND THE BEAUTIFUL

Wyatt and Flo reminisced about their past relationship. Zoe planned a romantic evening for Xander. Wyatt invited Flo, Liam and Hope to dinner at his house. Xander tried to get more information out of Zoe about Reese. Flo and Hope immediately recognized each other. Wyatt was stunned to learn that Flo lied to him about having children. Zoe and Xander expressed their love for one another. Steffy told her mother that Hope was pushing Liam away and back into her arms. Zoe panicked when she saw a photo of Flo and Hope together online. Wracked with guilt, Flo encouraged Hope to try to have another child. Meanwhile, Hope was blown away that Flo was Wyatt's high school girlfriend and Phoebe's birth mother. Wait to see: Thomas returns from New York City.

DAVE OF OUR LIVES

Rafe confronted Ted about making a play for his wife. Tripp hid Haley at the loft. Rex pressed Eric to persuade Sarah to accept his marriage proposal. Chloe found evidence that someone may be watching her. Marlena confronted John about Leo's paternity secret. Will and Sonny broke into Diana's hotel room to look for ammunition against Leo. Rex confronted a man with a gun who appeared to be stalking Chloe. Sarah was torn about what to do about Rex's proposal. Stefan told Chloe that he had feelings for her. Brady pressured Gabi to team up with him to take down Stefan. Jennifer was upset to learn that Jack was running for mayor. John broke into Diana's safe. Wait to see: Leo learns that John is his father.

GENERAL HOSPITAL

Jason was very troubled. Meanwhile, Laura felt hopeful. Liz waited and waited. Drew received an interesting text. Kristina got the attention she craved. Jason sought out Julian. Curtis had some heart-breaking news. Kevin asked for help. Kim got an alarming phone call. Cameron was put on the spot. Ava was stunned at what she had learned. Jason was desperate to find Carly. Lulu reconciled her memories. Sonny received an ominous message. Kevin had everything mapped out. Jason was too late. Julian put Alexis through the wringer. Sam told Kristina about her interaction with Daisy. Liz had some enormous issues to overcome. Wait to see: Ava is a mess.

THE YOUNG AND THE RESTLESS

Lola was in need of a lifesaving liver donation. In court, Michael badgered Mariah with questions about Tessa, but Brittany stepped in so that Mariah could keep her secret. Phyllis then arrived, promising a disbelieving Nick that she would do everything she could to protect his family. Summer learned that she was a potential match for Lola's organ donation. Knowing what leverage that held, Summer told Kyle she was too scared to go through with the surgery. Nick insisted that his relationship with Phyllis was truly over. Wait to see: The Newman women await sentencing.

FREE Educational Seminar and Catered Lunch!

Hearing Loss is No Joke!
And it's not "selective hearing."
It's a communication loss that affects you and those around you.

Those with untreated hearing loss...
... are 5 times more likely to develop dementia
... are 3 times more likely to fall
... have diminished quality of life

You should attend if you or a loved one...
... hear, but it's not clear, especially in noise (restaurants, parties, etc.)
... play the TV at a volume too loud for others
... often ask people to repeat themselves, or just pretend you understood.
... avoid certain social situations because you can't follow the conversation

You will learn...
... why you hear, but it's not clear (especially in noise.)
... the affects of untreated hearing loss
... how today's technology can help restore your quality of life!

and kept the Bulldogs on their heels most of the night.

"She (Stephens) controlled the game with her pitching," Myers said. "Our girls have to take the bats off their shoulders."

The Bulldogs got on the board in the second inning when Madison Pysher scored on a wild pitch after walking and stealing second and third. They added to the lead in the third inning when Kyleigh Smith scored on an error. April Lorton drove in Hayley Myers after Myers singled to right but a 3-6 double play ended the top half of the inning.

The Sharks rose to the occasion and scored three runs to tie the game. Jaiden White hit a two-run single to left before the Bulldogs could get out of the inning. The Bulldogs took the lead again in the fifth inning when Pysher grounded out with Lorton at third. Lorton had come aboard with a lead-off double and made it to third on a single from Clarissa Hoffman.

The Sharks hit right back. By now, Myers had tapped reliever Amberlyn Davis to pitch. In the bottom fifth, the Sharks plated two runs courtesy of hits from Stephens and White. They now led 5-4 and gloom and doom began to seep into the Zephyrhills dugout.

"We needed a win tonight," Myers said. "Unfortunately, we played undisciplined."

Finally, the Bulldogs broke through with a strong inning. In the top sixth, Gisele Navarra reached on an error. Aleah Killebrew walked and the pair executed a double steal, setting up a second-and-third situation with no outs for Kyleigh Smith. Smith singled to left, driving in both runs. The Bulldogs loaded the bases with no outs but only managed to cash in two more runs off an error. Nevertheless, it put them up 8-5 and infused new life into the dugout.

"We finally woke up," Myers said. "It took six innings to get there. We need to learn how to flip a switch and stay on for a whole game."

The lead wouldn't hold. In the bottom seventh, the Sharks got three runs back to knot the game at 8-8 and send it to extra innings. In the eighth inning, Lorton hit a lead-off single and quickly stole second. Hoffman batted her in but was caught in a rundown for the third out.

The Bulldogs clung to a 9-8 lead into the bottom eighth. A strike out from Davis and two put outs from Lorton, having moved to third base from first, finally put the game on ice.

"We've got to work on team discipline this week," Myers said.

The Sharks were encouraged, even though they came away with a 9-8 loss.

"I'm proud of the way we competed tonight," Morrell said. "We didn't give up."

A bit of a pyrrhic win but at least it gets the Bulldogs back in the win column after a two-game slide. The night was not without bright spots. Second baseman Samantha Hines made two diving catches for outs.

"That was pretty exciting," Myers said. "She (Hines) worked really hard in practice yesterday."

Lorton reached base safely in all five at-bats Tuesday night, finishing 3-for-3 with a double, an RBI, a walk and three runs scored. Davis, in relief, went six complete innings, serving up six strike outs and walking four.

"This is a young and inexperienced team," Myers said. "Our starting pitchers are a freshman and a sophomore. We need discipline on the field and at the plate."

The Bulldogs face off against Wesley Chapel this Thursday before getting five days off prior to traveling to River Ridge. They'll get another shot at Pasco on March 15.
