Pastor's Notes

Today we celebrate the two pillars of our Christian faith - St. Peter the Apostle and St. Paul. As I reflect on the lives of these men, I realized that they are not as extraordinary as many of us perceived. On the contrary, they are the most regular of humans.

St. Peter was a humble fisherman. He lived a modest life and doesn't have the monetary or political power to be considered a rightful leader of a group. He was rash and a bit unrefined. He also was easily baffled which lead him to almost drown in the sea, immediately drew his sword and yes, denied Jesus three times within a few hours of professing his loyalty.

St. Paul did not know Jesus personally and was not even a disciple at first. In fact, he lived as a Pharisee and participated in the persecution of the early disciples of Jesus.

In spite of their background, these two individuals have contributed so much to the faith we are practicing today. They are a reminder that our history does not define us. God can call us at any time, at any phase of our lives. He chooses us with both our strengths and weaknesses. Even if people tell us that we are not qualified, as long as we answer to His call, Jesus will qualify us. What we lack, Jesus will fill. All He asks for us to make Him a part of our life journey.
