Look back to 1992

The Zephyrhills News continues a summer series of looking back to days gone by. This week we venture back 20 years ago to the summer of 1992

By STEVE LEE
News Reporter

Perhaps a few people in the city and outlying areas of east Pasco County who were around back then could recall a few significant stories in the summer of 1992. Specifically, the July 16 issue of The Zephyrhills News.

That's when five significant stories adorned the front page of the hometown community newspaper that dates back to 1911 and remains one of the last major weekly publications in the Sunshine State.

In the top story above the fold and on display in the numerous racks around town, the Geiger family, longtime residents, was featured. It told of Elizabeth Geiger replacing her husband on the city council with former mayor James Bailey administering the oath of office. John Geiger had resigned to run for the newly created District 61 seat in the Florida House of Representatives.

Elizabeth Geiger, who previously had lobbied in Tallahassee for education issues, praised the city's efforts concerning the local airport, Zephyr Haven Nursing Home and addressing traffic concerns on U.S. 301. She vowed to continue helping those and other local efforts.

In health matters, Peggy Snow moved back to Florida from Illinois to become the administrator of Zephyr Haven Nursing Home, replacing Patti Whitfield who held that job for 20 years. Also, a Houston firm purchased Humana Hospital-Pasco in Dade City.

Monday's city council meeting greenlit Wharton-Smith to manage Hercules Park construction

By ANDY WARRENER
News Reporter

The headlining item that started off Monday's meeting was approved 4-0 with council VP Lance Smith presiding over the meeting in the absence of council president Jodi Wilkeson.

Item 1.1 gave the nod to Wharton-Smith, Inc. for the construction management contract to design and build Hercules Park. The Evaluation Committee which consisted of Gail Hamilton, John Bostic, Shane LeBlanc, and Rodney Corriveau recommended Wharton-Smith, who will be working closely with Kimley-Horn & Associates on the design. Hard numbers like the cost and timeline are not yet available.

The item approved the contract between the city and Wharton-Smith but it should be noted that funding for Hercules Park is budgeted in the current FY 2022/2023 Annual Budget.

"This is one of the best things to happen in this city in a long time," councilman Alan Knight said.

Item 1.2 approved a Letter of Agreement with

Over 116,000 Vote-By-Mail Ballot requests fulfilled for the Primary Election

Brian E. Corley, Supervisor of Elections, announces that on July 14, over 116,000 vote-by-mail ballots for the Aug. 23, 2022 Primary Election will be mailed to voters with requests already on file. Ballots to uniformed and overseas citizens were mailed July 8.

Voted ballots must be returned to the elections' office by 7 p.m. Election Day, Aug. 23. Please allow sufficient time for first-class delivery by the US Postal Service, or hand deliver ballots to any of the three Supervisor of Elections' Offices in Pasco County. Voted ballots are also accepted at early voting sites, but may not be turned in at the polls on Election Day. Information on office locations and early voting sites is available at PascoVotes.gov.

For eligible voters who did not previously request a ballot, they are still available by calling the elections' office, by submitting the request in writing, or by using the on-line request form on PascoVotes.gov. Requests must include the voter's FL Driver's License number, FL ID number, or last four of SSN, date of birth, and Pasco County residence address. Written requests must also include the voter's signature. Vote-by-mail ballots cannot be forwarded but can be mailed to a temporary mailing address if outside of Pasco County. Voters are encouraged to confirm their mailing address when ordering a vote-by-mail ballot. Requests are fulfilled immediately, with ballots being mailed daily. The deadline to request a ballot to be mailed is 5 p.m. on August 13.

Written or telephonic requests for vote-by-mail ballots must come from the voter, an immediate family member, or legal guardian on behalf of a voter. Voters may pick up ballots for themselves at any of the three elections' offices beginning, July 11, but not for someone else until nine days before the election, or Aug. 14. Those picking up ballots on behalf of someone will need a written request from the voter, designating them as the person authorized to carry out the ballot. The designee will be asked to provide a photo ID and to complete an affidavit before releasing the ballot to them.

