Pasco Sheriff's Mounted Posse and Healing Horses, a match made in heaven

The two equine-based non-profits have forged a promising partnership

By ANDY WARRENER
News Reporter

It started with a phone call in February, 2010. Beverly Levitt was not too far removed from a bout with cancer and had only recently lost her husband Daniel to lingering effects from exposure to Agent Orange in Vietnam. She'd been forced to give up a long-time passion: horses.

"I had to give up the horses," Levitt said. "I was busy working and my life changed when my husband died."

Yet, on that fateful February, Levitt could have no idea she was about to get back into the saddle. Her son, Travis, was working a remodeling job and the property owner had some horses, they said wanted some pasture to share.

"I'm not one to turn down any horses that need grass," Levitt said.

And so the conversation went that the property owner had six horses she was looking to board or just share grazing pasture. It sounded pretty innocuous at first. Then, six months later, they setup the meeting. The property owner brought just three horses the night before the prescribed meeting day.

"Even in the dark, I could tell they were in bad shape," Levitt said.

The next morning, the property owner brought eight more horses.

"She brought one bin of feed and one bail of hay for all 11 animals," Levitt said. "They (horses) were in horrid condition. One horse, Moonlight, was so thin you could count every bone. She was leaning on the gate, barely alive."

Mask ban lifted in Pasco County

Schools, courthouses and hospitals retain mask requirements despite executive order from county administrator

By STEVE LEE
News Reporter

A mandate to wear face coverings in Pasco County, initiated in June of 2020 as an effort to combat spreading the coronavirus, has been rescinded somewhat but not completely.

On April 5, an executive order from the Pasco County Administrator's office came down declaring masks would no longer be required. The order was due, in part, to lower COVID-19 hospitalization rates and a recent increase in vaccinations against the virus.

Among county residents 65 and older, 70 percent have been vaccinated with an additional 57 percent of 50 and older receiving at least one dose of the vaccine. Now, all state residents are eligible for vaccination shots at such places as retail pharmacies, hospitals and doctor's offices.

Nonetheless, wearing masks, maintaining social distancing and frequent hand-washing are recommended until further notice. The county also recommends wearing masks indoors.

"Increasingly, Pasco County residents are getting vaccinated and we're seeing fewer people with severe COVID-19 symptoms in area hospitals," said Dan Biles, the county's administrator. "It's the right time to relax the face covering requirement in Pasco County."

Biles noted that while the mask mandate has been lifted, certain companies or locales have the option of deciding policy at their own discretion.

"Local businesses have the authority to require customers to wear face masks," he said, adding, "The county supports the continued efforts to reduce the spread of the virus."

Not everyone, however, is on board with lifting the face covering ban. Masks remain required on public transportation, in county schools and at the main courthouses in Dade City and New Port Richey. There are other locales as well, such as hospitals and other businesses.

For now, schools at every grade level in the county still require masks to be worn on

Thank you notes written by Zephyrhills JROTC cadets

Local students address heartfelt letters to honor U.S. military members on Vietnam Veteran's Day

By STEVE LEE
News Reporter

Perhaps it is not often enough that someone comes into contact with a current or former member of the U.S. military and thanks them for their service to our country. The Zephyrhills JROTC unit recently took those warm sentiments to another level.

As part Vietnam Veteran's Day, the high school cadets wrote heartfelt thank you letters and made a video to one group in particular. The letters were dropped off to the residents of the Baldomero Lopez Memorial Veterans Nursing Home in Land O' Lakes.

"They loved it. A lot of guys had tears in their eyes," nursing home activity director Johanna Snee said of the residents' reactions to the video and thank you letters. "They thought it was really nice for people to remember them. We were able to show (the video) on every TV and in small groups."

Writing the letters was among several activities the cadets have experienced during the 2020-21 academic year. Among other events and projects were retiring flags at Oakside Cemetery and testing to renew the local JROTC's accreditation.

