

The Story of Miracle Tabernacle Church of God in Christ

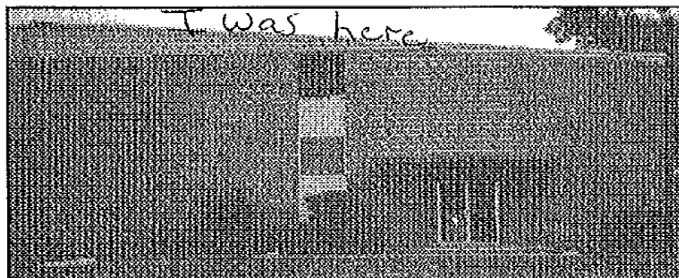

Yesterday

Established in 1989, the Miracle Tabernacle Church of God in Christ has progressed alongside the neighborhood in which it began. From a small trailer in Racepath, the spirit of the Lord began spreading, reaching down darkened streets once littered with crime and into the homes of families who would one day join Pastor Jeter's quest for a brighter future for Racepath. The bond between community and church was fortified through a number of marches, outdoor prayer vigils, revivals and celebrations.

The church outgrew the small trailer and moved to 4817 Highway 17 Bypass South, near the back gate of the former Myrtle Beach Air Force Base. After five years and three floods, the ministry relocated back to the 1689 Racepath Street location.

students; a summer day camp; Girl Scout Troop 507; Great To Wait program; Black History programs that honored past community leaders; and tutoring sessions.

After a storm destroyed the trailer, the church moved to the police substation located nearby. There law enforcement officials and neighborhood children played games together as part of the fellowship of the church's Sunday School ministry outreach. Forced to move again, the Miracle Tabernacle Church of God in Christ held services at the First Baptist Church's gymnasium and later at Cathedral Baptist Church auditorium at the former Myrtle Beach Air Force Base.