Pasco Schools to reboot popular Citizens' Academy

Pasco County Schools is accepting applications for the third year of its Citizens' Academy to give members of the public an in-depth, insiders' look at every aspect of the school district.

The Pasco Schools Citizens' Academy will consist of eight monthly meetings beginning in August 2022. Five meetings will be held during the day and three meetings will take place in the evening. Sessions will be a combination of informational lessons, tours, and classroom presentations. Participants will visit several of Pasco County's diverse schools; meet with district leaders, school personnel, and principals; and learn about special programs, curriculum, athletics, budget, student nutrition, school safety initiatives, and more.

"I am really happy that I was part of the initial cohort that took this class. It has been an eye-opening experience for me to understand how the school district machinery works and how much thought and planning goes behind every aspect of running the schools that most of us take for granted," said one participant from the inaugural class.

The Citizens' Academy class will consist of 30 to 50 members from the community. The first class will be held on Aug. 18. The final meeting and graduation is set for April 27, 2023.

Anyone interested in participating in the Pasco Schools Citizens' Academy is encouraged to apply online at <http://www.pascoschools.org/comm/page/ca> by July 24. Those selected will be notified via email the week of July 25.

Northstar Place Branding & Marketing. The city entertained 10 different solicitations for a re-branding. At the June 13 meeting, council approved the committee's rankings. The firm's proposed project timeline is 34 weeks, encompassing market research, brand strategy, creative development, and action & implementation. The city plans to obtain deliverables from the service including: brochures, signage, a new city logo and tagline among other things.

City public information officer Weiss touted the recent work Northstar completed for Johnson City in Tennessee. The not to exceed amount for the service is $68,000 is broken down into three phases: Phase I: Research, Insights & Strategy ($30,000) Phase II & Phase III: Creative, Action plus Implementation ($34,000) Travel ($4,000).

There was some concern expressed by Knight regarding additional expenses that may emerge outside the scope of the contract, Knight highlighting that the rate of $185/hour is one that the city would like to avoid. The item passed 4-0.

Straight to Citizen Comments. The first resident up was Kim Earle, who lives off of Phelps Road, which is technically in Pasco County not Zephyrhills, but her complaint was of the Trotter's Crossing development in Zephyrhills. Earle brought in both video and photographic evidence of a major water sheeting flood that occurred on her property after a July 1 rainstorm dumped inches of water at the top of the hill in the development. Her issue was that the developers graded the hill and caused an inordinate amount of runoff onto her property. The evidence was abundantly clear. She reported damage to the inside of her home and to her fence, even to Phelps Road itself. Earle did mention that the contractor returned to the site days later and fixed her fence.

City staff was made aware of the incident and contacted both the contractor and the SouthWest Florida Management District. Neither entity was present Monday and Smith asked city attorney Matthew Maggard if a stop order would be appropriate. Maggard said that in light of the circumstances it would and a stop order was motioned and approved 4-0 for the project.

In other Citizen Comments, Historic Preservation Board appointee Elieen Westermann brought up the fact that the clock in Clock Plaza was not working. She made some inquiries about costs of renovating the clock tower and fixing the clock and even identified some sources for possible funding of the project.

Last up was Faith Wilson of Main Street Zephyrhills. Wilson gave a report of Main Street, the projects it's taken on and the impact it's had on the community. She mentioned how social media traffic has increased and how Main Street hosts an event every month of the year. Wilson also used the platform to announce her stepping down from her post, stating how grateful she was to serve Zephyrhills.

The announcement garnered a round of applause from council chambers and Knight instigated a standing ovation for the out-going director.

"You will be missed," Knight said.

Trusted care, close to home.

"My passion to serve others drove my decision to become a physician."