Sgt. Michael Smith delivered letters to Julie Sanchez and Kim Wolfe of Seasons Hospice & Palliative Care.

The lady never came back and Levitt called the Pasco Sheriff's Office to report the abuse. No arrests were made and no charges filed. The horses were, after all, now in the care of Levitt. However, the call would plant the seed of a support network that has sustained Healing Horses for the last 11 years. Veterinarian Steve Miller with Blue Skies Equine helped Levitt nurse the horses back to health. Mystic Acres in Brooksville helped when Levitt couldn't take in any more abused or neglected horses.

It would not be long before benefactors, Dr. Wendy Rice and Helen Rich, emerged and helped Levitt start a non-profit and connect to funding sources. The notion to use the rescues as therapy horses came about as Levitt was caring for her granddaughter Alexis, who is severely handicapped. A phone call with Dr. Rice ended with Rice saying, "You're going to use them for kids, aren't you?" The notion was already fixed in Levitt's mind. She began to bring in special needs children to bond with and also care for the rescued horses. That expanded into teens looking for community service hours for Bright Futures scholarships. That expanded into Healing Horses reaching out to the terminally ill. Levitt remembers Roger Kennedy and how her rescue "Moe" took a shine to him.

"Moe had been through a lot," Levitt said. "But when Roger would come up on his electric scooter, they'd be waiting at the fence for him. Moe would follow him to the playground. It extended his (Kennedy's) life and when he finally did pass, it took Moe a month to get over it."

Time marched on. Levitt would end up losing her son and then took full custody of Alexis. Eight Hundred horses would come in and be adopted out until 2021. Moonlight, now 29 years old, is still around and Healing Horses was discovered by the Pasco Sheriff's Mounted Posse, also a non-profit entity.

"I joined the posse about two-and-a-half years ago and we were already donating to Healing Horses," president of Pasco Sheriff's Mounted Posse Petra Squires said. "I'm a horse owner myself, two rescues, so I was naturally drawn to Healing Horses."

Pasco Sheriff's Mounted Posse VP Marnie Bennett is also a horse owner.

"We were looking for worthy causes to support and we found one," Bennett said.

The mounted posse donates to other non-profits like Hospice and works parking coordination at public events to raise funds. They have a special place in their hearts and pocketbooks for a place like Healing Horses.

"They (mounted posse) actually care," Levitt said. "What they do for people like us is just amazing."

There are always needs at Healing Horses. The population swells and contracts as rescues come in and adoptees go out. Development around the property and tree damage from Hurricane Irma in 2017 felled several pine trees on the property, taking large sections of fence down with them. Levitt is currently working on a new section of fence, taken out by a 140-foot pine tree, that would open up another section of her property to equine activity. That's where the mounted posse comes in. With rolls of wire fence and pressure-treated posts already laying about, the mounted posse issued Levitt and Healing Horses a check to help with the labor costs of installing the fence.

"What we do and what Healing Horses does are directly related," Squires said. "And we try to donate to the underdogs."

Healing Horses "One Child at a Time" Inc. is a 501(c)(3) non-profit, located off of Old Pasco Road in Wesley Chapel. To learn more check out their website at: <https://healinghorsesonechildatotime.com/>.

Pasco County Parks plans for modified 2021 Summer Day Camp

Online camp registration begins April 10 at select sites, space is limited

Pasco County Parks, Recreation and Natural Resources (PRNR) is planning to host a modified 2021 Summer Day Camp program due to the COVID-19 pandemic. Registration is online only. Pasco County residents can register for the full seven-week program April 10, 10 a.m. and for the full and partial programs April 12, 10 a.m. Non-Pasco County residents and county residents can register for any remaining Summer Day Camp spaces beginning April 17, 10 a.m.

Pasco Parks 2021 Summer Day Camp is June 14-July 30, 9a.m.-5:30 p.m. for children ages 5-13 and children ages 7-13 at Jay B. Starkey Nature Center.

