ABOUT ME:

For over 25 years I have been teaching music in just about every settings imaginable. I have taught High School music programs, the Middle School grades, and Elementary School classes. In this time I have taught all type of ensembles, bands, group classes and workshops. I teach one-on-one lessons in-person, as well as virtually. Here I have taught all students of ages; from preschoolers, to school aged learners, college students, adults and professional musicians. I have worked in every setting from drum lines to drum circles and I will bring all of this experience to your program.

The trademark of my teaching is that I have developed an in depth, compressive curriculum to teach with. Some of these curriculums have been turned into method books for a number of instruments and for specific playing styles. To this date I have written 11 music method books. I am prepared for years and years; to work through a proven system with each student. All this original material suits the needs of all the different types of learners, players and people. These experiences and resources have helped me bring out the best in my tens of thousands of students throughout the years. And I hope to continue sharing my expertise with you.

MY TEACHING

MARC MANGINO

I have spent my life designing curriculum to help students in their musical journey. It's important to me that we find the right path for each individual to express themselves.

On the following pages you'll be able to see some of the paradigms of my teaching.

A main philosophy of my work: The Four.
And my method books: Kani Ka Pila.

My newest methodology is an approach to learning music the purest of forms - through improvisation - the way we learn any language.

With each category of "The Four" I am prepared to teach students for a lifetime of exploration into not only music, but the music they love.

This is one of the core tenets of my teaching. There are several different ways to play an instrument, these are "The Four" main styles. It's important to decide how you want to play before we decide what we want to play.

The Four

Music has so much to offer, there are literally lifetimes of treasures to uncover. Explore the ways of playing the piano, and choose your adventure in the world of music.

This is my paradigm shifting method book Kani Ka Pila.
Here I've redesigned instrumental education using most natural approach to learning a language.
Don't merely "learn" the music, "play" the music!

MY STUDENTS

MARC MANGINO

In my over 25 years teaching I have had thousands and thousands of students from all walks of life. I have worked with people of all ages; from 4 year olds - 24 year olds - 44 year olds to 74 year olds. And learners of all types; beginners through advanced, from novice to professionals on a wide range of instruments.

My greatest joys, greatest satisfactions and greatest accomplishments have come from teaching music to some of the greatest humans I know. I owe my students sincere "thank you's" for some of the best moments of my music career and some of the best moments of my life.

Students of mine have performed on the largest local stages. They then demonstrate, and experience, how playing an instrument can change a life and bring the greatest of joys to both audiences and the performers alike.

MARC MANGINO

I want to thank your interest in my teaching career. Playing music has changed my life and made me who I am. I am extremely lucky that it found me and that it shaped the my story. My hope is to give this experience to others, so that they will have the magic of music write the story of their lives.

Aloha.
