Every creation within Tiyyara's TENCEL™ Collection is a celebration of timeless aesthetic, seamlessly fusing sophisticated design with the richness of this naturally-derived fabric.

This collection aims to create an experience of an embodiment of the divine and an essence of enduring elegance.

TENCEL™, a fabric crafted from sustainably sourced wood pulp, is an exceptional material with a silky-smooth texture, remarkable absorbency, and notable breathability. Its ability to gracefully drape transforms it into a preferred choice for our full length goddess robes.

Derived from nature's bounty, TENCEL™ stands as a versatile companion, effortlessly adapting to various occasions – from morning walks to ceremonial moments and everyday life.

The garments within the TENCEL™ Collection are an artistic manifestation of this fabric's lightness, luxury, and elegance.

Pieces in this collection carry a name inspired by the divine, as a testament to our unwavering commitment to purity and grace.

Tencel

TENCEL™ is one of the most sustainable clothing textiles. It is easy to wear and easy to care. Can be machine washed on gentle cycles and hung up to dry. Here is why TENCEL™ fabric is such a gem:

TENCEL™ is made from cellulose fibers derived from sustainably sourced wood pulp, predominantly from eucalyptus trees. These trees grow quickly and do not require extensive irrigation (extra water), pesticides, or genetic modification, making them a renewable resource. They require much less land to grow the same amount of fabric than most other textiles. They require much less water to grow than most other textiles.

TENCEL™ production follows a closed-loop manufacturing process, known as the Lyocell process. This process involves using a non-toxic solvent to dissolve the wood pulp and extrude it into fibers. The solvent is then recycled and reused, minimizing chemical waste and reducing environmental impact.