Expect to see these best practices to protect our campers and team members:

- Children's temperature taken daily before being accepted into camp
- Sign in / check out at your vehicle
- Reduced camper-to-staff ratios / group intermingling to promote social distancing
- Increased sanitizing of facilities and equipment
- Face coverings required for staff and campers
- For seamless enrollment, be sure to create or update your on-line account ahead of registration by visiting: bit.ly/PascoCreateAccount.
- For more information, including a list of locations, camp capacities, costs and financial assistance, visit, bit.ly/PascoSummerCamp or call (813) 929-1229.
- Please note camp is subject to cancellation based on several factors related to the pandemic. Refunds will be available for any PRNR-initiated cancellations.

campuses and in district offices. That goes for students, staff and visitors alike.

Pasco School Superintendent Kurt Browning, who last year had his own bout with COVID-19, wasted little time in responding to the ease of restrictions by the county administrator by recording a video posted on the school board's web site.

"I cannot in good conscience abandon our health and safety protocols at this time," he said in a press release from the school board offices. "Our protocols have helped to prevent, and certainly reduce, the spread of COVID-19 among our students and staff."

The authority of Pasco Schools to require masks is dependent on whether or not Governor DeSantis' Executive Order is extended beyond the expiration date of April 26. If the Executive Order is not extended, the district will have no choice but to make masks optional.

The Center for Disease Control and Prevention continues to recommend wearing of masks in schools as Florida remains under an emergency order until April 26. That order could be extended by Governor Ron DeSantis, who for the most part has supported business openings and in-school teaching during the pandemic while promoting a seniors first agenda for the vaccine rollout.

Steve Hegarty, a school district spokesman, reported that positive cases of COVID-19 among students and staff decreased significantly since January. There was, however, an increase in March, likely related to spring break. Still, he noted the increases were below the number of positive cases reported earlier this year.

As for the AdventHealth hospitals in Zephyrhills, Dade City and Wesley Chapel, masks and social distancing will remain in effect for now.

"Wearing a mask is one of the most selfless acts you can do to protect yourself and others in public," said Robin McGuinness, senior executive officer of patient outcomes for AdventHealth's West Florida Division. "We encourage everyone to get vaccinated if they are eligible and to continue to social distance, cover their mouths and nose and sanitize hands frequently to lower the number of people contracting COVID-19."

SALOME'S STARS ★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) It isn't always easy for the rambunctious Aries to give a second thought to their often spur-of-the-moment choices. But aspects favor rechecking a decision before declaring it final.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Information emerges for the business-driven Bovine who feels ready to restart a stalled project. Be prepared to make adjustments as needed at any time during the process.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) Part of you wants to complete plans for an upcoming event, while your other self wants to see how things develop first. Compromise by moving ahead with your plans while being open to change.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) An unexpected change in a relationship could open up a problem or could lead to a much-needed and too-long-delayed reassessment of a number of matters. The choice is yours to make.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) Time for the Lion to total the plusses and minuses resulting from recent personal and/or professional decisions. See what worked, what didn't and why, and base your next big move on the results.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) The clever Virgo can make persuasion work by presenting a case built on hard facts. Sentiment might touch the heart, but it's good, solid information that invariably wins the day.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) You usually can win over the most stubborn skeptics on your own. But this time you can benefit from supporters who have been there, done that and are willing to speak up on your behalf.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) You win admiration for your determination to do the right thing. Don't be distracted from that course, despite the offer of tempting alternatives that might suddenly turn up.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) While you still need to maintain control of a dominant situation, a new development emerges, making the task easier and the outcome potentially more rewarding.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) New factors might have a positive effect on a stillpending matter, but only if the information proves to be credible. Trusted colleagues might be able to offer needed advice.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) The week favors moderation, especially if a health problem is involved. Resist the impulse to do more than might be good for you at this time. You can catch up later.