SNHU announces Winter 2022 President's List

It is with great pleasure that Southern New Hampshire University (SNHU) congratulates the following students on being named to the Winter 2022 President's List: Whitney Davis of Zephyrhills, Jeremy Handman of Wesley Chapel, Ruben Perez of Zephyrhills, Cheyenne Pickard of Zephyrhills.

Full-time undergraduate students who have earned a minimum grade-point average of 3.700 and above are named to the President's List. Full-time status is achieved by earning 12 credits; undergraduate day students must earn 12 credits in the fall or spring semester, and online students must earn 12 credits over two consecutive terms (EW1 & EW2, EW3 & EW4, or EW5 & EW6).

Connor McTeer graduates from Berry College

Berry College recently announced its newest class of graduates for 2022. Connor McTeer of Zephyrhills, earned a BS degree in Sports Administration.

Nationally recognized for academic excellence and as an outstanding educational value, Berry is an independent, coeducational, comprehensive liberal arts college of approximately 2,100 students. For more than a century, the college has offered an exceptional education that balances intellectual exploration, practical learning, and character development.

Nicole Ackerson honored as APSU 2022 graduate

Austin Peay State University is proud to recognize Nicole Ackerson of Wesley Chapel, as one of the more than 1,100 graduates to receive degrees at the commencement ceremony on May 6.

Students graduate from Cumberlands

University of the Cumberlands held commencement ceremonies recently to celebrate its newest graduates. Participants in this year's commencement ceremonies included graduates from 49 states and territories and the countries of Canada, India, Brazil, Spain, New Zealand, and Italy, among others. A total of 2,068 graduates received their degrees from Cumberlands that weekend.

The following students from the area graduated this spring:

Sri Hari Priya Kanuparti of Wesley Chapel, who completed her Master of Business Administration.

Matthew Nichols of Wesley Chapel, who completed his Bachelor of Applied Science in Information Technology.

Emily Leonard named to Mercer University Spring 2022 President's list

Emily Leonard, of Wesley Chapel, College of Liberal Arts and Sciences, was named to the President's List at Mercer University.

Founded in 1833, Mercer University is a dynamic and comprehensive center of undergraduate, graduate and professional education. The University enrolls more than 9,000 students in 12 schools and colleges – liberal arts and sciences, law, pharmacy, medicine, business, engineering, education, theology, music, nursing, health professions, and professional advancement – on major campuses in Macon and Atlanta, medical school sites in Macon, Savannah and Columbus, and at regional academic centers in Henry and Douglas counties.

HERE IS A PLEASANT LITTLE GAME that will give you a message every day. It's a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner and check one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

The brain-boosting benefits of word games

Word games continue to be popular pastimes and provide a great opportunity to engage in lighthearted competition among family and friends.

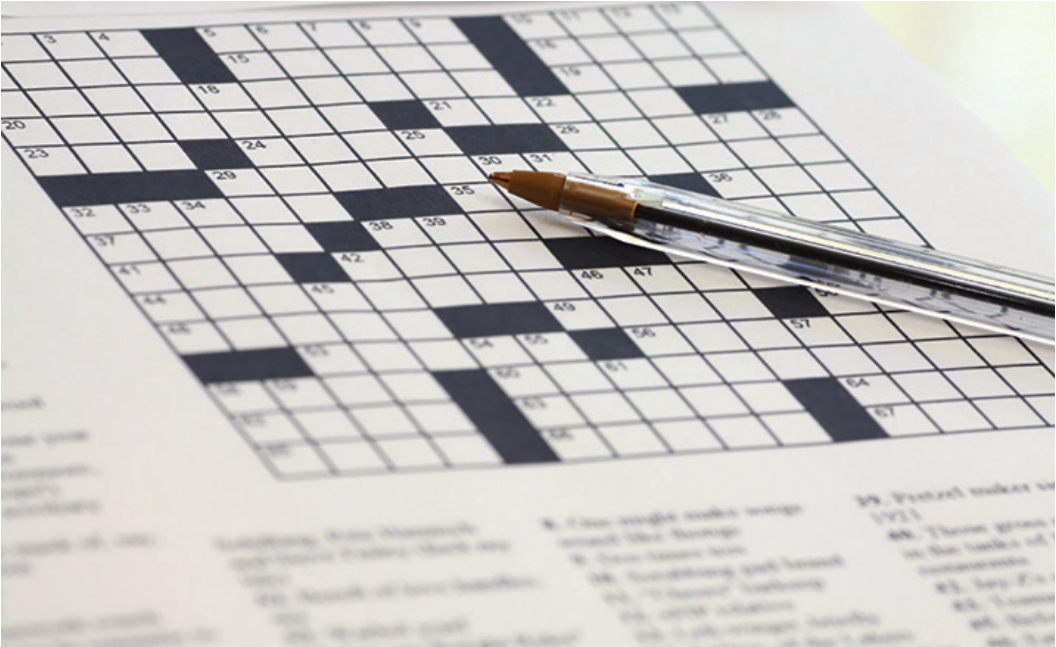

Wordle is perhaps the most popular word game to become popular in recent years. Created by software engineer and former Reddit employee Josh Wardle and launched in October 2021, Wordle was devised as a way to pass the time during the pandemic lockdown. Today it is played by millions of people and was even purchased by The New York Times Company in 2022.

For those who are looking for something even newer, Knotwords, a word game created by Zach Gage and Jack Schlesinger, is available on iOS, Android and Steam. It's a mix between a word scramble, crossword puzzle and sudoku.

There are scores of other word games for people to try. In addition to their entertainment value, these games may provide some benefits that surprise even the most devoted wordsmiths.

- Build your vocabulary: Word games enrich vocabulary and may introduce people to new words. They also may help reinforce spelling skills.
- Improve focus: Nowadays people are pulled in many directions and are expected to multitask more than ever. Word games in large part require focusing exclusively on the task at hand and employing strategy.
- Stimulate the brain: Word games require critical thinking skills that could stimulate the brain. Word games train the brain in a way that's similar to how physical activity trains the body.
- Improve memory: According to WebMD, word games may help seniors avoid memory loss and possibly delay the onset of dementia. But seniors are not the only ones to benefit. Word games may improve short-term memory and the cognitive abilities of people of all ages.

- Boosts feel-good substances: When a person is happy, the body releases endorphins, which are feel-good hormones and neurotransmitters. Healthline indicates an “endorphin rush” often occurs after engaging in a fun activity. Endorphins are released by the hypothalamus and pituitary gland. Playing word games may release endorphins, which can improve mood, boost self-esteem and reduce pain and discomfort.

These are just a handful of the many positive ways word games can affect the mind and body.

Did You Know?

Socialization in midlife can have a profound impact on individuals as they approach their golden years. A 2019 study led by researchers at University College London found that being more socially active in your 50s and 60s predicts a lower risk of developing dementia later in life.

The study used data from a previous study that tracked more than 10,000 participants between 1985 and 2013. Participants in the study completed cognitive testing from 1997 onwards.

Researchers found that someone who saw friends almost daily at age 60 was 12 percent less likely to develop dementia than someone who only saw one or two friends every month. Strong associations between social contact at age 50 and subsequent dementia were also uncovered.

The study supports the idea that remaining socially active in one’s 50s and 60s can benefit long-term cognitive health.

Residents at Ramblewood Village celebrate the Fourth of July

There were 34 residents of Ramblewood Village that met in the clubhouse for pizza, salads and desserts. After several days of rain, the sun shined brightly so residents could walk to and from the clubhouse.

Everyone seemed in a good mood as there were lots of volunteers to decorate, set up and clean up. It truly takes a team to pull off an event.

Annie Fischetti was the chairman for the event, posting the signup sheets and calculating the needed pizzas and picking them up. It was a fun day.

Grace Oliver was the winner of the day.