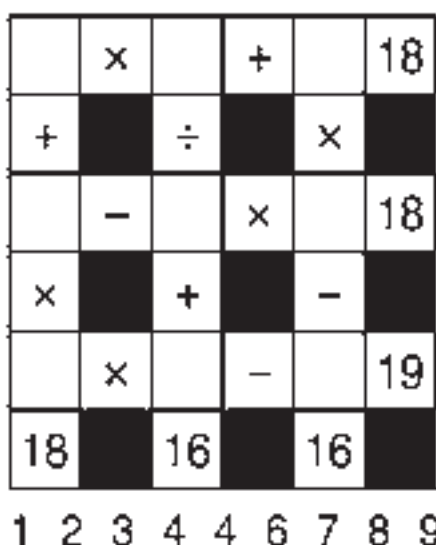

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) You could feel more than a mite upset by someone or some people who might be creating problems for you. Find out why they won't change their ways. Their reasons might surprise you.

BORN THIS WEEK: You know how to inspire others to do their best by setting a persuasive example of your own.

FRAMED! Hidden in the above frame of letters is the first line of a famous nursery rhyme. You can find it by reading every other letter in the frame as you read around it clockwise. The trick is to find the correct letter to start with. The picture is a clue.

A NUTTY CHALLENGE! Tell your friends that you have in your hand something that no one on earth has ever seen, and that after you show it to them no one will ever see it again. When they try to figure out what you're holding, open your hand and show them a peanut shell. Open the shell and show them the peanuts inside. No one has ever seen them before. Now pop them into your mouth and chew them up. No one will ever see them again!

WAKE UP! No sleeping on the one. In this puzzle, all of the words get progressively longer, and they all end in COT. Use the following definitions:

1. COT (in place).
2. Native of Glasgow.
3. A broad scarf.
4. Symbol of a sports team.
5. A yellow-orange fruit.
6. Paneling on walls.

Leadership Pasco looking for 2022 Class

Leadership Pasco has announced that it will be having a Class of 2022, with an application deadline of May 15, 2021.

Sgt. Michael Smith, who along with Sgt. Jimmy McAuley oversees the JROTC program at Zephyrhills, expressed pride in talking about the cadets' most recent community effort. In Smith's assessment, the cadets continue to go above and beyond.

"I'm always surprised by the kids," he said. "They're starting to learn that they want to give back to the troops who served, not just the ones you see walking around in uniform but the ones that people have forgotten."

Notably, Smith added, men and women who served in Korea and Vietnam. While Smith did not serve his country in those or any other wars he did spend served 20 years in the U.S. Army as an engineer and recruiter before coming to Zephyrhills to head up the JROTC program.

Smith and McAuley were initially contacted by hospice worker Julie Sanchez, a volunteer manager at Seasons Hospice & Palliative Care, to be part of the March 29 event. The JROTC cadets were among hundreds of community members coming together for a joint thank you to veterans at the Land O' Lakes nursing home.

"The Crusaders do volunteer work in the community," Smith said of the branch of JROTC cadets that took part in the letter writing and video. "They wrote letters (to the veterans) and gave them Bulldog (drinking) glasses."

In recent weeks, Sanchez also collected gifts such as 150 hand-sewn bears, dozens of hand-painted crafts and thank-you videos from community members.

With the coronavirus pandemic limiting visitors and contact with people from the outside for most of the past year, the veterans lacked the socialization they normally received in previous years. Dawn Bergamo, assistant activity director at Baldomero Lopez Memorial, noted that the letter writing and video could not have come at a better time for the veterans.

"It means a lot, because during the coronavirus pandemic we had to do a lot of one-on-ones," she said of limited contact with others from the outside. "Now, little by little, we're getting back to normal."

Like the residents and nursing home staff, the kind gesture from the JROTC students was not lost on Marlies Sarrett, administrator of the facility that was established in 1999 and lists nearly 100 residents.

"This was a great opportunity to have our community support our veterans locally," she said. "It brightens their day."