Left: The dessert table overflowed with items decorated for the holidays. Volunteers had to set up a second table to hold them all. Helping to open up the desserts are, Lucille Hyland, Diana LeClair and Sandy Fitzpatrick.

Left: Waiting to be called to lunch are, Sandy and Michael Fitzpatrick, Mo and Jo Rieli, Teresa Cameron and Barbara Zimmerman.

Saint Leo University names Dr. Edward Dadez as president

The Saint Leo University Board of Trustees has elected Dr. Edward Dadez as the 11th president of the university, following the resignation of President Jeffrey Senese.

Having held several leadership positions at Saint Leo during the past 22 years, Dadez holds a strong passion and appreciation for Saint Leo's core values; its diverse students, faculty, and staff; and life-changing mission. Before becoming the second provost of the university, he was a visiting professor in Graduate Education. He also held the position of vice president in support of the university's regional education centers, online learning program, student affairs, and campus operations.

"Saint Leo University's commitment to its core values, Catholic heritage, and close-knit community make it a special place—countless students have thrived here and gone on to make an impact in our world," Dadez said. "I am excited to work alongside students, faculty, staff, and alumni to strengthen the university experience and to help make it possible for more students to pursue their educational and professional goals."

Prior to Saint Leo University, Dadez held several administrative roles in student affairs and continuing education at The Ohio State University, University of Dayton (Ohio), Michigan State University, Bucknell University (PA.), and Chowan University (N.C.).

He also is the author of several academic journal articles and has given more than 85 professional presentations and keynotes at local, state, regional, and national conventions and conferences.

Dadez earned his bachelor's degree from Virginia Commonwealth University, a Master of Arts degree from The Ohio State University, a Master of Business Administration from Saint Leo University, and a doctoral degree from Michigan State University.

Sample ballots available for the August Primary Election

Brian E. Corley, Supervisor of Elections, Pasco County, announces that sample ballots for the upcoming Aug. 23, Primary Election are now available online at PascoVotes.gov, and will be mailed to Pasco County voters on July 28.

Voters are encouraged to look over their sample ballot and familiarize themselves with the candidates and issues before going to the polls. In order to expedite the voting process, voters should take their completed sample ballots with them when early voting or on Election Day.

To view sample ballots on-line, voters should know their precinct and party of registration. Florida is a closed primary state, which means the candidate choices on your ballot will be candidates of the same party affiliation. All voters, including those registered without party affiliation or with a minor political party, will have non-partisan races on their ballot, such as school board candidates, judicial races, and a local referendum.

The direct link to sample ballots is: <https://www.pascovotes.gov/Elections/Sample-Ballots>.

The Precinct Finder option is available to voters who are unsure of their precinct number. <https://www.pascovotes.gov/Precincts/Precinct-Finder>.

If your voter registration is not up to date with a current address you will not receive your sample ballot in the mail. Sample ballots are mailed to the address of record on file. To update your address call (800) 851-8754 or go online <https://registertovoteflorida.gov/home>.

For a second straight year, a local coach helps newcomers and other ballplayers hone their skills

By STEVE LEE
Sports Reporter

As a longtime Zephyrhills Little League coach, Heath Horsely knows a thing or two about developing young ballplayers as well as helping the more experienced ones hone their skills on the diamond. That is why he organized a summer baseball camp for a second straight year.

The sessions, however, have been relocated. They are at the Samuel W. Pasco Recreation Complex, home to the Zephyrhills Little League. Last summer Horsely conducted his six-week camp at Charles B. Krusen Memorial Field, which formerly was the home to the Zephyrhills chapter of the Dixie Softball League. That league no longer exists in Zephyrhills.

"I think that probably helps," Horsely said of changing venues. "Krusen Field was alright. I'd just rather have the kids come out to the Zephyrhills Little League fields."

Horsely, who grew up playing baseball in the Zephyrhills Little League, knows firsthand how valuable some extra lessons on batting, catching, throwing and running the bases can be. In addition to coaching a junior baseball team in the league he also has coached the local all-star team at that level for the past six seasons.

More than 30 young ballplayers signed up for the camp, which began in late June and runs through early August. Two-hour practice and instructional sessions take place at one of the major baseball fields on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays from 6-8 p.m.

"They love it," Horsely said. "It gives them something to do. We're all having fun out there."

Lending a hand is Miguel Catalan, who coaches the Outlaws, a 10-and-under travel baseball team out of Spring Hill in Hernando County. Two of Catalan's players — outfielders Hunter Catalan, the coach's son, and Brantley Carlson — previously played in Zephyrhills. They showed up at a recent practice to train and encourage other youngsters.

"We've got some kids we brought from this (Zephyrhills) league and we're pushing them further in baseball," coach Catalan said.

"We work on fielding, batting, pitching. I want to get better," Hunter Catalan said.

Carlson said he came to the camp to work on his "pitching, speed and agility."

Also helping out the younger kids were Jason Chase, a Zephyrhills Little League coach who brought his stepson Baron Von Kripe, and Bailey Carter, an all-star on Horsely's junior team.

"It'll help him out," Chase said of his stepson, who at the age of 9 this past season played in the minors. "It's a good learning experience for the kids. I had a lot of kids (this past season) who didn't play before. This will give them a little jump; give them a little bit of knowledge on the fundamentals of baseball. By doing this it gives them a head start."

Added Carter, "It's kind of cool to teach them how to catch because they twist their hands."

Among those taking part in the camp was 9-year-old Dylan Tedesco, who has not played in the local league yet. He said he came out to the field "so I could get better at baseball."

A recent session of the camp drew nearly 30 kids. Horsely and his assistants started them off with calisthenics to stretch and loosen up. That was followed by a series of fielding and baserunning drills.

Later, players were divided into two teams for a fun scrimmage with everyone batting from one team before the other side got to hit.

"We split them up to play a little sandlot baseball and to see what they can do," Horsely said.

Right: Coaches Miguel Catalan and Heath Horsely met with campers before the start of Monday's session.

Invites you to join in the fun!

As was the case on occasion, a crime story was placed on the front page. That particular week a Zephyrhills man faced multiple charges following a chase through three counties. The 20-year-old faced multiple traffic offenses including grand theft auto. The chase began by a Zephyrhills patrolman on 5th Avenue at 3 a.m.

On a brighter note, Pasco County Commissioners autographed copies of The Historical Places of Pasco County and there was a photo of a cheerleading camp at the East Pasco YMCA with cheerleaders from Zephyrhills, Dade City and Wesley Chapel.

With 24 pages and two sections, there was plenty of room for local news and sports. Adorning the inside pages of section A were stories on county and city politics, road projects, obituaries and weddings, as well as police reports.

Additionally, there were sections for opinions, business and religion.

In sports, although it was summer time and high school athletes were taking a break there were plenty of athletic events to cover. As the sports editor back then I wrote about a variety of events, ranging from the professional ranks to an adult baseball league to youth baseball and softball programs.

Back then, we covered the Buccaneers in football and the Rowdies in soccer. On page 1 of sports we wrote about the Rowdies' 1-0 win over the Colorado Foxes at the University of South Florida's soccer stadium. That marked the fourth shutout of the season for goalkeeper Bill Andracki.

In American Legion baseball, a team that combined high school players from Zephyrhills and Land O' Lakes, East Central Pasco narrowly edged North Tampa 6-5. Zephyrhills ace right-hander Mark Roberts was the winning pitcher.

In the Dixie Softball League Belles All-Star tournament, Zephyrhills lost two of three games and were eliminated in the 13-15 age bracket. The late Louise Jordan helped coach that team.

The Pasco Rockets, a Zephyrhills-based team in the Tampa Bay Men's 40-and-over Baseball League, returned to the diamond after being idle for several weeks. The roster included Craig Milburn, Zephyrhills High's athletic director at the time.

Behind sports was the ever-popular park news, TV listings, classifieds and legals. Some things, it seems, never change.

PSO tips to help avoid a scam: four commons signs of a scam

Pasco Sheriff's Office has received reports of numerous scams, but some scams are more common than others. Scammers can be quite persuasive and try to pass as a legitimate business or organization. Criminals may call or email to try and obtain money or personal information such as credit card numbers or your social security number.

PSO is seeing an increase in reports of citizens receiving phone calls from people claiming to be with PSO and requesting donations. We stress these messages are not legitimate. Our agency will never solicit people for any kind of payment services or monetary transactions.

If you become a victim of a scam, report it to local law enforcement immediately. Discuss these scam red flags with your friends and family to help protect each other, especially seniors, which are a scammers most common target, and embrace PSO's motto, "We Fight as One!"

Faith Baptist Church of Zephyrhills resumes summer bible school after a two-year hiatus

By STEVE LEE
News Reporter

Faith Baptist Church of Zephyrhills has not hosted a vacation bible school since 2019, primarily due to restrictions stemming from the coronavirus pandemic. That changed with this week's camp that began on Monday.

Jennifer Jayne, the wife of pastor Michael Jayne, expected about 30 boys and girls from kindergarteners through fifth-graders to attend during the weeknight sessions from 6-8:30 p.m.

This year's theme centered on climb aboard a mountain of fun at Rocky Railway Vacation Bible School. It was billed as a faith-filled adventure where kids discover that trusting Jesus pulls them through life's ups and downs.

"We have some really creative people," Jayne said of the staff and volunteers who contributed to the program.

Last year, three local churches — host First United Methodist on 5th Avenue, First Presbyterian and First Church of the Nazarene — combined for a summer vacation bible school. This year, however, that group did not get together for another one with Denise Lay, pastor of First Presbyterian saying she was not contacted by anyone about the bible school.

As for this year's vacation bible school at Faith Baptist, three women welcomed families at a registration table on Monday, the first of five nights of activities scheduled throughout this week. That trio included Laura Dohoney, Natasha Martin and Sophia Martin.

Once parents and their children sat down in pews, train conductor Karin Toscano got things started by performing a skit with her children: Jesse, 12; Madison, 9; and Michael, 5.

"Just knowing who Jesus is and basically just to have a good time," Toscano said of the primary aims of the program, later singing, "This train is bound for glory. It's not a real train. You're the real train and you're bound for heaven."

An offering then was taken for the Pregnancy Care Center of Zephyrhills with modest goals set to help those in need. Meanwhile, parishioner David Isbell worked in the back of the room as the video technician.

Following the skit on stage performed by Toscano and her children, parents and their children ventured over to the kitchen area for snacks before breaking off into small groups and walking to different parts of the church grounds.

Adult leaders overseeing the youngsters were Travis and Shelby Cunningham, a married couple whose twin sons Luke and Liam attended the sessions, Jacob Jayne, Tammy Wentworth, Kathryn Castle and Carol Joslin.

Helping out by pointing the kids in the right direction were teenage volunteers Valerie Roberts, Johnnie Kelly and Myah Stevens; each of whom attended vacation bible school when they were younger.

"It brings back all my childhood memories," Roberts said.

"It's really nice because you get to help the kids like you were helped and I like to help them understand," Kelly said.

"I want to help them understand what Jesus has done for them," Stevens added.

Someone else who is giving back and recalled attending a vacation bible school when he was young was Travis Cunningham, who at one point worked with boys and girls in the arts and crafts room.

"It's pretty cool," he said. "I did it when I was younger. It's to have a close relationship to God. That's really what it's all about."

Pastor Jayne, who took on that role at Faith Baptist in December of 2015, echoed that sentiment.

"The message is you can trust God; you can trust Jesus," he said. "He'll pull you through. Every kid is going to make a decision in life whether to trust God or not."
